TABLE TOP ESTATE.
44,300 ACRES of FREEHOLD,
the property of James Mitchell, Esq.
DOUGHARTY, SON, and PARKER (conjointly with Pitt, Son, and Badgery and W. C. Steel, of Albury) are instructed by the proprietor to sell TABLE TOP,
consisting of
About 44,300 acres, with 36,300 SHEEP (more or less).
LAND.
40,800 acres of it is the finest in the famous Albury wine district for vine growing.
Except the hill-tops, all can be cultivated, and is splendid wool growing and fattening country.
The whole is subdivided into about 50 paddocks, by most substantial fences, in all about 200 miles.
CAPABILITIES.
In 1886, the worst season ever known there, 50,000 sheep were grazed, in addition to the horses and cattle, and one of the best judges in the vicinity of Table Top considers it will carry 80,000 sheep.
The railway between Melbourne and Sydney passes through the estate, a railway station being distant three miles from the shearing shed and homestead.
The land extends to within eight miles of Albury. There are few more highly improved properties in the colonies.
The residence is replete with every convenience, recently erected at a cost of £6000, and surrounded by a charming garden and orchard, lake, and pleasure grounds; gas and water laid on.
The outbuildings, woolshed, stabling, everything of the best.
Tabletop is reticulated and watered by the Four Mile, Sandy, Gerogery, Dead Horse, Eight Mile, Sweetwater, Mullengandra, and Tapletop creeks. Numerous springs and great dams never dry. All improvements have been made on a big and permanent scale.
STOCK.
The sheep are deeply culled annually, and as the owner has given large sums (up to 600 guineas) for his stud rams, his flocks are of a very perfect type, wool, carcase, and symmetry.
CATTLE,
consisting of 500 high-class Devons, the nucleus of a grand herd.
Tabletop being so near to Albury, the centre of the great traffic in stock, commanding all the markets of Victoria, South Australia, and New South Wales by rail, could at once be converted into a depot for 10,000 fat cattle, or their equivalent in sheep, with which a vast trade could be carried on, being so near to the fattening lands alike of Riverina and the great North-eastern country.
Sydney can be reached in 11 hours, Melbourne in 5½ hours, from Tabletop.
Inspection is cordially invited of this—in all respects—most perfect property.
The land is ringbarked and cleared like an English park; covered with grass and herbage, the undulating nature of the ground being in the bosom of the picturesque hills of Tabletop, and the surrounding ones, the quality of the stock, &c., will give visitors the utmost satisfaction.
DOUGHARTY, SON, and PARKER,
28, Market-buildings, Melbourne; or
Mr. W. C. STEEL,
Stock and Station Agent, Albury; or

WOOL GARMENTS, made of WOOL. WOOL. WOOL. WOOL. WOOL. WOOL.

OUR NEW WINTER GOODS in this way are very charming and very cheap; in fact, so charming that it is a marvel we are able to sell them at the prices we do.
PRETTY WOOL GOODS are now a most prominent and attractive feature in our round of WINTER necessaries. First, there are THE CLOUDS! THE CLOUDS! THE CLOUDS!
Why clouds we know not. They neither keep away the sun, nor forbode rain. They are rather cheerful-looking than otherwise, especially when the pretty colours they appear in are considered.
WARM WOOLLEN CLOUDS.
Delicate, warm, fleecy, warmth-giving WOOL, manufactured and manipulated into exquisite WOOLLEN CLOUDS, which for keeping in the warmth or shutting out the cold, whichever you like, have no equal, and which are so absurdly cheap at THE PALACE EMPORIUM, HAYMARKET.
WOOL CLOUDS AND SHAWLS, in delicate Pink, Heavenly Sky, Dainty Cream, Glorious Azuline, Delightful Coral, Fashionable Biscuit, Elegant Fawn, Useful Grey, Pure White, Bright Cardinal, Rich Grenat, Black, if you want it, and all kinds of fanciful combinations and shades, from 1s to 18s 6d.
WOOL VESTs, warm as toast. These in maids', women's, and outsizes, in same colour as the clouds, and one or two others, from 1s 9d to 9s 6d.
WOOL JERSEYS, cosy little garments, comfort in every stitch, stylish in appearance, useful in every way. Most extraordinary lines in these, from 3s 6d to 12s 6d.
WOOL SKIRTS, in sizes from children to outsizes, in Blue, Pink, Brown, and all kinds of nice colours and fancy patterns, 2s 3d to 11s 6d.
SPECIAL LINE OF WOMEN'S WOOL SKIRTS, extra large, at 4s 3d.
SPECIAL LINE OF WOMEN'S CROCHET-WOOL SKIRTS, 11s 6d.
SPECIAL LINES OF CHILDREN'S CROCHET PETTICOATS, 3s 6d to 4s 11d.
These are SPECIAL, because we say they are SPECIAL. We never say anything is SPECIAL without there are strong grounds for using the term, and we can assure our friends that the above goods, which we now dub SPECIAL, are indeed SPECIAL, both as regards niceness and lowness of price.
For the CHILDREN we have some remarkably pretty articles in wool. We always pay special attention to the wants of the little ones. We have a weakness that way, because, as a matter of course, the next generation depends entirely upon the little dears, who certainly want PROTECTION if the country does not. We have for the children and a more delightful lot of Goods there isn't anywhere. Our lowest line is ONE SHILLING, and for a chilly child or an infant inclined to feel the cold in a greater degree than the ordinary run of tiny mortals, each garment offering at One Shilling is worth at least HALF A-CROWN. We have all kinds up to 7s 9d each, and they are well worth a special visit.
WOOL JACKETS
WOOL MANTLES
WOOL DRESSES,
Another class of goods much sought after during the WINTER MONTHS will be found in the same department as those quoted above. They are as follows:—
SCOTCH PLAID DRESS MATERIAL. All colours, 4½d, 5½d, 6½d, 7½d, 8½d per yard.
STRIPED DRESS MATERIALS at same price.
And we may mention a very SPECIAL line of the STRIPED line at 5½d per yard. These goods are remarkable for their nice appearance when made up, for their almost endless capacity for wear, and then there is the price, which is certainly very low.
SPECIAL VALUE IN SUPERFINE WINCEYS in a host of nice colours, such as Lt. Grey, Dk. Grey, Steel, Shetland, Fawn, Brown, &c., at 4½d, 5d, 5½d, 6d, 6½d, 7½d, 8½d, 9½d, 10½d.
Sundry good lines in LADIES' and CHILDREN'S HOSIERY have just been opened up, and we quote the following as representing a continual want:—
CHILDREN'S CASHMERE HOSE, in black and self colours, double heels, from 1s 3d per pair.
LADIES' ditto, at 1s 7½d.
CHILDREN'S RIBBED CASHMERE HOSE, double knees and heels, in black and self colours, from 1s 7d per pair.
For great strength and durability we can recommend the above: in fact, we may say almost that they never wear out.
CHILDREN'S MERINO HOSE, ribbed or plain, wonderful wear, commencing at the very low figure of 6d per pair.
CHILDREN'S STRONG COTTON HOSE, in self colours and fancy stripes, from 4d per pair.
WOMEN'S ditto, from 5d per pair, or 4s 6d per dozen.
Ladies' and Children's Silk Hose, Undervests, and Combination Garments in the most approved style.
OUR ONLY ADDRESS: ANTHONY HORDERN AND SONS, PALACE EMPORIUM, HAYMARKET (ONLY).
CLOSE TO THE RAILWAY STATION.

FASHION. FASHION. FASHION.
"Fresh from Fashion's fount."
Ladies,—In announcing the arrival of our Winter Stock of Coloured French Cashmeres and Merinos, it affords us the greatest pleasure to inform you that our efforts for this season have (even more than all previous ones) been highly successful and satisfactory, and enable us to place before you the most charmingly representative stock of Cashmeres in these colonies, and we feel confident that you will find among them very many shades that cannot be procured elsewhere, and most certainly not at the prices we quote. Though the range of colours, extensive as it is, would be AN ATTRACTION IN ITSELF, yet, not stopping there, we have matched the almost indescribable shades in the very latest and most fashionable trimmings for this season—viz., the self-coloured Stripe, Check, and Plain Plushes and Velvets, also in fancy coloured Stripes, Checks, and rich brocaded Velvets and Plushes in endless variety. This has been a very difficult work, owing to the inexhaustible variety. However, remembering that the Ladies of good taste, THE CREAM OF SOCIETY in this city and throughout the entire length and breadth of Sunny New South Wales, as well as a number of others in the other colonies, LOOK TO US for Fashion, the latest Fashion, as it springs from the fount in London, Paris, or New York, we make it our especial study that every Mail Steamer from Europe shall bring us something new, that our house may maintain the reputation it enjoys of being foremost in Australia for CHOICE, ELEGANT, and FASHIONABLE GOODS: and this applies, perhaps, more to our coloured Cashmere Department than any other at the present time.

TO ECONOMICAL HOUSEWIVES.—Your grocer can purchase inferior Soaps 8s a hundredweight less than he can buy Allen's No. 1 Crown Soap, and he charges for them the same price per bar. He reaps the benefit, and you pay for it. You lose 8s per box, your clothes last no time, and their colours are destroyed by the adulteration. To avoid all this, see that your bar of soap is stamped "ALLEN'S No. 1 Crown."

JOHN JAMESON and SON, Sole Manufacturers of the Celebrated "JOHN JAMESON WHISKEY."
Established—J. J. & S.—A.D. 1780, (Registered trade mark.) Bow-street Distillery, DUBLIN WHISKEY.
Referring to the above, we have much pleasure in announcing our appointment as SOLE WHOLESALE AGENTS for the above world-famed Distillery.
We are prepared to quote prices either f.o.b., Dublin, or in bond, Sydney.
Notwithstanding that Messrs. JOHN JAMESON and SON have not been heretofore represented in these colonies, we think it unnecessary to comment upon the quality of the production of a distillery so long established, and whose reputation is so deservedly and universally well known.
J. J. and SON'S WHISKEY is superior to any SCOTCH Whiskey Distilled.
J. J. and SON'S WHISKEY is superior to any other Irish Whiskey Distilled.
J. J. and SON'S WHISKEY commands a higher price in the home market than any other Whiskey in the United Kingdom—(See Wine Trade Review.)
J. J. and SON'S WHISKEY is of uniform quality, age making the only difference.
Consumers will therefore see the advantage of purchasing the FAMOUS OLD DISTILLERY'S WHISKEY in preference to the innumerable blends imported to this market.
J. BARRE JOHNSTON and CO., Macquarie-place, 20, Loftus-street, Sydney.
Please note that the style and address of the above firm is JOHN JAMESON and SON, Bow-street, Dublin, who are the original and famous Distillers of that name. Established 1780.

NEW ISSUES OF SHARES.
The refusal of Parliament to sanction a bill to enable a "trust" company to undertake the administration of trusts unless it has a very large subscribed and uncalled capital having led to the enforced reconstruction of one trust company and to the abandonment of its business by another, the directors of this company are necessitated to meet the requirements of the Legislature by a second and third issue.
The SECOND ISSUE to consist of 20,000 £5 "GUARANTEED PREFERENCE" SHARES (to be paid up to £1 only, by instalments).
This issue of "Guaranteed Preference" Shares demands some special observations. They are of £5 each, to be paid up to £1 per share only, at the option of the holder in cash or by monthly instalments of not less than 1s per share, counting from date of application, and they are distinguished as "Guaranteed Preference Shares," because guaranteed by deposit of title or mortgage deeds, bonds, debentures, deposit receipts, shares, or other approved securities; the depositing shareholders continuing to receive the rents, interest, or dividends payable thereon, together with a "preferential bonus" from the company of £3 per cent. per annum on the £4 per share so guaranteed, and a full share of the net profits of the company upon the remaining £1 per share, from payment in full thereof, with liberty to withdraw deposited securities from time to time, replacing them by others, or to withdraw them altogether on forfeiture of bonus then accruing due for the current quarter.
The THIRD ISSUE consists of 90,000 £1 PREFERENCE SHARES, to be paid up to 5s per share only, and, at the option of the holder, in cash or by monthly instalments of not less than 1s per share, counting from date of application, and bearing a preferential dividend of £6 per cent. per annum upon and from payment of 5s per share, with a full share of net profits after deduction of all preferential claims.
The Directors have also been empowered to increase the capital to £1,000,000. But this increase is reserved for issue in London.

IMPORTANT CONSIDERATIONS FOR CAPITALISTS.
Firstly, the new Shares now offered are not those of a Company which has yet to be floated, but of one which is completely established, and whose first issue of Capital having firmly secured the foundation of a profitable "Assurance" and "Investment" business, is now sought to be increased only for the purpose of establishing (on the lines laid down by Parliament) the business of its "Trust Management" Branch; and, secondly, the GREAT SUCCESS OF TRUST COMPANIES
in Holland for nearly a century, and in South Africa for over 30 years, show such investments to be unparalleled in the monetary world. Nothing has ever equalled them for security or profit. Unquestionable proof is found in the following TABULATED QUOTATIONS from the South African Share List, revised to the 1st January last:—

Name of Company.	Paid. £ s.	Price. £ s.	Div'd. £ s. d.	Profit p. c.
Colonial Orphan Trust	10 0	750 0	75 0 0	or £750 p.c.
General Estate Trust	10 0	300 0	30 0 0	300 "
Board of Executors	10 0	180 0	18 0 0	180 "
Malmesbury B. of Exors.	5 0	...	8 0 0	160 "
Mid. Fire Ass. and Trust	0 10	5 0	0 10 0	100 "
Guardian Ass. and Trust	1 10	7 10	0 15 0	50 "
Graaff-Benit B. of Ex.	2 0	5 0	0 7 6	35 "
Uiten B. of Ex. and Trust	1 6	3 10	0 6 0	30 "
Biemfontein B. of Exors.	3 0	6 5	0 15 0	25 "
Paarl Fire and Trust	0 5	6 5	0 12 6	250 "
Colonial Marine and Trust	3 0	3 5	0 10 0	16⅔ "
Patchefstrom B. of Ex.	3 0	4 10	0 15 0	25 "
Transvaal Trusts	0 10	3 0	0 7 6	75 "

All established over 10 years, and under 20, are paying from £16 13s 4d to £150 per cent.; those established over 20 years, from £30 to £750 per cent. But it must be borne in mind that these enormous profits (which increase with great rapidity as Testators die) can only be secured by investments in the shares of a company from its commencement, so as to secure the advance of profits from its foundation.
This opportunity presents itself now upon very easy terms; and looking to the fact that one local company, "The Trustees, Executors, and Agency Company" established in Melbourne so recently as 1879, already pays dividends of 17½ per cent., while its shares of £1 paid sell for £3 5s; there can be no reason why this company should not rival the success of the most successful of these institutions. Large dividends are the result of a large growth of business, but as the union of "Trust Management" with that of "Assurance" and "Investment" business must secure a combination of profits, then, assuming only a very small profit from each department, an early dividend of £15 per cent. may be confidently relied on, with continued increases year by year.
Applications for shares may be made to the directors at the offices of the company, corner of King and Elizabeth streets, Sydney.

NEW ISSUE OF SHARES
AUSTRALIAN MUTUAL INVESTMENT AND BUILDING COMPANY, Limited.

The rapid growth of the Company's Business has induced the Directors to issue 20,000 NEW SHARES at 70s per share, and as only 10,000 of these are reserved for the Sydney market, it is necessary that speedy application be made by those intending to take up shares.
The present issue of shares will return from the first, £8 11s 5d per cent., with every prospect of still larger dividends in the future.
The New Issue will increase the Paid-up Capital from £30,000 to £40,000, and the Reserve from £40,000 to £90,000.
This Reserve will be larger than that of any other Building Company in the colony, and as a consequence of the large Reserve, the cost of money to this Company will be less than to any other Building Company.
The total Receipts during the year ending December 31, 1886, amounted to £427,420 13s 10d, and the sum of £321,713 11s 9d was received on deposit; larger than the amount received by any other Building Company in the Colony, and this in the face of the widespread depression in trade.
The fact that this Company has always paid the highest rate of Dividend, and at the same time carried substantial sums to Reserve every year, is a guarantee that in the future the same good results may be anticipated.
The Directors have every confidence in recommending these Shares as the soundest investment in the market.

A WOMAN'S SUFFERING AND GRATITUDE.
A VOICE FROM AUSTRIA.
Near the village of Zillingdorf, in Lower Austria, lives Maria Haas, an intelligent and industrious woman, whose story of physical suffering and final relief, as related by herself, is of interest to English women. "I was employed," she says, "in the work of a large farmhouse. Overwork brought on sick headache, followed by a deathly fainting and sickness of the stomach, until I was unable to retain either food or drink. I was compelled to take to my bed for several weeks. Getting a little better from rest and quiet, I sought to do some work, but was soon taken with a pain in my side, which in a little while seemed to spread over my whole body, and throbbed in my every limb. This was followed by a cough and shortness of breath, until finally I could not sew, and I took to my bed for the second, and, as I thought, for the last time. My friends told me that my time had nearly come, and that I could not live longer than when the trees put on their green once more. Then I happened to get one of the Seigel pamphlets. I read it, and my dear mother bought me a bottle of Seigel's Syrup, which I took exactly according to directions, and I had not taken the whole of it before I felt a great change for the better. My last illness began June 3, 1882, and continued up to August 9, when I began to take the Syrup. Very soon I could do a little light work. The cough left me, and I was no more troubled in breathing. Now I am perfectly cured. And, oh! how happy I am. I cannot express gratitude enough for Seigel's Syrup. Now I must tell you that the doctors in our district distributed handbills cautioning people against the medicine, telling them it would do them no good, and many were thereby influenced to destroy the Seigel pamphlets; but now, wherever one is to be found, it is kept like a relic. The few preserved are borrowed to read, and I have lent mine for six miles around our district. People have come 18 miles to get me to buy the medicine for them, knowing that it cured me, and to be sure to get the right kind. I know a woman who was looking like death, and who told them there was no help for her, that she had consulted several doctors, but none could help her. I told her of Seigel's Syrup, and wrote the name down for her, that she might make no mistake. She took my advice and the Syrup, and now she is in perfect health, and the people around us are amazed. The medicine has made such progress in our neighbourhood that people say they don't want the doctor any more, but they take the Syrup. Sufferers from gout who were confined to their bed and could hardly move a finger, have been cured by it. There is a girl in our district who caught a cold by going through some water, and was in bed five years with costiveness and rheumatic pains, and had to have an attendant to watch by her. There was not a doctor in the surrounding districts to whom her mother had not applied to relieve her child, but every one crossed themselves and said they could not help her. Whenever the little bell rang which is rung in our place when somebody is dead, we thought surely it was for her, but Seigel's Syrup and Pills saved her life, and now she is as healthy as anybody, goes to church, and can work even in the fields. Everybody was astonished when they saw her out, knowing how many years she had been in bed. To-day she adds her gratitude to mine for God's mercies and Seigel's Syrup.
"MARIA HAAS."
The people of England speak confirming the above.

AFTER MANY YEARS.
"Whittle-le-Woods, near Chorley, December 20, 1883.
"Dear Sir,—Mother Seigel's medicine sells exceedingly well with us, all that try it speak highly in its favour. We had a case of a young lady that had been troubled many years with pains after eating. She tells us that the pains were entirely taken away after a few doses of your medicine.—Yours truly,
"E. PEEL."

AFTER SEVERAL YEARS.
"Stoke Ferry, January 9, 1884.
"Gentlemen,—I have used Siegel's Syrup for several years, and have found it a most efficacious remedy for liver complaints and general debility, and I always keep some by me, and cannot speak too highly in its praise.—I remain, yours truly,
"HARRIETT KING."

AFTER SIXTEEN YEARS.
"95, Newgate-street, Worksop, Notts, December 26, 1883.
"Gentlemen,—It is with the greatest of pleasure I accord my testimony as to the efficacy of Mother Seigel's Syrup. My wife, who has suffered from acute dyspepsia for over 16 years, is now perfectly better through the sole help of your Syrup. I have spent pounds in medicines from doctors; in fact, I began to think she was incurable, until your marvellous medicine was tried.—I remain, yours thankfully,
"ALFRED FORD."

THE EFFECTS HAVE BEEN WONDERFUL.
"Ilford-road Dispensary, Dukinfield. May 3, 1884.
"Dear Sir,—I am happy to inform you that the sale of your Syrup and Pills increases here continually. Several of my customers speak of having derived more benefit from the use of these than from any other medicine. In some instances the effects have been wonderful.—Yours very respectfully,
"PRO. EDWIN EASTWOOD, J.P."

THE IMPERIAL CONFERENCE.

THE AUSTRALIAN DELEGATES IN LONDON.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL REPORTER.)

LONDON, MARCH 25.

At first the Australian representatives to the great Imperial Conference did not know whether to bless or blame the Secretary of State for setting back the meeting until so late as the 4th of April, but they have found in the week they have been here that the arrangement was full of advantage to them. They have had time to settle down in their quarters in the West End, and will go to the Conference with rested minds and rejuvenated bodies, instead of having to plunge into the consideration of momentous questions immediately after a long sea voyage and a scamper over the Continent. Steady city life, even among the elegances and comforts of the high-toned realities of London, brings them to the conviction that for a time they have ceased to be travellers. They are Melbourne, Adelaide, Brisbane, Hobart, and Perth men again, and must shape for business. They are more fortunate in having this preparation than the New South Wales delegates, who have not arrived yet, but who are expected early next week. Mr. Lorimer, from Victoria, is still on the wing, but he should arrive from the Continent in a day or two. Those who have come have not rested only; they have had a good deal of hard-headed business to do; not so much, perhaps, in connection with the Conference, as with other matters of large importance to their respective colonies; and each day each gentleman adds something to his record which he hopes will be worth presenting to his Government when he returns. All have been very well received. Their arrival has been announced, and they have received cordial invitations to several clubs, quite a number of entertainments have been projected in their honour, and, altogether, they are regarded as persons of some importance. Australia certainly stands well in the estimation of Englishmen, and the honours to the delegates have more than a personal significance. The difficulty seems to be how to accept all the hospitality offered, and at the same time do the business requiring attention. Sir Samuel Griffith has been especially complimented by his countrymen in Wales, who want him to go down to his native town (Merthyr) and to Cardiff to receive the goodwill of the citizens, who appreciate the position he has attained as a prominent Welshman in Queensland. He is going at the first opportunity, but in the meantime finds almost every day occupied in accepting the entertainment of others who desire to honour the colonies. Mr. Deakin is equally well placed, and finds it hard work to be a representative. Mr. Downer was early in the field. Two or three days after his arrival her Majesty held a drawing-room, and he and Mrs. Downer were presented, and were the only colonial visitors who had that honour. Mr. Downer wore the silk gown of a colonial Q.C., which has not before been done by any other Australian, and the fact that he appeared in that habit was official acknowledgment in the very highest quarter of the status of a Queen's counsel in the colonies. What has been done, however, by all the delegates is but a foretaste. Invitations are received every day, and the fullest hospitality will be shown to all the gentlemen before they leave. Many of them return early in May, so that they will not have much time.

The Conference is attracting a good deal of attention, and questions in Parliament and references in newspapers indicate how keenly public men are on the alert. There is a tendency, however, to a mistake in describing it as "the Colonial Conference," which is to be deplored. There is nothing like a clear definition of terms at the start, and it therefore seems a pity that gentlemen who use the title "Colonial Conference" should, in doing so, ignore the fact that every question to be discussed is to be of purely Imperial concern. It might look as if the delegates had come on a begging expedition, whereas they have been summoned by the Secretary of State to discuss matters of strong Imperial moment. It would not be surprising if something were said at one of the earlier meetings on this point, so as to remove doubts. Most of the Australians have been introduced to the Secretary of State for the Colonies, Sir Henry Holland, and the Under-Secretary, Lord Onslow, and have heard from those gentlemen how very anxious the Government is to secure the freest expression of the views of the dependencies of the Empire on the very important question of national defence on land and sea, Postal and telegraphic communication, and on the other minor, but certainly not insignificant, subjects to which the Conference is to be asked to give consideration. This wish has been heartily reciprocated, and these delegates are preparing themselves. Those who represent Australia are to meet next week to consider the propriety of framing a programme by which all from that country will be guided. In this matter there is a singular and good-omened absence of any feeling of jealousy or other undignified sentiment. The meeting would probably have taken place ere this, but at Sir Saul Samuel's request it was deferred until the arrival of the two New South Wales representatives—Sir Patrick Jennings and Mr. Wisdom. Sir Graham Berry, Mr. Service, and Mr. Deakin (for Victoria) have already held a Cabinet consultation, and laid down the lines upon which they will be prepared to confer with the other delegates. Their programme is comprehensive, but not so firmly fixed as to be unalterable. Mr. Deakin assured me to-day that they are prepared to make liberal concessions to the views of the others if there be a mutual feeling in that direction. The first meeting, on Monday week, will be quite an important affair. In the first place, it will be open to the public, and the business to be transacted will be of such a preliminary character as to indicate to outsiders what is to be done. The president is to be Sir Henry Holland, and when he is absent the Earl of Onslow. The delegates will be—

CANADA.—Sir A. Campbell, Mr. Sandford Fleming.
VICTORIA.—Sir Graham Berry, Agent-General; Mr. Deakin, Chief Secretary; Mr. Lorimer, Minister of Defence; Mr. Service, late Premier.
NEW SOUTH WALES.—Sir Saul Samuel, Agent-General; Sir Patrick Jennings, late Premier; Mr. Wisdom, late Attorney-General.
SOUTH AUSTRALIA.—Sir Arthur Blyth, Agent-General; Mr. Downer, Premier.
QUEENSLAND.—Sir Samuel Griffith, Premier; Sir James Garrick, Agent-General.
WEST AUSTRALIA.—Mr. J. Forrest, Commissioner of Lands; Mr. S. Burt, late Attorney-General.
TASMANIA.—Mr. J. S. Dodds, late Attorney-General; Mr. A. Douglas, Agent-General.
NEW ZEALAND.—Sir W. Fitzherbert, M.L.C.; Sir F. Dillon Bell, Agent-General.
NEWFOUNDLAND.—Mr. R. Thorburn, Premier; Sir Ambrose Shea.
CAPE COLONY.—Mr. T. Uppington, Attorney-General; Mr. J. Hofmeyr; Sir Charles Mills, Agent-General.
NATAL.—Mr. J. Robinson.

The list, it will be seen, is limited to those communities having responsible Government (West Australia excepted), but as this colony has large interests in common with the whole of Australasia, it is fitting that she also should have representatives. At the opening meeting and at other meetings not held with closed doors, unofficial members of colonial Parliaments will be permitted to be present. Sir Henry Holland has issued a confidential circular to each delegate setting out the subjects upon which the Conference will be asked to deliberate, the course of procedure, &c., and each gentleman is to indicate his views upon the scheme, and submit any other questions he may desire to have debated. Hence the meeting of colonial delegates. But this "confidential" circular contained another very important statement. In it representatives were requested to give no information whatever of the proceedings of the Conference, either to the home or colonial press. These official requests for secrecy are becoming stale. On almost every occasion they are made, but very rarely observed. In this case it would be a pity if gentlemen were placed under the terrible departmental obligation, because some of them may be induced by the importance of the source of the request to keep quiet altogether, regardless of the fact that in Australasia, at any rate, they have constituents anxious to know (of course within the limits of absolute safety to Imperial concerns) what is being done, and how far they are being committed. Working entirely in the dark on such an occasion as this must be detrimental. You were informed of this request by telegram, and a day or two afterwards a Reuter's telegram appeared in the London papers giving the opinion of the Argus on the point, with its demand for "no secrecy." This opinion has attracted some attention, and will have more. To-night, in the House of Commons, Sir Samuel Wilson is to ask the Secretary of State,—"Whether he will consider the expression of Australian opinion contained in Reuter's telegram from Melbourne, published in yesterday's Times, to make public the proceedings of the Colonial Conference, thus taking the public into its confidence from the outset?"

The three questions of the greatest importance to Australia are the renewal of the mail contracts, the future government of British New Guinea, and the present status of the New Hebrides. The mail question is one in which New South Wales, Victoria, and South Australia are jointly interested, and at noon to-day Mr. Deakin and Mr. Downer proposed calling on Sir Saul Samuel to see if they could not induce him to advise his Government, as they would advise theirs, to send an ultimatum to both the P. and O. and Orient Companies. This ultimatum, if agreed upon, is to bring matters to a crisis. But you will have heard of the result of the consultation long before this letter is published. One new point, though at present not a strong one, seems to be that another large company, probably the British India, which now has a contract with the Queensland Government for the conveyance of mails via Torres Straits might be induced to compete with the P. and O. and Orient companies on the line now run by them. The presence of a new competitor in the field would have an important effect upon the attitude of the P. and O. and Orient companies.

The New Guinea question is almost entirely in the hands of Sir Samuel Griffith, who has had control of it from the first; and it is very possible that it will be much simplified, if not settled, before the Conference, in order that the issues before that body may be few. The point of difference between the Australian Governments and the Colonial Office is as to what guarantee shall be given by Australia before the sovereignty of the Queen is proclaimed over the protected area left to Great Britain after the Germans were allowed to take the north. The Colonial Office wants a permanent subsidy, but the Australian Cabinets have held that a five years' guarantee of £15,000 a-year, to be received from time to time if necessary, would be sufficient. Sir Samuel Griffith saw Sir Henry Holland yesterday, and it was intimated to-day in a semi-official manner that an agreement largely meeting with Sir Samuel's views may shortly be announced. In the matter of the New Hebrides the horizon is not so clear. Mr. Service, who is awaiting the Conference, is keener than ever on this point. He is determined that Australian interests shall be protected to the utmost, and has some hope that the return of Sir Henry Parkes to power in New South Wales will greatly strengthen the cause. On the other hand, some Australians are anxious that some arrangement should be come to regarding the future of the group before the French occupation has time to develope into complete annexation. To this end some are prepared to think favourably of a suggestion, said in this instance to have emanated from France, that the islands should be placed under a joint commission of the two nations with securities for the traders of both. This, however, is a nebulous proposition. Sir Graham Berry is convinced that the Colonial Office has not given up the fight, and regrets very much that greater success did not attend his efforts. Mr. Service mentioned that he was aware that negotiations of a more encouraging nature were proceeding between the British and French Governments, the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs desiring to be placed in a position to have a definite statement on the subject to make to the Conference.

There are, of course, many State matters of smaller moment engaging attention, and the delegates are only too glad of the opportunity they have had to deal with them before being called upon to devote themselves wholly to the Conference.

ENDOWMENTS OF THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—While thanking you for your courtesy in inserting my letter in your issue of to-day, I feel sure you will permit me, as a student of Church history, to take exception to the matter contained in your editorial note.

However valuable Chamber's Encyclopædia may be as a storehouse of general information, it is by no means to be implicitly trusted in its articles on ecclesiastic subjects. There is abundant evidence to prove that the system of endowing the Church with tithes or landed property was in existence in England long before the time of Offa, King of Mercia. What Offa did do, was not to introduce the system into England, but to legalise the payment of tithes throughout his kingdom, i.e., he made them recoverable by law. In the same way the endowments possessed by the various nonconformist bodies in England are legalised, i.e., they are sanctioned, recognised, and protected by the common law of the land. The Church of England in this colony possesses certain rentable landed property bequeathed or given to her by her own members; if any one of her tenants refuses to pay his rent according to contract it is recoverable by the common law of the colony; in other words, her right to such property is legalised.

Two years ago (see Daily News, February 18, 1885) Lord Granville, who had been consulted as to his opinion upon tithes with reference to the favourite and deluding assertion that "tithes were created by Acts of Parliament," said, "Tithes existed in England before Acts of Parliament, though the present mode of assessment and payment was settled by the Tithes Commutation Act."

With regard to this last Act, it is nothing to the purpose, for it certainly was not in any way an Act to endow the Church; on the contrary, so far was the Church from being benefited by it, that it deprived her of a considerable portion of that property which had been bequeathed to her at various times by her own members. All the Act did was to authorise the owners of tithed property to pay the tithe in money, according to a fluctuating standard, instead of in kind.

On the other hand, I must maintain, with all due deference to you, that the non-appearance of any ecclesiastical grant in the Budget is of some weight in the question as to whether the Church of England is endowed by the State. It is a very prevalent belief of many people, well informed in general matters of interest, that the clergy of the Church of England are paid out of the taxes. I know this from personal experience. But as the Church is not endowed by the State, so neither do the Bishops receive grants from the State, nor are the rest of the clergy State paid.

As to tithes, if any statute or Act of Parliament has ever been passed to compel owners of landed property to give up to the Church a tenth of the produce of their lands without their consent, it is very strange that no such statute or Act can anywhere be found, and that history gives no trace of its ever having existed. And until such evidence can be produced, no one who has any respect for historical truth ought to hazard the assertion that "the Church of England is endowed by the State." All the recorded statutes which do exist relating to tithes treat them as payments already in existence, and only needing regulation. In this they resemble all other gifts dedicated to public uses; the State protects them, and if needs be, regulates them, just as the State would protect and regulate a fund created for the benefit of jockeys.

THE EXCISE DUTY ON BEER.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Now that a duty of 4d. per gallon is about to be imposed on colonial beer it would enlighten the public if the Hon. the Colonial Treasurer would, in his wisdom, define what kind of liquid is to be deemed beer, and what constitutes a dutiable gallon of the same. Is any liquid which has undergone what is termed the alcoholic fermentation, and made from any ingredients the brewers may choose to use to be deemed excisable beer? And is a quantity of such liquid occupying the space of one gallon or 277·274 cubic inches, regardless of quality, gravity, or strength, to be subject to the aforesaid duty? If the duty is to be charged according to the quantity only, a weak beer of say 15° gravity will be taxed the same, bulk for bulk, as a stronger beer of say 30° gravity, which is manifestly most inequitable and unfair to the small brewers, who make light beers for use in families.

If the same rule were applied in charging duty on spirits, a weak whisky of say, 20° underproof, would be liable to be taxed the same amount as a stronger whisky of say, 40° overproof, or of spirits of wine at a strength of say, 60° overproof. But it is well known that the duty on spirits is computed by reducing the strength of bulk spirits to the standard strength called "proof." In this way the duty is charged according to the quantity and strength, and a spirit of 40° overproof is chargeable with double the amount of duty as a spirit of 30° underproof.

On the same principle a standard of gravity should be fixed in the case of beer, and the same considered as well as the quantity when charging the duty.

I believe this is the mode adopted at present in England, and it seems to me to be a fair and equitable way.

ENGLISH GOSSIP.

(FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, MARCH 18.

Not like a lion has March come in, but like a polar bear, and it threatens to go out in a storm of snow and ice. The crocuses were just beginning to show their white and yellow blooms on the brown bosom of mother earth, the parks were putting on faint smiles of spring, when there came a wind out of the north-east, and presently we were in a world of snow. Simultaneously with the darkness of the atmosphere that was choked with snow there descended upon us a black cloud of fog. For a whole day we were shut up, as it were, in an atmospheric prison; traffic stopped, gas lighted, people lost; and yesterday the papers contained a suggestion that for such occasions the tops of the pillar letter-boxes should be utilised as posts for illuminated compass guides in the interests of pedestrians who miss their way in London fogs.

Tremendous preparations are being made at Birmingham for the reception of the Queen next week. It is expected that on this occasion the Mayor, as well as Mr. John Jaffray, of the Daily Post, will be knighted. The last-mentioned gentleman is said to be looking for a baronetage and will probably get it. He has given large sums to the town, and the Prince of Wales recently opened his "Jaffray Hospital," or laid the foundation-stone of it—I forget which. Mr. Jaffray came to Birmingham a comparatively poor man—a compositor—but was shrewd enough to discover and to provide for its newspaper wants, and the Daily Post has long been not only the chief journalistic power in the district, but one of the most paying properties in England. Mr. Jaffray lives en prince, and is building up a county position for his family, which only wants the endorsement of a title to give it the rank which probity and money in this case highly deserve. Mr. Jaffray's paper has always been a leading Liberal organ. It is now strongly Unionistic, and goes heart and soul with Chamberlain. When I was in Birmingham last week, the middle-class people were full of complaints in regard to the jubilee offering which the women of England are arranging to make to the Queen. A considerable sum of money has already been collected throughout the country, and the Queen has been asked what she intends to do with it—what, rather, are her wishes in the matter. She has given out that she would like £3000 to be spent on a certain equestrian statue of the late Prince Consort, the production to be a replica of a favourite work, and the rest of the money to be devoted to some charitable object. That is what I learned at Birmingham. The subscribers in this practical district object to any part of the money being used for any further public statues of Prince Albert. They think enough has been done in that direction, and that in these days of depression something useful should mark their devotion to the Throne and to her Majesty. In some of the large shops the managers will not allow the subscription lists for the women's tribute to be exhibited, though the demonstration next week is likely to be of the most impressive character. Birmingham has now two prosperous evening papers, as well as its dailies; and a new weekly which has joined the syndicate for the publishing of the leading novels of the day. Dr. H. J. Palmer, who for some years had been the right hand of the editor of the Sheffield Daily Telegraph, is now editor of the Birmingham Daily Gazette, and has put new life into that once famous old paper. The general prosperity of the provincial newspapers in England is not quite in keeping with the outcry about trade depression. There never were so many newspapers, and, what is more, so few that are not making good incomes. Even cities and towns like Worcester, Wolverhampton, Bolton, and Derby have each their rival evening journals. But that which most astonishes newspaper men of England, both in town and country, is the enormous size of the Sydney Morning Herald. With all our enterprise and journalistic prosperity, we have nothing to compare with it. Now and then the Times approaches it in the number of pages, but only now and then.

The Queen had Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone to visit her on Ash Wednesday, and to stay all night, the first time since the ex-Premier went out of the Government. It is hinted in political society that this was done through Lord Salisbury's influence, and it is added that he long ago expressed a hope that her Majesty would receive the leaders of the Opposition. This is nonsense. Lord Salisbury would not be likely to offer her Majesty such counsel. Nor is she the sort of ruler to need it. It is not the first time by many that her Majesty has entertained ex-Ministers of whose policy and work she does not approve, and Mr. Gladstone is still a power in the State, and has rendered the Queen services, both as a friend and Premier.

Some Ultra-Protestants are scandalised at the statement that one of the incidents of the Queen's Jubilee is to be an exchange of compliments between herself and the Pope. There need be no fear as to any undue Papal influence arising out of such friendly courtesies. There is no stauncher Protestant in these realms than Queen Victoria. The truth is, this year of 1887 is the 50th of the Pope's "orders," and so both he and the Queen are celebrating jubilees. His Holiness is also personally acquainted with her Majesty. He met her at Brussells when he was Nuncio, at a banquet given by the King in her Majesty's honour; and afterwards had an audience with the Queen at Buckingham Palace. The World says this is the only instance of such a meeting since the Reformation.

I mentioned Worcester in a previous paragraph. A dozen years ago there was no gayer little city in England. But the "county gentry" no longer appear to regard it as the centre of county life, and it has woefully degenerated. Lady Dudley, who, with her husband, used to be the life and soul of the place, since the death of her lord is rarely seen there. She was at the children's ball at Marlborough House with some of her young people last week, and wore the matchless pearl necklace for which her late husband paid a fabulous sum soon after their marriage. It was a delightful affair, the juvenile function at Marlborough House. The Princess of Wales was dressed in a simple costume of pale blue, and looked as charming as only the Princess, with a grown-up family, could look. So far as appearances went, she might have been the sister of her eldest daughter, the Princess Victoria. The Prince of Wales, was very popular with all the children. He danced with as many as he could, and took perfect troops of them down to supper. No host could have made more earnest or gracious efforts to entertain his youthful guests.

Apropos of dress, another lady of the aristocracy has opened a milliner's shop; there is a Girton girl in the same line of business; and the wife of a gentleman, who is the brother of a marquis is becoming quite well known for her ingenuity as a costumier. We are certainly becoming a democratic nation. Many members of "The Upper Ten" are stepping down from their high estate; though only, it must be admitted, when they cannot support themselves "up there." Some of our aristocratic families are not so rich as they were, and the example of the Duke of Argyll in sending his sons into trade has had a good effect upon needy persons who have more blood than money.

A new theatrical star is on her way from America to captivate the London public. Mrs. Brown Potter is what they call, in the States, "a society lady." Last year you must have read a great deal about her. She was one of the American beauties who were frequently seen in Europe wherever the Prince of Wales happened to be. When she went home she spoke of him and the English aristocracy with great admiration. The Prince gave her a trinket, which she displayed to her friends with great pride. She met Miss Ellen Terry in America, and was introduced to Irving, whereupon paragraphs appeared in the papers to the effect that Irving had advised her to go upon the stage. She admitted the soft impeachment, and then publicly stated that it was not her intention to join the profession. Her recitation of "Ostler Joe" at Washington was said to have scandalised American society, whereupon the poem was recited everywhere, and Mrs. Brown Potter became famous as the clever and daring lady who had introduced the poem to Washington salons. And so the game has gone on, until at last Mrs. Brown Potter accepts an engagement to play the lead at the Haymarket Theatre in London. "Man and Wife" is selected for her first appearance. Mrs. Bancroft is coaching the American society beauty in the lugubrious part of the heroine. It was under Mrs. Bancroft's auspices, coached by Mrs. Labouchere—(Miss Henrietta Hodson)—that Mrs. Langtry made her first important appearance on the stage, and at the Haymarket Theatre. This house has been very unfortunate since the retirement of Mr. and Mrs. Bancroft. The only success of the new management has been "Jim the Penman." It was thought "Hard Hit" would fill the treasury; but it is almost as great a failure as "Najesda" and "Dark Days." It is possible that the abolition of the pit, which signalised the closing days of the Bancroft management, has discounted the former popularity of this once, prosperous house. By the way, Mrs. Brown Potter is not quite the novice some of the papers make out. She has acted on many occasions with amateurs in America, notably at Maddison-square Theatre, in New York. She is a pretty woman, and her appearance will excite a great deal of interest in fashionable and artistic circles.

Artistic gossip is particularly interesting at this moment. Mr. Luke Fildes has been advanced to the position of R.A., his competitor being Mr. Herkomer. The last-mentioned gentleman is, however, on his way to this distinction, as is also Mr. Burne Jones. Mr. Fildes will no doubt be best known in Australia as the painter of "The Casuals" and "Betty," both of which are fair examples of his work; but since those days he has made new departures in the way of colour, and of late has given us some wonderful studies of Venice and Venetians. His brother-in-law, Mr. W. H. Woods, who was recently made an A.R.A., has lived in Venice for many years, and done good work there. He is, however, behind Fildes, both as a draughtsman and colourist, though they worked together in the days of their London probation, both making a living on the illustrated papers and magazines. The most curious alleged success of the day is Whistler, though I question if his pictures really sell for anything like the sums at which they are marked in Exhibition catalogues. It is a curious anomaly that this eccentric American should be president of the society of British artists. He is busy with his forthcoming exhibition; I say his advisedly, for everybody else connected with the society has sunk into utter insignificance since he took the reins. It is possible that his influence may be good in the long run, though in the meantime a lot of weak imitators will be sure to exaggerate his infirmities of canvas, in the hope of getting their pictures accepted. The Doré Gallery, in Bond-street, is at last to be closed and its contents scattered. It says much for the vigour of the illustrious Frenchman's work that the exhibition has held its own for so many years in the heart of the painter's world. If Doré had lived there is reason to believe the Gallery might have continued to be a popular institution—that is, so long as he contributed new attractions to its walls. In the way of Scriptural pictures Mr. Goodall and Mr. Long are likely to fill the void which will be created by the abolition of Doré. "For of such is the Kingdom of Heaven," by Goodall, and "Anno Domini" and "Jeptha's Vow" by Long, are already the talk of the religious world, and have attracted a great deal of attention among artists and in society. The exhibition which is likely to be the rage this season is a collection of burlesque pictures, upon which Mr. Furniss tells me he has been engaged for several years. He is the clever humourist who draws those funny sketches in Punch, entitled "The Academy Guyed," and he has brought his sense of fun and satire to bear in a broader and bigger way upon sundry of the best known pictures of the time. And such is to be the nature of the forthcoming exhibition. It will open about the same time as the academy, and the Punch men who have seen the works say they are "screamingly" funny. Mr. Furniss' is a familiar hand in Punch, and is possibly destined to take up the role of its cartoonist whenever Mr. Tenniell should feel inclined to lay aside his magic pencil. The friends of Mr. Sambourne, on the other side, suggest that he is the oldest of the young staff, and most entitled to promotion; but he is hardly as clever a draughtsman as Furniss, and has not so keen a sense of humour. In these latter days the best examples of Punch's literary work are the "Studies from Mr. Punch's Studio," which have been appearing during many weeks past. They are equal to the best days of the great satirist's best writers. I don't wish to add to the conceit of gentlemen who are short in stature; but it occurs to me to reflect that the three leading artists of Punch are little men—Du Maurier, Sambourne, and Furniss—the last-named the shortest of all. Mr. Burnand himself is a trifle under the medium height, though he looks taller than he is. Burnand is a particularly handsome man. His happy thoughts will establish him as the most genuine humorist of our time, and he is the author of some of the best-known burlesques—"Black-eyed Susan," to wit. Mr. Burnand is the founder of the Amateur Dramatic Club at Cambridge, and has written its history. On Wednesday night the committee of this famous club went in a body to see the pantomime at Drury Lane, and were afterwards entertained by the lessee and manager, Mr. Augustus Harris. Mr. Burnand was not present; but Count Strickland, Sir John Stirling Maxwell, Mr. Hanson (the Lord Mayor's son), Mr. H. J. Tennant (Sir John Tennant's son), and the several other prominent members of the club were there, and they spent a pleasant evening, the result of which is not unlikely to be one or more aristocratic additions to the ranks of the theatrical profession.

There has been a rather foolish discussion about authors and publishers, instigated by Mr. Besant in a very unbusinesslike and misleading paper, read at a so-called council of authors. Mr. Besant made wholesale charge against the publishers as a body in the interest of young and struggling writers, but he was too general in his denunciations. There are harpies in the publishing trade, and he might almost have denounced them by name; but as a rule, the great houses are just as honest and fair dealing as authors themselves; and when Mr. Besant calls publishers "middlemen," he is at sea. Publishers are traders, manufacturers, many of them printers, and they all invest large sums of money in the business they follow.

The three novels which have gone into prompt second editions are "Jess," by Rider Haggard, "Springhaven," by Blackmore, and "The Old House at Sandwich," by Joseph Hatton. Haggard's new book is somewhat hostilely criticised. The fame of "King Solomon's Mines" made the success of "She," right upon which comes out "Jess" which has been running in The Cornhill. I read "King Solomon's Mines" with delight. It is a strong clever original romance. "She" seemed to be more or less of an impertinence, a travesty of travel. The Pall Mall has charged Mr. Haggard with taking the idea for it from Tom Moore's "Epicurean," and there is possibly some foundation for the suggestion. "Jess" I have read, at a sitting, not for its literature but for its story which is most exciting, and I do not at all agree with the general tone of adverse criticism with which it has been received. If you want to realise something of the atmosphere of the Transvaal war read "Jess," and you will have a capital story for your reward in addition to the political knowledge to which I have refered. "Springhaven," it seems, was written to order for Harper's Magazine, the editor of which wanted Lord Nelson to figure in it. William Black, it is said, wrote "Judith Shakespeare" on a similar hint from the same editor. Black, I understand, has intimated to his friends that he will never be tempted to accept that kind of commission again. I am inclined to think he was more successful, however, with his second-hand inspiration than Blackmore has been. Although Messrs. Cassells, the publishers of "King Solomon's Mines" made a little fortune by that remarkable work, they would not pay Mr. Haggard his terms for "Jess," which was at once taken by Smith and Elder, who have also made proposals for his next work. He is the most popular fictionist of the moment, though he had written a great deal before the public discovered him through "King Solomon's Mines." You will remember that Mr. Clark Russell had a similar, though far more remarkable, experience. I am afraid to say how many novels he had written and published before "The Wreck of the Grosvenor," some of them quite as good as that well-known story. He published "The Wreck of the Grosvenor" anonymously, whereupon the Spectator, which had hitherto pooh-poohed everything he had done, discovered the highest merit in the new and anonymous author. At about the same time America acknowledged the power of the book. It went into a second edition, and into a third, and so on; and presently into a cheap and popular edition, and then the author put his name to it. The Spectator, in the most naive way, on discovering it was Russell, "took back" some of its good words; but the book went marching on all the same, and the first verdict of the Spectator has since been verified by the public in both the old world and the new. Of late Mr. Russell has, however, been endangering his popularity by "fiddling on one string," a mistake which Mr. Haggard does not seem likely to make, for "Jess" is far away from either "King Solomon's Mines" or "She"; and his friends hope he will go still further afield in the motive and character of the new novel he is now writing.

PARLIAMENT OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

FRIDAY, APRIL 29.

The SPEAKER took the chair at half-past 4 o'clock.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS.

Mr. BURNS, in reply to Mr. Walker, said that passes similar to those issued to members of Parliament were not issued to ladies.

Mr. ROBERTS, in reply to Mr. Day, for Mr. Wall, said that the explanation given by the Superintendent of Telegraphs as to his reason for recommending the remission to England of £4698 for the purchase of telegraph wires when it had since been found that £2168 was all that was required, was that the wire cost much less than was estimated. With regard to the money that was in excess being granted to the Treasury, the Colonial Treasurer merely forwarded a letter of credit to the Agent-General, authorising him to purchase certain material, at a cost not exceeding £4698. No money was actually remitted, and, therefore, none would require to be returned.

Mr. BURNS, in reply to Mr. Walker, said that advertisements appeared on the tram cars under the authority of the late Secretary for Public Works. Tenders were called for the right to use the tramcars for the purpose of advertising. Five were received. The tender of Mr. A. J. Judge was first accepted, but he withdrew it, and the contract was then let to the next highest tenderer, Mr. James Galaisy. No money had as yet been received by the Government owing to a dispute as to the date from which rent was to be paid. The lessee had been informed that he must pay from the date fixed by the Department. A sum of £2?6 was due on this account to the Government at the present time.

Mr. BURNS, in reply to Mr. Taylor, said the Union Bridge Company was the only contractor for the Hawkesbury Bridge and its abutments thereto. The total cost of the bridge was expected to be about £350,000. The details of the cost of cylinders and erection were not known to the Department, as the contract was for a lump sum. The date specified for completion was the 19th November, 1888.

Mr. BURNS, in reply to Mr. Dangar, said it was proposed to place an amount on the Estimates for 1888 for the purpose of constructing a bridge over the Grawin Creek, near the Barwon River.

Sir HENRY PARKES, in reply to Mr. Taylor, said that the chief medical inspector of the Board of Health was now inquiring into the causes of fever and other sickness at the Prospect Camp, and also the advisability of closing the schools in the centre of the works whilst sickness was prevalent.

Mr. BURNS, in reply to Mr. Cameron for Dr. Ross, said it was the intention of the Government, in carrying out the construction of the new locomotives, to see that in all the engines each was provided with a suitable "cab" for the better protection of drivers and firemen—the same as were constructed on Yankee engines.

Sir HENRY PARKES, in reply to Mr. Cameron for Dr. Ross, said that the non-receipt of the fees due to the ministers belonging to the Mulong corps, for attendance at the Easter encampment, was a matter which would have to be referred to the officer commanding the Mulong corps, and it would be quite impossible to furnish the information under a week.

Mr. BURNS, in reply to Mr. Ferguson, said that the rates for the removal of sleeping cars and carriages from Wellington to Dubbo was for the convenience of passengers who were travelling beyond Wellington.

Mr. ROBERTS, in reply to Mr. M'Elhone, said that the Government had invited offers of pieces of land suitable for the erection of stables in connection with the Post and Telegraph Departments. Forty-five offers were received, and the tender board, after inquiry and inspection, selected seven for consideration, specially mentioning three, one of which (in Castlereagh-street) was, however, verbally withdrawn several weeks ago, upon inquiry being made as to the price, which had been omitted in the tender. It was not a fact that the Minister of Justice had advised the purchase of a piece of land in Castlereagh-street at an amount nearly double that required for the others, and belonging to the Anglo-Australian Investment, Finance, and Land Company, Limited, of which he was manager, and no such company submitted a tender. As he had decided to decline all the tenders sent in, he did not think it desirable to disclose the amounts represented by them.

Mr. ABIGAIL, in reply to Mr. O'Sullivan, said it was not a fact that he recently directed a stock and pastures board to expend moneys raised for the destruction of marsupials in eradicating noxious weeds from reserve No. 90 in the parish of Bembour; but, under the direction of a previous Minister, a letter was sent to the board, pointing out that unless they could provide funds for clearing the reserve in question, it would be necessary to lease the land under the provisions of the Prickly Pear Act. The board raised the question whether the funds at its disposal could be applied to that purpose, and desired that the opinion of the Attorney-General be taken. No opinion on the subject had been received from the Attorney-General, because it was found that the funds could not be so used. A sum had been placed on the Estimates to provide for carrying out the provisions of the Prickly Pear Act.

Mr. BURNS, in reply to Mr. Vaughn, said that the estimate for the permanent way of the proposed railway from Young to Grenfell was £7804 per mile; Grenfell to Forbes, £6??? per mile; Forbes to Parkes, £7302 per mile.

THE CORONER AT RYDE.

Sir HENRY PARKES, in reply to Mr. Taylor for Mr. F. Farnell, said that he was sorry he could not give a final answer as to his decision in the case of Mr. Manning, coroner at Ryde, and a justice of the peace, whose conduct was brought under his notice in connection with the Ryde murder case. The papers were very voluminous and somewhat conflicting, and he found it exceedingly difficult to give the attention requisite to them amidst his other duties. There had come before him a document from the jury, in which, addressing Mr. Manning, they stated that no coroner could have conducted the inquiry more impartially. There had also been laid before him a document from about 320 residents of the locality, including Mr. Owen, the barrister, Mr. Jeanneret, a member of this House, and a large number of other very respectable men, who stated that they had entire confidence in Mr. Manning. And there was another document from a number of solicitors who had practised before him as coroner, in the course of which they said that they had confidence in his impartiality. In addition to these, there was a letter from Mr. Pring—who, he believed, conducted the case on the part of the Crown—and who said, amongst other things, that Mr. Manning had been unjustly abused in the matter. He merely noticed these features to show how difficult it was to arrive at a clear decision amidst the conflict of opinions and evidence. The whole thing was very voluminous, and it required to be dealt with in a calm and dispassionate manner, undisturbed by other considerations. He might add that, so far as he had gone, he thought Mr. Manning, to say the least, had been guilty of very great imprudence. He thought he was wrong to have acted as coroner. In the first place, it appeared to him the expressions he used during the time of the fire were exceedingly improper and unbecoming, and that, having used them, he ought never to have acted as coroner. What decision he should come to he could not at present state, and he thought it would be a week before a decision would be arrived at.

Mr. ABBOTT said that one solicitor—Mr. Proctor—told him that great pressure was put upon him to sign the petition by Mr. Manning and his son. Mr. Proctor gave him leave to mention his name. If others had been importuned in the same way, would it not be better to have an inquiry on the spot?

Sir HENRY PARKES said he was very sorry to hear this.

PAPERS.

Mr. INGLIS laid upon the table a return giving information respecting Public school buildings designed by and erected under the supervision of private architects.

Mr. BURNS laid upon the table a return relative to bills of quantities for railway works, existing Lines Branch.

It was ordered that the documents be printed.

AN ALLEGED GOVERNMENT FRAUD.

Mr. LYNE desired to draw attention to a paragraph in that day's Daily Telegraph, which, he presumed, had been derived from information supplied by some of the officers of the department. It intended to infer that some gigantic swindle had been carried out by the late Government. Not being aware what the swindle was, he would like some information on the matter. It was headed "A Colossal Job," and the paragraph would lead the public to infer that a "job" relating to a land transaction had been perpetrated. Did the Premier know anything about the matter?

Sir HENRY PARKES begged to inform the hon. member that he had no knowledge whatever on the subject. He was himself very much surprised that morning when he read the paragraph. Of course he could not be answerable for a paragraph in the newspapers, and all he could say was that he knew nothing about it. He would be sorry to think such a paragraph had been inserted at the instance of any member of the Ministry, and if the information were true he would feel a deeper degree of sorrow. He could simply say that he knew nothing about the matter.

Mr. LYNE wished to know whether the Premier spoke for every member of the Ministry. Did he intend to convey the idea that they also knew nothing of the matter?

Sir HENRY PARKES remarked that the hon. member would have seen that he had not consulted the Ministers, who, if they desired, could speak for themselves; but at the same time he thought he would have known something about it had the information emanated from the Ministry.

The matter then dropped.

SALE AND DELIVERY OF FUEL.

Mr. ALLEN moved that this House will, on the 17th May next, resolve itself into a committee of the whole to consider the expediency of bringing in a bill to regulate the sale and delivery of fuel.

The motion was agreed to.

CATHOLIC CHURCH LAND SALE BILL.

Mr. HOLBOROW moved that the Crookwell Roman Catholic Church Land Sale Bill be referred to a select committee, with power to send for persons and papers, for consideration and report; and that such committee consist of Mr. Barbour, Mr. Ball, Mr. Teece, Mr. Garrett, Mr. Gibbes, Mr. Sydney Smith, Mr. Frank Farnell, Mr. Ewing, Mr. Davis, and the mover.

The motion was agreed to.

OIL CONSUMPTION IN GOVERNMENT OFFICES.

Mr. M'MILLAN moved that there be laid upon the table of this House an approximate return of the total number of gallons of oil of all kinds (black, coconut, and sperm excepted) consumed annually in the various Government services—Railways, Trams, other public works, Marine Board, the Mines, Military, &c.

The motion was agreed to.

STORAGE OF ARMOURED CABLE.

Mr. ABBOTT had given notice that he would move,—"That there be laid upon the table of this House copies of all letters, minutes, recommendations, and other documents, relating to the ordering, purchase, use, and storage of the armoured cable referred to in the answers of the Colonial Secretary on 8th April."

Sir HENRY PARKES said that there was an objection to the motion being taken as a formal one, but without its being passed he would promise to give so much of the information as he could, without injury to the public service.

ADDITIONAL JUDGE BILL.

Mr. W. CLARKE moved the third reading of the Supreme Court (Sixth Judge) Bill.

The bill was read a third time, passed, and ordered to be forwarded to the Legislative Council.

FREE RAILWAY PASSES TO SCHOOL CHILDREN.

The adjourned debate was resumed upon the resolution which had been moved by Mr. O'Connor,—"That, in the opinion of this House, a free pass upon the Government railways should be issued to any child to travel to and from any school, in the same manner as it is now issued to a child attending a Public school;"—upon which Mr. Vaughn had moved, by way of amendment,—"That all the words after the word 'that' should be omitted, with a view to the insertion in their place of the words 'all school children using the Government railways should pay a small fee (say 3d. per week) for the use of the railways when travelling to and from school.'"

Mr. VAUGHN, with the concurrence of the House, withdrew his amendment.

Mr. INGLIS thought that after the very broad and telling speech of the Premier it would be unnecessary for him to debate this question at any great length. Any question affecting the general principles of the Education Act was one of deep interest to the colony at large, for it was enshrined in the hearts of thousands of its people. The Education Act of New South Wales had achieved world-wide reputation as perhaps the fairest, broadest, most liberal, and most just compromise of a very vexed question that legislation had yet achieved, and this one particular question had been debated very often, and from many different standpoints. Even in the present debate it had assumed so many phases that one was almost at a loss to find out what was the real principle involved in it. He referred to the speeches which had been delivered on the motion, and especially to that of Mr. Reid, and he maintained that, so far from that gentleman's view being correct, the real drafting system in connection with the Denominational system would take place after the children left the train. What a pathetic picture could be drawn in contrast to that of Mr. Reid. They might imagine the waiting at the station. There would be the venerable Principal Kinross waiting to draft off his little Scotch boys, Mr. Fletcher his little Wesleyan boys, the Rev. Rabbi Davis his little Israelites—all into their different little pens. They would have Irish, Scotch, Welsh, and all sections, including the dear little Freethinkers, perhaps, under the leadership of Mr. Walker. Mr. Reid's sketch, he maintained, had been altogether overdrawn. He (Mr. Inglis) thought that it had been clearly shown that the broad principle underlying the Act was to inculcate the children with the broad general ideas of citizenship. (Hear, hear.) To do away with all these distinctions and all feelings of difference between the children. (Hear, hear.) The principal distinction he saw between the children attending the Public and those attending the private schools was that children going to the latter were upon a private errand, so far as the Act was concerned; but children going to a Public school were compelled to do so, and penalties could be inflicted if they failed to attend. There was, so far as the Act was concerned, nothing to prevent children going to the Public schools, and ample provision had been made for their attending them. Hon. members could not, he thought, have read this resolution carefully. In his opinion it would give rise to the very gravest abuses; a state of things never contemplated, he believed, by the hon. member proposing it, or any one who sympathised with it. It distinctly said that a free pass on the Government railway should be issued to any child to travel to and from any school. Now what did this mean? Suppose the case of a rich squatter in the Bourke district who had a boy whom he wished to send to the King's School, well by this resolution he could be carried free. (Hon. member: Read the whole resolution.) The resolution went on to say—"in the same manner as it is now issued to a child attending a Public school." (Mr. M'ELHONE: You know what that means. What's the good of quibbling.) He maintained that it could be clearly shown that by this resolution children attending, say, a ladies' seminary, could be carried to and from that place. (Hon. member: No.) Whatever might be the meaning intended to be conveyed by the mover, the interpretation of the resolution was what he said. He thought that the matter might be fairly met by an amendment he would propose. Previous to doing so, however, he would quote section 14 of the Act as it at present stood. This section said:—"It shall be lawful for any stationmaster on the Government railways to issue a free pass to any child to travel in a suitable railway carriage or van to and from a school, established or declared to be certified under this Act, provided such school, if a Public school, shall be the one nearest the residence of the parents or guardians of the child." That was the provision at present contained in the Act, and the amendment he proposed to the resolution before the House was "that provision should be made for the issue of a free pass to any child to travel in a suitable railway carriage or van to and from any school, primary school, private or otherwise, provided that such school shall be the one nearest to the residence of the parents or guardians of the school." Thus they would keep as closely as possible to the wording of the Act. This amendment would, he thought, meet the whole question, and absolutely prevent any misapprehension. Other provisions would, no doubt, be required. For example, it would be necessary that a child claiming to have this free pass should produce a certificate from the teacher of the school, which pass should be presented to the station master, to show the bona-fides of the applicant. These, however, would be matters of departmental regulation. He believed the motion, if passed in its present form, would be open to grave abuse; and he urged on the mover the desirableness of accepting the amendment. It was a matter which lay near the heart of all that the children of the colony should be educated so as to enable them to take their part in the battle of life. He submitted the amendment, trusting it would meet with the approval of the mover of the resolution and the House.

Mr. O'CONNOR said that he would accept the amendment with a great deal of pleasure.

Mr. ABBOTT thought the amendment would practically give effect to the resolution. He referred to previous occasions upon which a resolution of a similar nature was proposed and negatived. He felt sure at that time that the feeling which existed throughout the country among the denominations would result in the House being compelled to do justice to a large section of the community. He was glad the Minister for Education had by his amendment got rid of what was a feeling of irritation throughout the country. (Hear, hear.) One section of the community believed that it was their duty to educate their children in their own schools, and to do so made great sacrifices, and had felt for a long time that an injustice was being done to them by being deprived of the same means of sending their children to school as others whose children attended the Public schools. If one section of the community made large sacrifices for the purpose of giving their children education within the circle of their religion, he thought they were rather to be commended, and no obstacle should be placed in their way; and the very fact of the State saying that if these children were educated in the Denominational schools that would be a reason for their exemption from attendance at the Public schools, was a strong argument in favour of giving them the same facilities as those children who attended the State schools. He congratulated the Minister for Education that he could make this arrangement without sacrificing in the slightest degree any of the provisions of the Education Act, which had such a hold upon the people that they would not like to see any of its provisions interfered with.

Mr. M'ELHONE said that it was not his intention to occupy the time of the House long, but he wished to say that he thought the House and the country would congratulate themselves on the amendment moved by the Minister for Public Instruction. He trusted that the day would never arrive when they would return to the system of denominational education, because he thought the best thing to keep their schools up to the standard was the opposition which prevailed through so many denominational schools being established in Sydney and other large centres.

Mr. GARRARD said that a wonderful change had come over the opinions of a number of members of the House on this question. (Hear, hear.) He had no doubt that he should be looked upon as a bigoted and ignorant man for the vote which he intended to give that night. He had heard nothing in any of the previous debates or to-night which would convince him that this was a right thing to do. In his opinion this was only the beginning of the breaking up of their Public School Instruction Act. (No, no.)

Mr. ALLEN said the only way he could see out of the difficulty was the course taken by the present Government, and he was thankful to see that the Minister for Public Instruction, backed up by every member of the Cabinet, had come forward magnanimously and granted this small concession.

Mr. WALKER said that he supported this amendment, and would vote for it because he believed it to be in the interests of justice. The Roman Catholics had to pay for the maintenance of the Public schools, no matter whether their children attended them or not. Every Roman Catholic was compelled to send his children to one school or other, and yet some members of the House were not willing to grant them this small concession, and enable their children to travel side by side along with the other children travelling to the Public schools.

Sir HENRY PARKES said that he would be extremely sorry if any hon. member voted for this amendment without clearly understanding its character. He intended to offer a few words of explanation, which would have been scarcely needed after the speech of the Minister for Public Instruction, but that he found that gentlemen opposite viewed this question so much on the rights of the Roman Catholics. He could assure the House that the position of the Roman Catholics had not been contemplated by this amendment. What the Government asked the House to assent to, in order to get rid of what had been unjustly called an irritating, mischievous impression, was precisely what they might have asked the House to assent to if there had been no Public school system in the country, and they asked the House to assent to this in the interest alone of the children attending the schools, without regard to anyone. (Hear, hear.) The amendment was framed without the word Public schools or Public school pupils, or Denominational schools, or any reference either to the system established by the State, or to the system which was excluded from the bounty of the State. It was also framed in precisely the language of the law, the object being to offer the same privileges to all children, be they whom they might, and to make this offer in the interests of education itself; to offer to all children attending school the same privileges enjoyed by the children attending the State schools, and to make the offer in the same language and on the same terms, but separated from all considerations, either of the Public schools or any schools outside the Public schools, just as if the State system of education did not exist. He wanted that to be distinctly understood. He would ask the House to observe the section of the Public Instruction Act which entitled children attending the Public schools to the privilege of travelling free. He would omit the words "established or declared to be certified under this Act," because Denominational schools were now abolished, and the words were not necessary to the reading of the section. Then came the resolution. As they could not say "It shall be lawful," they altered the words to "that provision should be made for the issue of a free pass to any child to travel in a suitable railway carriage or van to and from (leaving out the words 'Public school') any primary school, private or otherwise, provided that such school shall be the one nearest the residence of the parents or guardians of such child." Hon. members would see that the amendment was in the precise words of the Act of Parliament, except with the omission of "it shall be lawful," and putting in the words, "that provision should be made." They would also see that the Government intended, in the interests of education generally, to grant the privileges of free passes to all, just as if there were no State system at all—(hear, hear)—but at the same time the amendment would not affect the Public schools. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. STOKES congratulated the hon. members for being actuated with a feeling of fair play. (Hear, hear.) The amendment was now in exactly the same form as a resolution he moved five or six months ago. [Sir HENRY PARKES: It is not quite the same.] The difference was so slight that he regarded the two as identical.

Mr. O'CONNOR expressed the pride he felt at being the mover of the resolution, and complimented the Government on their liberal concession. He believed the Government by their action would win the gratitude of a large section of the community. He did not move the resolution in the interests of the Roman Catholics, although they were the largest section, but for the general good. He was confident of carrying it, because he had justice on his side, and had 70 members prepared to support him. Of 75 circulars sent to hon. members on the subject he received only two refusals. The action of the Government would necessarily induce him to still further support them.

Mr. LAKEMAN supported the motion, considering the principle part and parcel of the Education Act.

Mr. GORMLY remarked that the resolution, if carried, would enable many children who did not now attend school to do so.

Mr. VAUGHN pointed out that it was his intention to vote for the resolution in the event of the amendment being lost.

Mr. HENSON said that when he was a candidate for election to the Legislative Assembly the question was put to him if he would vote for such a motion, and he distinctly said he would not. He could not understand the change that had taken place in the Government. If it were right now to vote for the motion, it was always right; and the concession should have been yielded long ago. He had always regarded the motion as an unmistakable attempt to undermine the Public Instruction Act, because he remembered the threats used constantly that no rest would be taken by certain people until some innovations were made in the Act, such as payment by results. The present attempt seemed to be the simplest way to make an inroad to the Act. They had had disclaimers, and he hoped they had been wrong in suspecting any intention to undermine the Act. It seemed to him, however, to be nothing but justice that all children should be put on the same footing. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. JEANNERET denied that there was any attempt to undermine the Education Act. He thought the resolution as amended would give great satisfaction throughout the country.

Mr. STEPHEN said he would have opposed the resolution, but approved of the amended form.

Mr. DOWEL congratulated the Government on having grasped the public opinion on this matter, and on the manner in which they had amended the resolution, which would in its present form give satisfaction throughout the colony.

Mr. CORTIS said he would have voted against the resolution, but would support the amendment.

Mr. STEVENSON approved of the amended resolution. He would have been prepared to support the original motion, but he believed the amendment would give general satisfaction, and he hoped the Minister would carry it into effect.

Mr. MOORE pointed out that the amendment now so much in favour was in effect the motion submitted to the last Parliament by Mr. Stokes. (Hear, hear.) Those members who opposed Mr. Stokes' motion, and were now supporting the amendment, had absolutely changed their views, and ought to be manly enough to say so.

Mr. M'MILLAN said he had intended to vote for the original motion. The question had nothing to do with the Public Instruction Act—(hear, hear)—and if this resolution had been likely to infringe on the Act, he would have voted against it. The main question was, that as public education was absolutely compulsory, it was incumbent upon the State to carry those who, under a compulsory system, were obliged to go to some school. On the broad grounds of policy, that it would not be a great charge upon the railways, and that it would tend to remove any irritation that might arise amongst a certain section of the community, the House had a right to pass this resolution. Any continuation of this bar to the equal rights of a certain class would be the means of keeping alive an irritation which would prevent them making use of the advantages of this Act.

Mr. HUTCHISON said that he would have opposed the original resolution. Most hon. members were going to vote for the amendment because they believed it was identical with the resolution. The House had not studied the effect of this amendment, and was about to vote in the dark. Knowing that the amendment was not the same thing as the resolution and that they would have to fight the battle over again, he would vote against the amendment.

Mr. KYRIE thought that the manner in which the question had been dealt with would give satisfaction throughout the country, and hon. members would never regret their action.

The House then divided on the question that the words proposed to be omitted stand part of the question, with the result that the question was resolved in the negative by 53 votes to 5.

The motion that the words proposed to be inserted be so inserted was agreed to, and the resolution as amended was then passed on the following division:—

IRON COVE AND PARRAMATTA RIVER BRIDGES.

The debate was resumed on the motion of Mr. Barbour, on behalf of Mr. M'Culloch, "That there be laid upon the table of this House a return showing—1. Cost of the two bridges, known as the Iron Cove Bridge and Parramatta River Bridge, at Gladesville. 2. The cost of survey and subdivision of the Field of Mars Common, and expenditure thereon on roads and bridges, &c. 3. The amount of sales of the Field of Mars Common effected up to this time, and an estimate of the value of the unsold portions of the common."

Mr. MELVILLE hoped the Government would offer no objection to furnish this information, because the trustees of this common gave up their rights to the Government on the understanding that certain works should be carried out. It was only right that the papers should be produced, so that hon. members might understand how matters really stood.

Mr. BURNS considered that it was only fair and just that those concerned in this large property should have full information regarding these matters. He had therefore no objection to offer to the production of these papers.

The motion was agreed to.

ABOLITION OF PATENT FEES BILL.

On the order of the day for the second reading of the Abolition of Patent Fees Bill being read,

Mr. W. CLARKE requested the hon. member in charge of the measure to withdraw it as the question of patent fees was being dealt with in a measure which was being introduced by the Government.

Mr. WALKER consented to withdraw the bill, and the order of the day was discharged.

BROKERS LICENSING BILL.

The House resolved itself into Committee to consider the expediency of bringing in a bill for the licensing and regulation of brokers.

Mr. O'CONNOR moved that it was expedient to bring in the bill.

The motion was agreed to; and, the House having resumed, the resolution was reported, and was agreed to.

CRISP'S ENABLING BILL.

The House went into Committee for the further consideration of Crisp's Enabling Bill, and the various clauses of the bill were agreed to.

The House resumed, the bill was reported without amendment, and the report was adopted.

SYDNEY CORPORATION ACT AMENDMENT BILL.

Mr. O'CONNOR moved that the Sydney Corporation Act Amendment Bill be now read the second time. The measure, he said, had already been carried on four occasions. The object of it was to give a vote to every householder in the city of Sydney. At present there were upwards of 28,000 householders in the city. The total number entitled to vote was 8000, but the voting was influenced by landlords in such a way that the number of voters was practically reduced to 2000.

Mr. ABBOTT supported the motion. The bill provided for the election of Mayor by the citizens, and that was, he thought, an excellent feature which would put an end to log-rolling.

Mr. GARVAN contended that it was not desirable to confer upon the citizens the power of electing the Mayor. It would, he thought, be quite as reasonable to allow electors to choose the gentleman who should preside over committees of the House, as to allow ratepayers to elect the Mayor. The innovation which it was proposed to make was unsound, and not likely to lead to any good result.

Mr. NEILD thought the provision was a very sound one. It would operate in such a way as to put down that miserable cliqueism, which constituted one of the most pernicious things in our municipal system.

Mr. WITHERS said that he could not give his support to the bill as it now stood. He would have been better pleased to see a clause introduced into the bill to reduce the number of aldermen, or abolish them altogether, and he should have no objection to see the affairs of the city placed in the hands of a body similar to that under which it was proposed to place the railways of the colony.

Mr. JEANNERET did not see why women should be debarred from voting, but he admitted that very great reform was necessary in the mode of conducting the affairs of the city. He thought it desirable that the Mayor should be elected by the citizens, and he did not think a competent Mayor for one year should be necessarily debarred from re-election.

Mr. RILEY thought that at least one vote should be given to householders. He did not care for that portion of the bill which would place the election of the Mayor in the hands of the citizens. Nearly all large representative bodies had the power of electing their own chairman, and he thought the present system was, on the whole, the best. The election of the Mayor by the citizens would be so expensive a matter that the selection would be confined to men from the wealthy class. He was not prepared to enter into a discussion as to whether the franchise in the city should be extended to females. He believed this was the rule in suburban and country districts, but it was found that the power was not often exercised, and when it was, he was afraid it was not upon any intelligent principle. ("Oh!") He did not desire to be thought ungallant in what he said; but he knew from experience how canvassers succeeded in getting votes, and he was afraid the ladies did not always vote according to their own intelligence. He was in favour of going into committee on this bill, especially as he believed the mover intended to expunge that portion referring to the election of the Mayor by the citizens. For his own part, he would like to see an amended Corporation Bill altogether. There were many improvements that might be introduced into such a bill—among others, power to be given to the council to resume fever-stricken areas and places which were now the hotbeds of disease.

Mr. BURDEKIN said that he had voted for the bill on a previous occasion, and would do so on this. But he thought it would be an improvement if the mover did not insist upon the clause relative to the election of the Mayor by the citizens.

Mr. LEES said he was entirely in sympathy with the main provisions of this bill. He believed strongly in the election of the Mayor by the citizens. With regard to household suffrage, he thought it a most equitable and reasonable provision.

Mr. CAMERON said that the advice he had given to the hon. member introducing the bill had been that, as the clause for the election of the Mayor by the citizens was a debatable one, upon which he might be defeated, it might be well, in order to secure the rest of the bill, to withdraw that provision.

Mr. HENSON thought that since no demand had been made by the ladies for a vote he did not think it should be forced upon them. If they asked for it he would not oppose it, but they did not ask for it.

Mr. O'CONNOR, in reply, said that he had told a friend that if there was any objection to the provision about the election of Mayor he might withdraw it and introduce it in a separate bill. He warmly defended the giving of a vote to ladies.

The bill was then read the second time, and the House resolved itself into Committee of the Whole to consider the bill in detail.

Clause 1.—"Lists for citizens' rolls."

Mr. RILEY moved that the clause be amended by the substitution of the 1st January, 1888, for the 1st July, 1887, as the date on which the list should be made up of persons qualified to vote at elections of aldermen.

Mr. FOSTER did not know whether the member in charge of the bill had sufficiently considered the effect of the first clause, which would give a vote to any householder who on the day in question happened to be in possession of a house, although he might have left it and gone elsewhere.

The amendment was agreed to.

The clause was further amended by the insertion of the word fourteen, as the number of days' notice to be given by owners of property claiming to be enrolled as voters.

Clauses 2 to 6 were agreed to without amendment.

Clause 7.—"Mayor to be elected by the citizens."

Mr. RILEY thought the principle of the election of the Mayor by the citizens, which was at the bottom of the clause, required more consideration than had been given to it. He did not think the change would have the effect of bringing about a better state of feeling amongst the aldermen, as there would be always some bitter feelings in such a representative institution as the Corporation of Sydney. The election would be a most expensive matter, and no man of moderate means would dare aspire to the position of Mayor.

Mr. BURNS considered it would be a mistake to take out of the hands of the aldermen the election of the Mayor. The election by the citizens meant an immense aggregation of votes, and such a large expenditure that only very wealthy men indeed could afford to be candidates. He believed the aldermen were not as bad as they were painted, and it would not be fair to judge the council by some scenes that had occurred. He appealed to the hon. member for West Sydney (Mr. O'Connor) not to press the clause.

Mr. O'CONNOR said he was most anxious that the bill should pass; but as there were so many hon. members opposed to the clause, he would withdraw it, and give notice next Tuesday to introduce a bill dealing with the question of election of mayor as a separate matter.

After some discussion, in which several members objected to the withdrawal of the clause,

The clause was negatived on the following division:—

The schedule and preamble were then agreed to.

The House resumed, the bill was reported with amendments, and the report was adopted.

PETITION FROM THE UNEMPLOYED.

Mr. WALKER moved,—"That the prayer of the petition from the unemployed, presented on the 5th April, 1887, praying to be heard by a representative at the bar of this House, be granted." He was aware that hon. members were acquainted with the condition of the unemployed, but he thought these men had a right to have their grievances properly laid before the House.

Sir HENRY PARKES said he had hoped that the hon. member would not have proceeded with the motion. The hon. gentleman had given an unanswerable reason why the motion should not be carried, as he himself admitted that the position of the unemployed was well known to hon. members. But he objected to the motion on what appeared to him a high constitutional ground. He did not think the hon. member would find an instance of any approach to the English Parliament by any portion of the outside public on such a ground as this. The ground for appealing to Parliament at the Bar was almost, without exception, some mighty grievance; and he did not know a single instance where a person had been heard at the Bar merely to plead the misfortune of his situation. It would at once break down all constitutional barriers to admit to the Bar of the House anyone who desired to be heard as to his particular situation; and hard as the situation of these men was, and unfortunate as it was to the country, still as they had no special grievance, except a desire to better their circumstances, they had no more right, constitutionally, to be heard at the Bar of the House than any other person in any rank of life who had been unfortunate.

After some further discussion, the motion was put and negatived upon division by 24 to 4, the minority being Messrs. Walker, O'Sullivan, Melville, and Lyne.

CLAIMS OF CORNELIUS GRADY.

Mr. O'SULLIVAN moved,—"That a select committee be appointed with power to send for persons and papers to inquire into and report upon the claims (if any) of Cornelius Grady for illegal dispossession of two selections in the Queanbeyan district. That such committee consist of Messrs. Garrett, Dawson, Colls, Jones, J. S. Farnell, Lees, Tonkin, Teece, Walker, and the mover."

The motion was agreed to.

WILLIAM-STREET TRAMWAY BILL.

Mr. LYNE moved that the William-street Tramway Bill be referred to a select committee, with power to send for persons and papers, for consideration and report; that such committee consist of Mr. Carruthers, Mr. Neild, Mr. Davis, Mr. Day, Mr. Hassall, Mr. Garvan, Mr. Garrard, Mr. Hurley, Mr. Sutherland, and the mover."

Sir HENRY PARKES said that, so far as he had inquired, it would be desirable to have the motive power proposed in this bill tested, but that was quite a different thing from having it tried in such a place as William-street. If the hon. gentleman consented to have it tested in some other place, he would be disposed not to oppose it; but he must oppose it if the hon. member named this particular locality. He would be very glad to assist him if the line were out of the city—say in one of the suburbs. The Government would oppose it in any part of the city, for the obvious reason that they had under consideration an entire change in the street locomotion.

Mr. LYNE said the desire was to construct in some part of the city or suburbs, where it would be likely, if successful, to pay, a new system of tramway locomotion by means of an electric motor. With the assurance of Sir Henry Parkes that the system would be given a fair chance in some good locality, he would consent to withdraw the motion.

Sir H. PARKES said that he desired to say a few more words, to assure the hon. member that he was not acting without consideration. He had read papers descriptive of this method of carrying on tramways, and he had come to the conclusion that it ought to be tried, in the interests of the public. Therefore, the hon. member would see at once that he was in favour of having the trial made, if it could be made in a place suitable for it, and one which would meet with the approval of the friends whom the hon. member represented in making his motion. He admitted that it was an unreasonable thing to expect a large sum of money to be invested in an enterprise not likely to pay, and he thought the best thing the promoters could do would be to look out for some line of connection between places where there was some population, and in any situation of that kind he would offer no objection to the line, but would afford every facility in his power. In dealing with a matter of this kind, it was not a question whether the tramways would be managed best by the Government or by a company. Fortunately or unfortunately the Government had all the tramways, and it would be inconsistent to let a private company construct a tramway in the city of Sydney, whilst the old system belonged to the Government. Another objection was that the whole question of changing the mode of conveying passengers by tram was under consideration, and the Government might arrive at the conclusion speedily that the best way of dealing with the subject would be to terminate the existence of our present system of tramway communication, and, if so, whether they were to grant the privilege of tramway communication to a company or companies, or whether they were to retain it in the hands of the Government, the system ought to be uniform. These were the grounds on which he offered opposition to the present motion, but, so far from standing in the way of having this proposal properly tried, he would offer every facility he could for an official trial in a suitable locality.

Mr. LYNE asked whether, if points could be decided on between which to make this test, he would be allowed to bring forward the motion again without having to go through the delay which would arise from the ordinary course.

Sir H. PARKES said that he would not distinctly promise, but he desired to meet the hon. member on that point.

The motion was then withdrawn.

The House adjourned at eight minutes past 11 until 4 o'clock p.m. on Tuesday next.

POLICE.

Mr. O'Malley Clarke, S.M., presided in the Charge Division of the CENTRAL POLICE COURT yesterday morning. Ann Sullivan and John Grant, vagrants, were sentenced to two months' and three months' imprisonment, with hard labour, respectively. Thomas Grant, for assaulting Constable Curtin whilst that officer was in the execution of his duty, was sent to gaol for a month. He received a similar sentence for assaulting Constable O'Connor, the terms to be cumulative. The magistrate's inquiry into a charge of assault preferred by Charles William Boyd, a sailor, against Thomas Smith, licensee of the Criterion Hotel, Sussex and Liverpool streets, was concluded, after having occupied the attention of the Court for several days. The case for the prosecution was that on the 22nd instant the complainant went to the defendant's hotel, and after having some drink tendered a sovereign, about the change of which a dispute arose. This occurred in the parlour, where the complainant was seated with two or three women. The landlord ejected the women, but gave the complainant permission to remain if he chose. He, however, preferred to go, but before doing so demanded his umbrella from the landlord, and about this another altercation took place, the complainant in the end being thrust out of the house and struck on the head with a bludgeon. The defence was that the wound on complainant's head was caused by pieces of glass falling from a window in the hotel which he smashed with his fist. The assault was admitted, but it was committed with a light stick, and the blow was inflicted on the complainant's back, and not his head. He was put out of the hotel for making a disturbance. The accused was committed for trial at the ensuing Metropolitan Quarter Sessions; bail being allowed—himself in £80, and one surety for £80. James Duffy, licensee of the Agricultural Hotel, Pitt and Campbell streets, Haymarket, was proceeded against by George Lowgal, a German, for having assaulted him on the night of Friday last. It appeared that the complainant, with two of his compatriots, were drinking there together, and one of them commenced to sing a patriotic toast, when the barman interfered and requested him to cease making a noise. When the complainant's friend refused to do so the landlord was summoned, an altercation ensued, and Duffy threw the complainant down heavily, hurting his foot. His Worship, taking into consideration the good character given to the defendant by the police, fined him 20s., with the option of four days' imprisonment. Mr. Leopold Yates, D.S.M., presided in the Summons Division. Emily Rice, licensee of the Crown and Anchor Hotel, Cleveland-street, was fined £7, with the option of six weeks' imprisonment, for selling liquor on Sunday, April 19. Notice of appeal was given. William Flynn and Emily Gibson were each fined £1, or two months' gaol, for using indecent language.

Mr. G. W. F. Addison, S.M., presided in the Charge Division of the WATER POLICE COURT, and disposed of a number of cases, the majority of which were of an unimportant nature. Richard Lee was sent to gaol for a month, with hard labour, for attempting to steal from the person of George Copland. Prosecutor, a seaman, was sleeping in the Domain on the previous day, when he was awakened by someone touching him. On looking up he saw the prisoner standing over him, examining his papers, which he had taken from his pockets. He gave him in charge, and the man was lodged in the lockup. Henry Jones was fined 10s., or 14 days in gaol, for offending against decency in Foveaux-street. William Luck, eight years of age, charged with wandering about the streets and sleeping in the open air, was ordered to be sent on board the Industrial School-ship Vernon. Robert M'Gregor and William M'Donald, aged nine and eight years respectively, were charged with stealing a till containing the sum of 8s. from a tobacconist's shop, kept by Messrs. Evans and Rogers, at No. 61, Argyle-street. Mr. Evans said he was waiting in an inner room behind the shop the previous morning, when he saw the prisoners enter the premises. M'Gregor immediately jumped over the counter. He then heard money rattling in the till. Running out of the room into the shop he was just in time to see the juveniles leaving the premises. M'Donald had the till in his possession. The boys ran down the street, throwing the till and money away as they went; but they were ultimately apprehended and lodged in the police-station. The till and about 14s. 6d. were recovered the same day. The boys were each sentenced to three days' imprisonment (separate confinement). John Sexton was sent to gaol for two months, with hard labour, for stealing a carpet bag containing wearing apparel to the value of £1, the property of George Hahn. Prosecutor took the accused into a public-house in George-street in order to give him a drink, as he said he was starving, and while there Sexton stole his bag. Mr. J. M. Marsh, S.M., disposed of the business in the Summons Division. A number of persons were fined for breaches of the municipal bylaws. Ah Chew, Quong War, and Lee Wong were fined £2 each, or one month, for cutting timber on Crown lands at Botany, contrary to the law.

Mr. A. M. Fisher, D.S.M., dealt with the business in the BALMAIN POLICE COURT. James Winnie, John O'Hara, Robert Newtown, and James Webb were each fined for not sending their children to school as required by the Public Instruction Act.

Mr. J. Buchanan, S.M., presided in the NEWTOWN POLICE COURT. Harry Moss was fined 20s., or in default seven days' imprisonment, for making use of obscene language in Australia-street, and 40s., or three weeks, for assaulting Margaret Anderson. A hawker named G. A. Newman was sent to gaol for two months for fraudulently appropriating to his own use a sovereign given him by a Mrs. Anderson to get change. Gordon Hall was mulct in 40s. and 21s. costs, or three weeks, for assaulting D. L. Goodair. Thomas Carter pleaded guilty to giving unstamped receipts to John Rowling and Emily Smith, and was fined £4 and £1 1s. professional costs, with the alternative of two weeks' imprisonment.

ECZEMA TWENTY YEARS.—My gratitude to God is unbounded for the relief I have obtained from the use of the Cuticura Remedies. I have been troubled with eczema on my legs for 20 years. I had an unconfortable sight for years, the burning and itching was so intense. Now, I am happy to say, I have no trouble. Only the liver-coloured patches on the limbs remain as a token of my former misery. HENRY LE SAUSE, 189 West-Ave., Rochester, N.Y.—[ADVT.]

LAW REPORT.

SUPREME COURT.—FRIDAY, APRIL 29.

In Chambers.—(Before his Honor the CHIEF JUSTICE.)

BROWNE V. BUTTLE.

Mr. Thompson appeared for Thomas Browne, the appellant, and Dr. Sly for Wm. Buttle, the respondent.

This was an appeal from the determination of three Justices of the Peace in a case heard at West Maitland. The information sworn before the bench alleged that on the 2nd March, 1887, William Buttle, the defendant, did, at Bensfield, maliciously throw down a fence, the property of Thomas Browne, and do injury to the damage of 20s. The defendant pleaded not guilty, and said that he did the act complained of under a right; and, after fully hearing the evidence, the justices gave their decision as follows:—"We rule we have no jurisdiction, as we believe the defendant did the act complained of under a reasonable supposition that he had a right."

The plaintiff felt aggrieved at the decision, and appealed for the opinion of the Supreme Court, asking that the case should be remitted back to the justices to give a full determination.

Dr. Sly submitted that it would only add to expense to remit the case back to the justices. It would be better for his Honor to amend it. The Bench stated that they believed that the defendant acted under a reasonable belief of a right, and would only dismiss it if sent back. It would be better for his Honor to amend the decision by dismissing it at once.

The CHIEF JUSTICE: That would be making a decision for the magistrate.

Mr. Thompson said that under section 5, of 45 Victoria, the Supreme Court could hear and determine a question of law arising, and could thereupon reverse, affirm, or amend the determination in respect of which the case had been submitted, or remit the matter to the justices. In the present instance the justices determined they had no jurisdiction, and he urged that it would be carrying the word "amend" too far for the Court to dismiss the case. It was certainly never intended by the law that when justices refused to adjudicate the Supreme Court should adjudicate for them, and it would be better to remit the case to the bench.

The CHIEF JUSTICE said that in his opinion the West Maitland magistrates were wrong in declining to exercise the jurisdiction given them in the matter. The case of ex parte Walsh, 1st New South Wales Reports, bore directly on the point raised. Under the 225th section of the Criminal Law Amendment Act the justices had jurisdiction to impose a penalty on persons who maliciously cut or broke down, or in any way destroyed, any fence. What they had to say was whether or not the act was maliciously done. This was to be determined under clause 225, which said, "Provided that no act shall be deemed to be malicious which is done by the accused under a reasonable supposition that he has a right to do such act." To decide this was a question of fact. If the act were done under a reasonable right, it was not to be deemed malicious. Then there could be no conviction, and the magistrate should dismiss the case, and not decide he had no jurisdiction. Had the magistrates simply dismissed the summons there would have been nothing to do but to remit the case back to them. But the reason they held they had no jurisdiction was because they thought the defendant in the case had done the act under a reasonable supposition of a right. In fact they determined this very matter, and therefore he had power to amend their determination. The magistrates decided everything which ought to have brought them to a proper conclusion to dismiss the case. He should direct that the decision of the magistrates be amended by the case being dismissed.

WELLS V. DELANEY.

Dr. Sly appeared for the plaintiff, George Wells, police sergeant at Glen Innes, and Mr. Browning for the defendant, William Delaney, also of Glen Innes.

The plaintiff sued the defendant for £200 for slander, and the application by Dr. Sly was that the case should be remitted for trial at the District Court of Glen Innes.

Mr. Browning took a preliminary objection. The 98th section of the District Court Act of 1858, allowing such remittance, only applied, he said, to cases where the "claim endorsed on the writ did not exceed £200." This was taken from section 26, of 19th and 20th Victoria, chapter 108. The case of Knight v. Abbott, L. R., 10 Q. B. D., page 11, decided, in relation to the latter Act, that the section only applied to cases of liquidated or specific damages under contracts, and that those cases alone could be remitted to the lower court. The present, however, was a case for unliquidated damages, and not for an ordinary debt, and, therefore, according to this decision, could not be sent for trial to the District Court. The only cases which could be so remitted were those for money due, and not those in which the damages had to be assessed.

Dr. Sly pointed out that the English Act was different to the colonial Act. The English Act mentioned the term "in any action of contract;" but certain words had been omitted from the Colonial Act, which simply said "in any action." The colonial Act also spoke of the assessment of damages, which could only apply to cases of an unliquidated amount.

The CHIEF JUSTICE examined the two Acts, and held that the colonial Act gave him jurisdiction. The point was a very important one as affecting the class of cases which could be remitted to the District Courts. There were certain alterations in the colonial Act, which had wider scope than the English one, and the evident intention was to include both class of cases. He, therefore, decided he had power to remit the case if he thought fit.

Mr. Browning urged, on the merits, that the case was one that had excited a good deal of talk in the district of Glen Innes. The comment had chiefly been favourable to the plaintiff and against the defendant. It was, therefore, thought better by the defendant that the trial should come on in Sydney.

Dr. Sly contended that it would be useless expense to the plaintiff to bring the case to Sydney, and pointed out that there was to be no jury.

Mr. Browning said this was the first time the defendant had heard there was to be no jury, which would, of course, limit his objection.

His Honor ordered the case to be tried at Glen Innes District Court before a Judge, and without a jury, the costs to be the defendant's costs in the case.

RODERICKS V. JONES.

This was an appeal from the determination of Joseph E. Pearce, police-magistrate at Hay, in a case between Jane Rodericks, domestic servant, and William Jones, publican. Dr. Sly was for the plaintiff.

The information before the police magistrate stated that the defendant, William Jones, was indebted to the plaintiff, Jane Rodericks, in the sum of £9 for work and labour performed as a hired servant in the capacity of cook. The case was heard before Mr. Pearce on February 15. The defence was raised that part payment had been given for about half of the amount, and that drink had been supplied for the other half, and the suit was dismissed.

Dr. Sly urged that the decision of the police magistrate was wrong in point of law. A publican could not sue for drink supplied over two gallons, unless the person were a lodger; and, as he could not sue for more than the value of this amount, counsel contended that the same limit applied to a set-off. A servant certainly could not be held to be a lodger within the meaning of the Act, and the decision of the magistrate was therefore wrong in law.

The CHIEF JUSTICE said that the magistrate was clearly wrong if he held the woman to be a lodger within the terms of the Licensing Act. The defence set up at the hearing of the case was a disgraceful one, and it was to be regretted that the police magistrate gave effect to it. On the contrary, as he was also chairman of the Licensing Court, he should have borne the matter in mind when the publican applied for a renewal of his license. To engage a domestic servant to work for him, to supply her with drink, and to deduct the drink out of her salary, was an action which ought not to be permitted. He was sorry that he could not decide the case at once in the plaintiff's favour; but there appeared to have been other "set-offs" as well as that of the drink. He should, however, remit the case to the police magistrate with his opinion that the woman certainly was not a lodger, and that the defendant therefore could have no lien on her salary as a set-off against his drink score. He should also order costs against the defendant Jones.

INSOLVENCY COURT.—FRIDAY, APRIL 29.

(Before the CHIEF COMMISSIONER.)

THIRD MEETINGS.

Re William Benjamin Gibbs. No debts were proved, and the report of the official assignee was read. No directions were given, and the meeting terminated.

Re Robert Walter Nickless. Two debts were proved and two were ordered to stand over, and six months given to perfect proof. The report was read, and directions were given to allow insolvent his wearing apparel and £25 worth of furniture. The meeting then terminated.

Re Frederick Edward Harris. Two debts were proved, and the meeting terminated.

Re Robert Moody and Mark Aarons. Five debts were proved, no directions were given, and the report having been read the meeting terminated.

Re George Anderson. Three debts were proved, and two were admitted as claims. The official assignee read his report, and the meeting terminated.

Re John Joseph Carugati. Two debts were proved, and the official assignee read his report. No directions were given, and the meeting terminated.

Re George Henry Pritchard. Three debts were proved, no directions were given, and the official assignee having read his report, the meeting terminated.

Re Henry Josiah West. One debt was proved and one was entered as a claim. The official assignee read his report, from which it appeared that the total assets as per schedule amounted to £6095 10s., and liabilities £3083 19s. 1d., leaving a surplus as per schedule of £1922 11s. 11d. The whole of the real property set out in part A of the schedule is heavily mortgaged, and, so far as the official assignee could see at present, it was not likely that any surplus will be available for the estate therefrom. The report further stated that insolvent subdivided two of the mortgaged properties, and sold a number of allotments at £20 each, the purchase-money for which he received, and had not handed to the purchasers their title deeds. The official assignee endeavoured to arrange with the mortgagees that the above allotments should be released upon payment of the portion of the mortgage money, but they refused to separate the same from the general security. No directions were given, and the meeting terminated.

CHARGE OF SELLING MEAT UNFIT FOR HUMAN FOOD.

At the Water Police Court yesterday, before Mr. J. M. Marsh, S.M., Andrew Strachan, a butcher, carrying on business at No. 139, Cumberland-street, was charged at the instance of Mr. Inspector Seymour with selling a quantity of sausage meat which was unfit for human consumption.

Mr. Gannon defended the accused.

Henry Bransome, a pastry-cook, living at No. 182, Cumberland-street, deposed that on the 19th instant he sent a boy for a pound of sausage meat. The meat he brought with him was perfectly rotten, and it had a very bad smell; he did not know where the boy obtained the meat from; witness told the lad to take it back to the butcher's, and he did so; later on the boy brought back a quantity of meat, which, he said, had been given to him in exchange for what he had returned; this second lot of meat was worse than the first; witness' wife took it back to the butcher's shop, and said it was bad; after a few words she threw it on the floor of the shop and left the place; subsequently a brother of the witness went to Strachan's shop and demanded the money or the sausage meat; he was told that the sausages were lying on the floor, whereupon he picked them up and took them to Inspector Seymour.

Frederick Imber, the boy who was sent for the sausage-meat, said he procured it from the defendant's shop. He took the meat straight to Mr. Bransome, and in accordance with his (Bransome's) directions he conveyed it back to Strachan's place. He noticed that the meat had a bad smell.

Inspector Richard Seymour stated that he had examined the meat in question; it was "rotten, and smelt dreadfully," and was unfit for human food.

For the defence two boarding-house keepers, named respectively Andrew Nelson and Charles Anderson, said they had purchased a quantity of sausage-meat on the date named from Strachan's shop. In their opinion it was quite sweet and wholesome.

One of the defendant's employees deposed that there were about 80lb. of sausage meat in the shop on the 19th instant. It was quite good. He said Mrs. Bransome brought back some sausage-meat and threw it on the floor, where it remained for some time, and that might have caused it to go bad.

Strachan gave evidence to the effect that the meat was perfectly wholesome. He further stated that "there might be some animosity against him in the neighbourhood, and the charge preferred against him might have been a made up affair."

The magistrate, considering that the case against the defendant had been established, fined him £2, with 5s. costs; or in default one month's imprisonment.

BOARD OF TECHNICAL EDUCATION.

A meeting of the Board of Technical Education was held on Wednesday afternoon, at the offices, 129, Phillip-streets. The following members were present:—Mr. Norman Selfe (acting president), Mr. E. A. Baker, Dr. Belgrave, Mr. James Barnet, Mr. W. H. Edmunds, Mr. J. Garrard, M.L.A., Mr. Travers Jones, M.L.A., Mr. W. S. Moore, M.L.A., and Mr. J. N. Oxley. Several communications of a departmental character were submitted from the Acting Under-Secretary of Public Instruction. Reports were received from Messrs. J. A. Hollings, A. J. Sach, and John Pentecost, science and art teachers in the country districts, respecting the distribution of prizes and certificates. The instructor in chemistry furnished an analysis of soil, No. 31. The instructor in agriculture submitted the result of his investigation of the weeds forwarded by the Mayor of Raymond Terrace for identification and report. A progress report, amongst which were the following recommendations, was submitted by the organising committee, and adopted:—1. "That the science and art classes at Grafton be advertised in the usual way." 2. "That an additional class evening be allowed to the teacher of the boiler-making class." 3. "That Mr. A. G. Reid be appointed assistant to the freehand drawing class." An application was received with a view of establishing a class in, glass engraving and decorating; but, owing to the limited funds at the disposal of the board, it is unable to extend its operations at present. The monthly accounts were passed on the recommendation of the finance committee. Reports were received of classes held and lectures given in the Sydney Technical College and branch technical schools. A statement was submitted showing an average attendance of 189 persons at each of the seven popular science lectures delivered in the Technical Hall. Other business relating to departmental matters was transacted, and the meeting adjourned after resolving that the technological examinations in connection with the City and Guilds of London Institute would be postponed for a fortnight, as the whole of the examination papers had not been received.

DEPUTATIONS.

THE BENEVOLENT ASYLUM.

A deputation, representing the directors of the Benevolent Asylum, waited on the Colonial Secretary yesterday morning, for the purpose of requesting an increase of the Government grant to the institution. The deputation, which was introduced by Mr. W. Henson, M.L.A., consisted of the following directors of the asylum:—Messrs. I. J. Josephson, E. T. Penfold, N. J. M'Kenzie, J. Graham, John Roseby, John Hardie, W. Pratt, H. Hargreaves, and E. Maxted (manager).

Mr. Henson briefly introduced the deputation, stating that a document, which had been already placed in the hands of the Colonial Secretary, fully explained the matters which the deputation wished to bring before him, so that it would be unnecessary for him to enter fully into the details.

Mr. J. Roseby apologised for the absence of Dr. Renwick, the president of the asylum, who was unable to attend. He pointed out that the asylum was a very large and old-established charity, and never in its history had it been doing a larger amount of beneficent work than at present.

Mr. Maxted, the manager of the asylum, then read a list of cases, principally those of widows, which had been relieved during the past fortnight. He stated that the society were rendering out-of-door relief to upwards of 450 families, and amongst them were 178 widows with 606 children, and unless this assistance was given, in a large proportion of cases the children must inevitably be cast on the State. This work involved considerable expenditure, and the society had now an overdraft of between four and five thousand pounds, which at the end of the year must reach £6000. They found it was impossible to keep up this expenditure unless they got additional assistance from the Government. With a grant of £2500 from the Government, the subscriptions they received from the public, and the interest on their invested funds, they would be able to get on. The present grant of £500 a year from the Government was insufficient.

Sir Henry Parkes asked how they accounted for the great increase in the number of cases of destitution. It seemed to illustrate what was constantly coming before him in other forms, that all the wretchedness and misery in the country had grown up in about four years. On referring to the papers, he found that in 1882 the total number of cases relieved was only 2832, now it had amounted up to 5161. According to the table in 1883 the increase over 1882 was only 56 cases, whilst in 1884 the increase was nearly 1000 cases.

Mr. Josephson said that the large increase in the number of cases was accounted for partly by the increase in population, but principally by the change in the system of out-of-door relief. In 1882 they found it necessary to increase the allowances for house rent and out-of-door relief, and by means of that increase many of the poor people were enabled to keep their families together, instead of putting them on the State. In former years many more children were placed on the State than there were now.

Sir Henry Parkes asked whether the directors did not make use of the £36,000 they had as a reserve fund.

Mr. Roseby explained that the reserve fund was derived from legacies, the sale of land, &c., and accumulated interest. With regard to the land sold, there were two Acts of Parliament regulating the disposal of the money, which could only be used for building purposes. The whole of the money was invested at 5 per cent. interest, and the interest was utilised. They proposed when they had to remove to use the money for building purposes.

Sir Henry Parkes said that it did not seem a very good use to put the money to, to be only receiving 5 per cent. for it, when it could be put to some other purpose for the benefit of the charity. However, if they were reserving it with a view to erecting more comfortable and suitable buildings at a future time, he thought that was a good purpose. He was very much distressed at the alarming increase in the cases of poverty which had to be relieved, and he could not satisfactorily account for the increase. If many of these persons came from others colonies it was an evil they should try and prevent, because it was enough for them to have to support the poor and indigent belonging to their own population, without having the burdens of surrounding populations thrust upon them. With regard to their request for a larger amount of assistance from the Government in meeting these burdens, all he could say was that he thought the matter demanded the serious consideration of the Government, and with that feeling and spirit he would submit their application to the consideration of his colleagues. It had occurred to him that the best thing they could do would be to try and get new premises for their institution, because sooner or later, probably soon, they would have to leave the place where they were now. Some of them might, perhaps, go and see the building the Government had at Rookwood, to ascertain whether it would be a suitable place for the institution to remove to.

THE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

A deputation representing the committee of the Agricultural Society waited on the Colonial Secretary yesterday morning, to request him to place a sum of money on the Estimates as a special grant to the society for the purpose of clearing off the overdraft which the society now had, and to enable them to make several necessary improvements on the ground.

Mr. W. W. Richardson, chairman of the Society, stated that the society had at present an overdraft of something like £1300. They had been landed in this difficulty by expending large sums of money in putting up refreshment rooms and a pavilion, under the impression that they were to receive from the Government a large subsidy with a view to holding a monster show during the centennial year. What had made the matter worse was that this year they had not received the usual pound for pound subsidy they had been in the habit of receiving on the gate-money taken at the show. The gate-money amounted last year to something like £1100, so that if they had received the subsidy they would have been in a much better position than at present. They had expended altogether on the grounds £24,000 purely for the benefit of the public, and to enable them to pay off their overdraft, and make some smaller improvements, such as laying water on to the grounds, they asked that a sum of £2500 should be placed on the estimates for the benefit of the society.

Mr. Wilson said that when Sir Patrick Jennings held office he had asked the society to assist in carrying out his scheme for celebrating the centenary, by holding a grand show, and had offered to assist them with a subsidy of from £5000 to £10,000. They would be glad to learn the views of the Government on the subject, and to know whether it was intended to ask the Agricultural Society to go on with their preparations for holding an exhibition next year on a larger scale than usual, so as to celebrate the centenary.

Sir Henry Parkes replied that he did not think the present Government would venture an any exhibition as a part of the centennial celebration, for, even supposing they were in favour of it, he did not think it could be successfully carried out now, as the time was too short. Such an exhibition did not form any part of what they intended to do to celebrate the centenary of the colony, and, therefore, he did not think that the extra expenditure they had gone to would be of any immediate use. With regard to the contribution which had been given from the public funds as a pound for pound subsidy on the money they had taken at the gates, he did not know why this had been withheld. The Government had refused to recognise moneys made by entertainments at Schools of Art as subscriptions, and he imagined that Mr. Dibbs had treated the gate-money in the same way. He did not, however, think that the cases were the same, and he was inclined to think that the charge for admission to the grounds should be considered in the same way as a subscription. He would submit the matter to his colleagues, as, of course, he could not decide it himself, and would inform them of what the deputation had represented.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

A deputation from the Horticultural Society of New South Wales, consisting of Captain Broomfield, and Mr. P. L. C. Shepherd, vice-presidents; Mr. J. H. Beatson, treasurer; and Mr. S. C. Lindley, secretary, waited upon the Minister for Mines yesterday to make application for a grant of 20 acres of the Lachlan Water Reserve, for the purpose of forming experimental grounds. In the event of the request being favourably entertained, the society proposed to carry out the following operations, as stated by the deputation:—1. To enter into communication with kindred societies throughout the world, with the view of collecting exotics, or other fruits, vegetables, cereals, &c., for acclimatisation by the society and distribution to subscribers and the various horticultural and agricultural societies in the colony. 2. The formation of a model orchard, for the growth and proper nomenclature of all fruits suitable for culture in the colony. 3. The formation of experimental grounds, for growing and testing all new vegetables and cereals (more especially the various varieties of wheat, and test their rust-proof qualities in this climate). 4. The introduction of all plants of economic value, as those yielding timbers, dyes, gums, fibre, farina, and pulse; as also the cultivation of exotic and indigenous plants, in which medicinal virtues exist. 5. The trial of natural and artificial manures ou different fruits and vegetables, and the results carefully noted and published for the benefit of the colonists. 6. The establishment of a museum of modelled fruits, and of all products that may be successfully grown in the colony, properly classed and named; also specimens of insect and fungoid pests, with notes on their habits, and instructions for ensuring their destruction and eradication: the same to be available for the guidance and instruction of intending growers and the public generally. 7. The formation of a library containing standard horticultural works and records of all experiments undertaken by the society for the information and benefit of the colonists generally. 8. So far as is compatible with the attainment of the foregoing objects, the grounds shall be of an ornate character and open to the public for recreative purposes. The deputation pointed out that although New South Wales was the mother colony, it was the only one without an institution such as that proposed, and drew attention to its high educational value. In reply to a question from the Minister, the Secretary said they had hitherto received no aid from the Government, but the society hoped if the land asked for was granted to receive such assistance as similar institutions in the other colonies received from their respective Governments. It was pointed out that the young colony of Queensland recognised the value of such an institution by making a grant of, £500 per annum for the furthering of its objects.

Mr. Abigail, in reply, stated that he fully recognised the necessity for the establishment of such grounds, and admitted their great educational value. The question of forming the Lachlan Water Reserve into a public park had been under the consideration of the Government, and the matter was now in the hands of the Colonial Secretary; however, he would submit the application to him and give it his support.

CITY NIGHT REFUGE AND SOUP KITCHEN.

A deputation waited on the Colonial Secretary yesterday, representing the committee of the City Night Refuge and Soup Kitchen. Mr. Robert Deane, chairman of the committee, stated; that the institution was building a new house, which would cost over £4000; they had secured the freehold of the land, and the expense of the building would be about £3000, leaving a deficiency of over £1000. The object of the deputation was to ask the Government to put on the Supplementary Estimates a vote for £1000 towards the completion of the first portion of the building. The institution relieved a large number of the poor and distressed.

Mr. J. R. Love, treasurer of the institution, read a statement showing that the total cost of the proposed new erection would be £4032, to meet which they had collected £2922, so that the estimated deficiency would be £1110.

Sir Henry Parkes, in reply, promised to bring the matter under the notice of the Government, and said that he would give it his support as far as possible.

JETTY FOR COFF'S HARBOUR.

A deputation introduced by Mr. R. Burdett Smith, M.L.A., and consisting of Mr. See, M.L.A., and some of the residents in the neighbourhood of Coff's Harbour, waited on the Minister for Works yesterday to urge upon him the necessity of constructing a jetty at the harbour. Mr. Smith pointed out that the Minister was already cognisant of the facts of the case, and the necessity of the work had been recognised by two Parliaments, although the sum voted on each occasion was insufficient to complete the undertaking. In consequence of that the votes had lapsed and the matter remained in abeyance up to the present time. Since then increased settlement had been going on in the district, and unless the people were afforded a convenience like a jetty from which to ship their produce, they would have to break up their homes and leave the district. Mr. See endorsed the remarks of Mr. Smith, and pointed out that it was impossible for a steamer or vessel to call there so long as jetty accommodation was not provided. Mr. Sutherland in reply, said he had no doubt whatever that the work would prove of great benefit to the people. There was a sum of £1000 available for the undertaking, but in his opinion it would cost a great deal more, as owing to the precarious conditions which surrounded works of this character, their ultimate cost generally amounted to three times the estimated cost. He promised, however, to have the sum necessary placed on the next Estimates, and if additional estimates were brought down, to have the amount placed on them.

REQUIREMENTS OF ERSKINEVILLE.

A deputation, introduced by Mr. Gibbes, M.L.A., and consisting of Mr. Hawken, M.L.A., and some of the residents of Alexandria and Macdonaldtown, waited upon the Minister for Public Works yesterday morning with a view of urging upon the Government the advisableness of purchasing land for a railway and goods siding at Erskineville. The deputation pointed out that the land which would be available for this purpose was about to be cut up into allotments and offered for sale; and that if the Government thought of securing any portion of it for the purpose of building a siding thereon, it would be necessary to do so at once, as otherwise there might be difficulty in obtaining it.

Mr. Sutherland, in reply, said that he fully realised the advantages of constructing a siding at Erskineville. As to the land being cut up and sold, he thought that that course, instead of enhancing its value (as far as private individuals were concerned) would, in course of time, cause it to be depreciated, although the existence of the railway line might make it very valuable to the Government. He would, nevertheless, consider the representation made by the deputation, and when the plans of the work were returned to him, he would see what could best be done for the people.

NORTHWOOD-ROAD, NORTH WILLOUGHBY.

A deputation consisting of the Mayor of North Willoughby and several councillors and residents, was introduced to the Minister for Lands yesterday by Mr. Ives, M.L.A., to ask that the Minister would dedicate a water frontage on the Lane Cove River, so that the Northwood-road might be deviated from its present course and carried direct through the recreation reserve to a wharf on the water frontage in question.

Mr. Garrett said that he fully understood the whole matter, and had decided to comply with the request of the deputation, with a slight qualification, that they would have to apply for the jetty in the usual way, according to law.

CEMETERY FOR BEGA.

A deputation from Bega, accompanied by Messrs. H. Clarke and Garvan, Ms.L.A., waited upon the Minister for Lands yesterday to urge that a site for a cemetery should be set apart at Bega, and that before any site was determined upon the principal residents of the district should be consulted with respect thereto. It seemed that on the 20th August last a site was set apart, but the inhabitants of Bega rejected it on the ground that it was not suitable for the purposes of a cemetery. It was now represented to the Minister that there were three other sites available which were suitable.

Mr. Garrett said the request of the deputation would be complied with.

THE INVERELL, GRAFTON, AND TWEED RAILWAY LINES.

A large and influential deputation waited upon the Hon. John Sutherland, Minister for Works, yesterday in reference to the construction of a railway line from Glen Innes to Inverell and from Grafton to the Tweed. The deputation, which was introduced by Mr. See, M.L.A., consisted of Messrs. S. W. Moore, C. A. Lee, V. Parkes, W. Stephen, J. S. Farnell, R. Stevenson, J. P. Garvan, H. Clarke, T. T. Ewing, J. M. Chanter, J. P. Abbott, T. H. H. Goodwin, J. F. Smith, R. Burdett Smith, J. M'Farlane, F. G. Crouch, G. M'Leod, Matheson, and E. W. O'Sullivan, Ms.L.A.

Mr. See, in addressing the Minister, said the deputation wished to bring under the notice of the Government the necessity of steps being taken at once to proceed with the construction of the railway line from Grafton to the Tweed River, and also the line from Glen Innes to Inverell. It was scarcely necessary for him to refer to the rich country through which these lines would pass, as it was already well known. The districts interested comprised some of the richest portions of the colony, and were suffering seriously for want of communication. The roads in the Grafton and Tweed districts were in a most deplorable State consequent upon the recent floods, and it was impossible for the farmers to get their produce to market.

Mr. Moore said, as member for the district of Inverell, he wished to say a few words with regard to the construction of the line from Glen Innes to Inverell, which would pass through as fine a tract of country as was to be found in the colony. About a million acres of land second to none in the country would be tapped by it, whereas the line from Inverell to Uralla would only pass through miserable country. The distance from Glen Innes to Inverell was only 44 miles, whilst from Inverell to Uralla the distance was 77 miles. This was a matter of some importance, inasmuch as the line from Glen Innes to Inverell would cost just one-half of what the line, if it was constructed on the other route, would cost. One most important consideration in the whole matter was that the line from Glen Innes would be of greater utility to the farmers of the district. The other route, viz., to Uralla, would be of no use whatever to the farmers.

Messrs. C. A. Lee, G. M'Leod, Matheson, R. Stevenson, and J. P. Abbott, Ms.L.A., also addressed the Minister in support of the construction of the lines in question, and endorsed the remarks made by Mr. See and Mr. Moore.

Mr. Sutherland, in reply to the deputation, said, with regard to the Inverell line, he did not blame Mr. Moore for showing so much anxiety to impress upon him the necessity for the construction of that line of railway between Glen Innes and Inverell. He might at once say that he did not approve of the Uralla route, and that any power he possessed in the matter would be used in favour of the route between Glen Innes and Inverell. (Hear, hear.) He had visited Inverell and those districts around it, and therefore had a personal knowledge of the fact that the route advocated by Mr. Moore was the best route, notwithstanding the fact that it had been represented to him that it would not pay. It had been said that the Government would not construct a railway without they knew beforehand that it would pay. That statement was not correct, and such a principle was not a proper principle for a Government to act upon. (Hear, hear.) There were many other circumstances connected with the construction of railways that would have to be considered. The Uralla route would be a long route, and to his knowledge, with the exception of 10 or 15 miles of country at the Inverell end, the line would pass through country which would not pay for settlement. He was not so well acquainted with the proposed extension from Grafton to the Tweed. He had not visited the Tweed, although he had been to Grafton, and from there to Casino, Lismore, and one or two other places in the district. He had also been through the country, taking the mountain-line from Grafton to Glen Innes, and he knew that as far as the northern part of Grafton was concerned what Mr. See had stated was a very fair description of the country. So far as he was able he would represent the matter fairly to the Cabinet. No doubt the resources of the country were unlimited. He wished he could say the same of the Treasury—(laughter). In conclusion, he again promised to submit the representations made by the deputation to his colleagues.

The members of the deputation then thanked the Minister and withdrew.

DEPRESSION IN THE IRON TRADES.

Yesterday morning a deputation, introduced by Mr. Jacob Garrard, M.L.A., and consisting of Mr. John Talbot, Mr. Long, Mr. Morrine, and others connected with the iron trades, waited upon the Hon. J. Sutherland, Minister for Works, for the purpose of bringing the existing depression in the iron trades under the notice of the Government, with the view of inducing the Government, if possible, to provide work by having all contracts or orders executed in the colony.

Mr. Garrard stated briefly the object of the deputation, after which

Mr. Long said the combined committee of the iron trades desired to bring under notice the large number of artisans who were unemployed and could not get employment. They equalled at least 50 per cent. of the trade, and a large majority of them had wives and families dependent on their earnings. They were in many instances in absolute want through the unprecedented dearth of employment. The distress was so alarming that the various trade organisations had been compelled to distribute large sums of money from their funds, and also make a special levy. Still they could not stem the tide of destitution existing among ironworkers. They did not wish or expect the Minister to specially create work to relieve the distress referred to, but simply to have all ironwork absolutely necessary for reproductive works, such as locomotives, bridges, roofing, wharfs, castings, &c., manufactured in the colony. They were in a position to state authoritatively that even at the present time almost all ironwork could be manufactured here, notwithstanding the fact that in the past the colonial employers had received little or no concessions from previous Governments that would justify them in erecting costly machinery for special work, such as locomotives, &c. The Government would benefit by having the work made under their own inspection, and it would ultimately be a saving to the Government, even should they pay higher in the first case to the colonial manufacturers.

Messrs. Morrine and Talbot also addressed the Minister, pointing out that much distress and destitution existed amongst workmen connected with the iron trades.

Mr. Sutherland, in reply to the deputation, said he knew as much of the existing distress as any man in the colony, and it was extremely harassing to him to find that he could do nothing to relieve the distress. It was not those who went to the statue who were in distress, but the real distress existed amongst the respectable tradesmen of the colony. (Hear, hear.) He had put under contract a great deal of work within the last month or two, and there was still a good deal advertised, simply because he would not make paupers of people if he could help it. The work must be done by competition. In the future no indent for ironwork should go out of the colony with the signature of John Sutherland to it. He would give the country a chance of doing the work. Whatever work the Government had that could be done in the colony should be done in the colony.

THE PROPOSED DRIVING PARK.

As it is now settled that, as soon as the Prospect Dam is completed and Sydney supplied with water entirely from the Nepean River, the watershed known as the Lachlan Swamps is to be formed into a driving park or recreation ground, it may be interesting to note what can be ascertained from the early records of the colony concerning this particular locality. Probably the first direct mention of it is in the Sydney Gazette and New South Wales Advertiser of October 12, 1811, which contains the following notification:—

"Government Public Notice.

"Headquarters, Sydney,

"October 6, 1811.

"His Excellency the Governor, anxious for the accommodation of the inhabitants of Sydney, and in pursuance of the intention signified in his General Orders of the 6th October last, gives this public notice, that he has assigned and caused to be marked out and measured, a large common in the immediate vicinity of Sydney containing 1000 acres, for the common pasturage of the cattle belonging to the inhabitants of Sydney.

"The public are to take notice that said commonage is described by the acting-surveyor in the following terms: 'Bounded on the west side by 28 chains of Surry Hill Farm, and a south line of 96 chains, on the south side by an east line of 97 chains, on the east side by a north line to the road leading from Sydney to the South Head, and on the north side by that road.' For the purpose, however, of making said description and boundaries more clearly understood and known, the limits of said commonage will be further marked by four posts, with suitable labels, which will be erected on the most conspicuous angles or parts thereof.

"This land being thus assigned for the use of the public, no excuse can be made for persons in future turning their cattle at large to seek food where it may be most easily found without considering whether they may not trespass on private property and do material injury to the gardens and enclosures of other persons, and the public are therefore cautioned not to permit any horses, horned cattle, sheep, goats, or pigs to stray in future either upon the grounds called Hyde Park, or on any private property belonging to private persons, as all cattle which may be thus found trespassing are to be taken up and put into the common pound of Sydney, until all damage incurred by them shall be fully discharged.

"His Excellency thus communicates to the public that he will make a regular grant of said common lands to the Judge Advocate and magistrates of Sydney for the time being in trust for the benefit of the present and of all succeeding inhabitants of Sydney.

"By command of His Excellency the Governor.

"(Signed) J. T. Campbell, Secretary."

The ground indicated in this proclamation embraces the whole of Moore Park, the greater portion of the Lachlan Swamps, the ground on which are erected the Randwick tram sheds, the Rifle Range, Association Cricket Ground, Agricultural Society's land, and all that portion of Paddington situated between the South Head-road and Moore Park-road, including the Barracks. It does not, however, take in the whole of the upper section of the Sydney water supply area, as it is bounded on the east by a line extending from near the north end of Prince-street, Randwick, to the Old South Head-road, close to the corner of Ocean-street, Woollahra.

From the terms of the proclamation it is evident that even in 1811, when the colony was but 23 years old, the live stock belonging to some of the inhabitants of Sydney were becoming a nuisance to those who were attempting to beautify their homes with gardens and similar pleasant surroundings. The drought of 1811, which was more severe than any which had occurred in the colony since 1789, was no doubt the principal reason why a locality so remarkably well watered should have been set apart for purely pastoral purposes. As we find it recorded that burial grounds, also, were for the first time laid out and dedicated in the year 1811, it is evident that at that time Governor Macquarie was paying special attention to the future requirements of the colony by appropriations of portions of Crown lands for special purposes. For the first few years of the colony the people of Sydney obtained their water from the Tank Stream, the creek of pure fresh water on the banks of which the first settlement was made, supplementing the ordinary supply by dams or tanks. As time progressed and the settlement increased, wells were sunk; but the water found was not as a rule of good quality, and it was finally decided to seek for a more permanent source of supply. Accordingly in the year 1827 a tunnel was made from the Lachlan Swamps into the heart of the city, under the direction of Mr. James Busby, a surveyor and engineer employed by the Government. This tunnel, well known by the name of 'Busby's Bore,' has been for the last 60 years, and is even now, a valuable means of water supply to the city. Although originally dedicated for pasturage only, sanction has been obtained for the appropriation of portions of the reserve for various public purposes, and also for the sale of a part. The present intention of laying out a large park will commend itself to all classes of the community. The surface of the proposed park consists chiefly of undulating country covered by low scrub, with swampy "sponges" in the hollows, and its value as part of the present water supply may be estimated from the fact that borings put down in various places throughout its area some years ago showed drift sand carrying water to depths varying from 43 feet to 109 feet. In connection with the water supply a perfect network of dams has been erected within its area, forming eight separate sheets of water, covering a total area varying from about 80 acres to nearly 120 acres, according to the season, the largest single pond being sometimes 40 acres in extent. It is estimated that the quantity of water which can be conserved in these Lachlan dams is about 130 millions of gallons. Some of these really fine sheets of water should be utilised as ornamental lakes in the general design which should make this park an ornament to the city. The necessary steps for the preparation of designs, &c., should not take any great length of time, as a minute and careful survey of the whole locality was made only two or three years ago by the Government in connection with the trigonometrical survey of the colony.

ENLARGEMENT OF THE JURISDICTION OF THE DISTRICT COURT.

The District Court Judges have had under consideration the question of the enlargement of the jurisdiction of the District Court, in such a way as to relieve the pressure of work experienced by the Supreme Court. A conference of District Court Judges was held in Sydney on Saturday last, the result being that Judge Dowling, Judge Forbes, and Judge M'Farland waited upon the Minister for Justice on Thursday, and had a conference with him. The Judges proposed that the jurisdiction of the Small Debts Court should be increased from £10 to £30, with the right of appeal on questions of law. This alteration would have the effect of removing from the District Court many cases of a minor character, to which it at present devotes a considerable amount of attention. Then if the jurisdiction of the District Court were increased from £200 to £500, and other changes made in respect to the power of the court, it would be able to deal with some of the cases at present heard in the Supreme Court. It was also decided that legislation should be passed which would empower the District Court to try cases in which title to land or the validity of a devise under a will, where the sum involved did not exceed £500, might arise. It was also desired that the existence of probates and letters of administration where the estates did not exceed £500 should not oust the jurisdiction of the Court. It was further desired that a change should be made in the form of commission appointing District Court Judges, so that the commission would not preclude any Judge from sitting in a court other than that to which he was specially appointed. At present, if it were desired that one Judge should act on behalf of another, it was necessary for the relieving Judge to obtain a special commission empowering him to sit in the new district.

Mr. Clarke acquiesced in the suggestion that a change should be made in the form of commission, so that in the event of illness or absence of one Judge another could sit on his behalf without having to obtain a special commission to enable him to do so. As to the enlargement of the jurisdiction of the Court from £200 to £500, he was personally in favour of that being done, and with a view to giving effect to the change in that respect, of increasing the minimum amount for which an action to carry costs could be brought in the Supreme Court from £30 to £100. He also approved of enlarging the powers of the Small Debts Court. A bill had already been prepared with regard to the District Court, and after he had received reports from the several District Court Judges relative to it, with a view to perfecting it, he would submit the whole question to the Cabinet.

We beg to draw special attention to the sale of Montrose Nelson Bay-road; also, the whole of the valuable furniture and effects. Hardie and Gorman.—[Advt.]

COMMERCIAL.

THE WOOL TRADE.

The second series of London wool sales were brought to a close on the 23rd instant, markets continuing firm, with good competition.

Our own correspondent, cabling on that date, makes reference thereto as under:—"The colonial wool sales closed to-day, the market being very firm; 120,000 bales were taken for export, and 25,000 bales were reserved for next sales. Merinoes maintain the February average. Coarse crossbreds advanced 5 per cent., and the best qualities of lambs were from 5 to 10 per cent. higher. Faulty sorts showed a decline, ranging from 5 to 10 per cent."

His remarks subsequently received confirmation in reports from other sources, as will be gathered from the following messages furnished to the public through the press, which read as under:—By the Australian Mortgage, Land, and Finance Company, Limited, received from Messrs. A. Schwartze and Co., London, dated 23rd instant: "The sales closed firm without further change. Prices are on a par with closing rates of last series. Total sold, 220,000 bales, of which 120,000 bales taken for export; held over, 24,000 bales." By Messrs. John Sanderson and Co., received from their London house, Messrs. Sanderson, Murray and Co.: "The sales have closed firmer. Greasy merino about equal to the closing rates of last London sales; scoured merino, 2½ to 5 per cent. above last London sales; crossbreds, 5 per cent. above last London sales."

The general tone of the wool markets, it may reasonably be inferred from these cablegrams, is good, with a tendency towards, if anything, stiffer prices; and, judging from the large quantity taken for export, the state of the woollen industry on the continent must, in the main be satisfactory. English manufacturers, having but scantily supplied themselves in the present series, may not unlikely give valuable support at the June sales. In accordance with what had previously been reported as to the position of the American market (mentioned especially by us on 14th instant), it is not at all surprising to learn that United States buyers had only operated to the extent of 1000 bales. The undernoted extract is in continuation of our previous reference to the position there:—"New York, March 4. Further weakness, says Bradstreet's, has become developed in the wool trade. The general range of price is now no higher than a year ago, and some descriptions are even cheaper. This is particularly true of fine wools. The medium sorts continue relatively the strongest. Manufacturers are looking about to some extent, but are not buying largely. Orders for goods are slow to come in, though more frequent and numerous than a fortnight ago. The supplies in the leading markets are rather uneven, some descriptions being in short stock, while others are abundant."

Our own private advices from Boston point to the fact that a good share of the purchases made in Australia early last season is still held in American markets, and it seems scarcely to be hoped that for some time to come buying on American account will exercise any important influence upon London values.

Although not definitely fixed, it is probable that the next London sales will commence on or about the 7th June, and the liberal supply already forward—220,000 bales being cabled as having arrived up to the 25th instant—affords promise that as regards quantity at any rate they will be very attractive, as no doubt considerably more than 300,000 bales will be in time for inclusion in the catalogues. Peace but assured, however, even this large quantity need not, it is considered, give rise to any apprehensions as to the maintenance of present range of prices. What these are may be gathered from the following table, compiled for the information of our readers, and representing values at the close of the January-February sales, on a par with which the series just terminated is said to have concluded:—

Prices per lb. realised for Principal Descriptions of New South Wales Wools at the end of the London January-February Sales.

Arrivals by rail and steamer amount to 717 bales, as against 103 bales for the corresponding week last year.

for the same period last season. A deficiency so far of 9602 bales is thus shown.

In our local wool market there is nothing of interest to report. No auction sales have been held, nor do we hear of any private transactions of importance.

The sheepskin market is equally dull, and arrivals small. Prices are about the same as last week, but with a downward tendency, as shippers—owing to the period approaching when skins are too long in the wool and consequently too dear to export—are holding off, and fellmongers, for very good reasons of their own, are for the most part indifferent about buying. A temporary decline in values seems not improbable under the circumstances.

Freights: There is no alteration in rates to report. These remain at ⅝d. and ½d. for greasy and washed per steamer, and 5-16th and 7-16th per lb. by sailer.

The Antwerp wool sales have opened rather unfavourably, being somewhat below the February sales.

Messrs. Dalgety and Co., writing from 52, Lombard-street, London, on 25th March, report:—"The second series of wool sales opened on the 22nd instant. In consequence of the prevalence of contrary winds delaying arrivals, the importers' committee met on the 21st instant, and decided that the list should be left open till the day on which 275,000 bales were reported; and that, if found necessary, it was left to the discretion of the selling brokers to arrange for a longer interval than usual at Easter, so as to admit of the later arrivals being properly warehoused and lotted. It was estimated that, taking arrivals at 275,000, about 50,000 thereof would be found to have been forwarded direct from ship's side to the Continent or our own manufacturing districts, whilst on the other hand 20,000 old stock are still in importers' hands. Roughly, therefore, this would mean about 245,000 to 250,000 bales actually available for this series. The attendance of buyers at the opening was good, and fair spirit was displayed, the tendency being, however, slightly easier for some description of merinos, though, perhaps, hardly quotably so. Crossbreds were in strong demand, and quite up to best rates of last series. The succeeding sittings have shown increased firmness, with very general buying from all sections of the trade, crossbreds still being, however, most in favour. Apart from the fear of political complications, the statistical position of the trade seems sound, and should warrant, at least, the maintenance of the present range of values. Stocks of the raw material in manufacturers' hands are said to be, in most cases, very moderate; but they find a difficulty in many cases in obtaining a remunerative sale for the manufactured article.

PRODUCE MARKET.—Friday.

Good supplies of forage and wood were submitted at Darling Harbour terminus this morning. The markets were fairly attended by the trade. The demand for forage was limited, the trade being exclusively confined to prime lots; values unchanged. Business in wood remains steady. On the wharfs a fair quantity was forward from Northern rivers, Southern ports, and the adjacent colonies. Business was limited to lines for immediate wants. Potatoes and onions were weaker, but other lines were sold at late rates. At Darling Harbour sales the following values were realised:—

Wood.—Good supplies. Steady demand at per ton—Billet, 10s to 12s; bundle, 10s 6d to 14s 9d; foot, 11s to 15s; bakers', 10s to 12s.

Hay.—Large market. Competition was weak. Indifferent lots were very difficult of sale. Oaten, in bundles, 3s 4d to 5s 6d per cwt.; bales, 2s 4d to 3s 5d.

Straw.—Very small quantities forward this morning. Clean and bright quitted at 3s per cwt.

Chaff.—The inquiry was restricted to prime lots, for which values were firm; other descriptions remain slack. Oaten, in bags, 3s 10d to 5s 5d per cwt.; indifferent sorts, from 1s 5d.

On the wharfs the following were the wholesale quotations:—

Maize.—In addition to the various northern river shipments yesterday afternoon, a Queensland supply was also forward. The market is scarcely so strong as of late. Prime dry river samples still quoted at 3s 9d to 4s; soft and heated from 3s; Queensland lines 4s to 4s 2d.

Oats.—The demand is still maintained for prime bright heavy feed lines, at 2s 3d to 2s 4d per bushel; medium and discoloured sorts, from 2s; bright seed, 2s 4d to 2s 6d; off quality from 2s.

Barley.—Cape seed remains quiet, at 3s 3d per bushel.

Bran.—Owing to the abundance of green food values, are unimproved, at 8½d to 8¾d per bushel.

Pollard.—Quoted at 8½d to 8¾d per bushel.

Hay.—Larger shipments than on previous days received from the Hunter River this morning. Prime lucerne remains firm to £5 10s per ton; other sorts neglected from 20s.

Chaff.—Balances of late arrivals replenished by supplies from the neighbouring colonies last night. Adelaide and Victorian lines, £4 to £5 15s per ton, according to quality.

Onions.—Consignments coming in more freely caused an easier tendency in values, which now range at £3 15s per ton.

Potatoes.—Stocks augmented last night and this morning by Tasmanian varieties. Circular Head weaker at £3 10s to £3 15s per ton, some holders asking £4. Launceston, £3 10s.

Butter.—Additional supplies from the southern ports this morning. Illawarra, in keg, realised at auction 6d to 1s per lb. Factory made, to 1s 5d. Intercolonial packed neglected.

Cheese.—Another southern shipment of 800 yesterday afternoon. Ordinary colonial sorts unimproved, at 3d to 4d per lb.; loaf cheese, 5d; New Zealand, 6d.

Bacon.—Moderate demand experienced at 6d to 6½d per lb. for machine-cured southern. Hand-cured very scarce, quoted at 9d; heavy and rough, from 5d; colonial hams, 6d to 7d; New Zealand hams and bacon to 9½d.

Lard.—Finely rendered, in bladders, slack at 2d to 5d per lb.; in bulk, from 2d.

Honey.—Good and clear quoted at 4½d per lb.; other sorts from 3½d.

Eggs.—Additions to stocks received this morning. Steady at 2s per dozen. Those forward by rail realised—Hen eggs, 2s to 2s 6d; duck, 2s 3d to 2s 6d.

Poultry.—The demand is chiefly for fowls and ducks, the former at 3s to 3s 9d per pair; latter, 3s 6d to 5s; geese, 6s to 8s; turkeys remain dull, 6s to 11s. By auction this afternoon there was a moderate demand at 2s 6d to 3s per pair for fowls; ducks, 4s 6d to 5s; geese, 6s to 7s; cock turkeys, 7s to 11s; hen turkeys, 5s to 7s.

Messrs. Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited, report of their grain sale yesterday having quitted the following lines:—New Zealand wheat up to 3s 7d; oats, inferior, at from 1s 5½d to 1s 1½d; one lot prime sold privately realised 2s 4d. Maize sold at from 3s 6½d to 3s 11d for medium samples.

Meat.—The Riverstone Meat Company reports having disposed of 60 bodies of beef at 2d to 2½d per lb.; 550 bodies of mutton, at 2d to 2¼d per lb. Mr. H. M'Namara, of the Metropolitan Meat Market reports the sales of beef at 2d to 2½d. mutton, 1½d to 2d; lambs in carcases, 5s to 10s. The retail values are joints of beef, 5d per lb. Mutton, 2½d to 3½d. Veal, 6d. Pork, 7d to 8d. Corn beef, 4d to 5d.

Fruit.—At George-street market fairly good supplies were forward, the largest proportion being from Tasmania. Business was steady. Quotations range as follows:—Tasmanian apples, 5s to 9s per case; colonial, 4s to 7s; Brisbane pineapples, 7s to 8s per dozen, or 20s per case; bananas, 3s to 5s per bunch; oranges, new crop, 4s to 5s per case; lemons, 10s to 12s; pears scarce, 15s to 20s; quinces slow of sale, 3s to 3s 6d; passion fruit, 1s per dozen; grapes, 6d to 1s per lb.; cocoanuts, 8s to 10s per bag.

LONDON WOOL MARKET.

The European Mail of the 18th March says:—"The wool market remains in a very healthy condition, and although business is within narrow limits, prices are fully maintained. A Bradford correspondent remarks that the market there has a stronger tone as the result of the Bristol fair, though there is no actual improvement in the demand for any class of wool. The transactions in English wool are still of a very restricted character, and just to cover urgent requirements. The stocks of staplers are light, and they are unwilling to reduce them unless at full rates. On the other hand, consumers are not disposed at present quotations to anticipate their future wants. Skin wools are firm in price. The programme for the second series of public colonial wool sales of the current year, which will open on March 22, has been issued. Though the gross arrivals to date amount to only 174,000 bales, and the estimated net available quantity does not at present exceed some 157,000 bales (estimating the wool per Athenian and Duart Castle from the Cape at 5000 bales), the period of sale, in anticipation of further arrivals, and inclusive of the Easter recess, has been arranged to last until April 27. Under date March 16, Messrs. Charles Balme and Co. report as follows: The situation and prospects of the market remain unchanged since our last issue. Apprehensions of political complications abroad have reduced the scale of operations in every department of the trade to the bare requirements of current consumption, and any decided alteration for the better in the relations of the European Powers will no doubt at once exert a marked influence upon the extent of business and the position of the raw material. The second series of Liverpool East India wool sales was opened in that city on March 16. The attendance of the home trade was good, but the continent was only sparingly represented. Prices on the whole ruled about on a par with those current at the preceding series, though occasionally slightly in buyers' favour."

STATION, PRODUCE, AND STOCK SALES.

Sheepskins.—Business has been almost entirely confined to butcher's green skins. For best lots the demand has been good, at up to 5s3d; but inferior skins have not been so saleable, ranging in value from 6d. Lambskins brought up to 2s6d.

Tallow.—Messrs. J. H. Geddes and Co., Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited, Mort and Co., Limited, J. Bridge, and F. L. Barker report holding sales yesterday. 597 packages were offered, and 261 sold publicly. The continued unfavourable advices from the London market have had a depressing effect, and at yesterday's a reduction of 10s to 15s per ton took place. Shippers' requirements were exclusively for the best lines. Quotations: Best beef, £17 15s to £18 5s per ton; medium, £16 to £17. Mixed and station, from £15 10s. Inferior, from £10.

Hides.—5484 were offered, and 4869 sold at yesterday's sale. The supply forward was below the average, and the demand ruled very firm, especially for good light weights, which were scarce. Quotations: Extra heavies, 3½d to 4½d per lb.; heavy, 3½d to 3¾d; medium, 3½d to 3¾d; light, 3½d to 4½d; dry station, to 4½d.

Marsupial Skins.—Messrs. Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, Limited, report having submitted yesterday a full catalogue. Competition was spirited, owing mainly to large orders for export. The quantity forward was not equal to the demand. Quotations—Extra large kangaroo, 55s to 70s per dozen (for one small line of exceptional large 104d was realised); large, 40s to 50s; fair, 24s to 36s; medium, 10s to 20s; small, 6d to 9s. Opossum-skins sold freely at 7s to 9s for extra large; fair, 4s to 6s; small and rumped to 2s.

Hair.—This market remains firm at the following rates:—Horsetail, 13½d to 15½d per lb.; cow (washed), 10d to 11½d; dirty and stumps, from 5d.

Horns and Bones.—An active demand is experienced for horns, at 33s per 100 for large and well-cared-for lots; exceptional parcels higher; medium, 15s to 24s; small and tips, from 5s. Bones rather quiet—Shank, £4 to £5 per ton; common, to £3; hoofs, £2.

Leather.—Tuesday's sales were characterised by a strong request for all descriptions, and for some classes improved rates were obtained. Quotations: Sole, heavy, 11d to 12d; medium, 8½d to 8¾d; kip, best, 14½d to 16d; medium, 12d to 13½d; cow tweed, 14d to 21d; yearling tweed, 18d to 20d; calf tweed 18d to 22d; waxed calf, 18d to 24d; harness, 11½d to 13d; bag, 9s to 11s; bridle, 9s to 11s 9d.

Horses.—The market during the week was but lightly supplied with fresh country stock, owing to the continuous wet weather. Good-quality horses are scarce, and light, useful classes are all in good request. Active and heavy draught are unchanged. Quotations—Best saddle and harness horses, £25 to £45; ordinary, £10 to £18; active van and draught stock, £14 to £21 10s; heavy draught to £28.

Store Cattle.—The demand for store bullocks continues very brisk. In Southern Queensland 80s, in our Northern districts 90s, is value. On the Victorian border, 110s to 120s is asked. Mixed cattle are also in request.

Store Sheep.—For store sheep there is a good inquiry. Ewes worth 8s 6d to 10s 6d; wethers, 7s 6d; mixed weaners, 5s. A good business has been done.

Stations.—Well situated properties, more particularly sheep stations, are in demand.

"Ay, marry, now unmuzzle your wisdom."—ROSALIND.

"For the despatch of business." That is the purpose, as most of us are constantly being told, why his Excellency the Governor annually thinks fit to ask the representatives of the people and the representatives of the colony (otherwise members of the Legislative Council) to come back to their old quarters, hear his speech, reply to it in a right loyal address, and then, with such appetites as they may happen to have, plunge into all the miscellaneous work of government by palaver. The past week may be taken as a fair specimen of the way Parliament despatches business. Motions of adjournment following indiscriminate questioning of Ministers, mixed up with a hopeless vote of censure, with stale stereotyped protectionist claptrap in support of it, and finished off with dismal speeches (the funny ones were the dismallest) in resumption of the financial debate—that is an epitome of the week's results. Of course, as it happens, it does not signify much at present, for our finances are, as everybody knows, in such a peculiarly satisfactory state, our agrarian laws working so smoothly, our people so fully employed and contented, and the entire political machine doing its business with so little friction, that we can all safely abandon ourselves to lotos-eating and let things "slide." What's the use of bothering ourselves about business when we have no business to despatch?

• • • • •

When a legislator of the popular Chamber rises and declares that, having communed with himself and explored the secret recesses of his political conscience, he would be undeserving of the confidence of his constituents if on this occasion he gave a "silent vote," he usually pauses for the applause which does not come. After that declaration we know what to expect, and so do his fellow-members. Over and over again have I seen this disclaimer disperse dozens of impatient legislators to the smoking-room, the library, and into every other possible sanctuary within the precincts. As for me, I generally feel tempted to wait and find out from the speaker why he could not "on that occasion" give a silent vote like scores of his brethren. But his speech never under any circumstances justifies him. Better, far better, if he had silently waited for the division bell, and silently sided with the ayes or the noes. Let our representatives make no mistake; we, their constituents, almost with one consent, say, "God bless the silent voter."

• • • • •

It is simply impossible to describe the sympathy which we young men feel for our contemporary Sir Alfred Stephen. Like the Prince de Ligne, he is a living refutation of the fallacy that years necessarily age one. It is only when he tells some quibbling conscript father—his senior in appearance, perhaps, by 20 years—that he has been drawing Acts of Parliament for more than half a century, and knows his business, that we begin to suspect that Sir Alfred might have been employing himself on his favourite work when that conscript father was teething. See how he fought tooth and nail for his Divorce Bill on Thursday night. It was really worthy of one of the Olympians. And he fought too in good company; for on the field of battle at one time or another one recognised such warriors as the Salomonian Ajax, Garrasippos, Knoxiades, Simpsonides, Phikerilaus, Pantaleon, and other invincibles.

• • • • •

Mr. Lakeman! At this moment I am ashamed to confess that I forget the name of that fortunate electorate down south or south-west which has sent you to Macquarie-street as its sensible representative. But whoever are your constituents, you have justified their choice so far. How happy should I be if I could say so much, or even half so much, of many of your brethren! Anthropologically considered, you are a legislative cob. Short, well set, sturdy, and a weight-carrier; but you bid fair to outpace many of your compeers, if you will only stick resolutely to that practice which so far you have certainly honoured in the observance more than in the breach—the practice of reticence, rarest and most priceless of Parliamentary virtues. I think you have only spoken three or four times since you entered the service; but you have never spoken, and I hope you never will speak, for any of the purposes which provide us with the disgusting evacuations of the Parliamentary blatherskites. Your protest a few nights ago against the permanent degradation of Parliament by the representatives of all that is degraded outside Parliament was one of those straightforward utterances which, unfortunately, old parliamentarians leave to the new members. You made it and scored. If a few dozen members like you would only stick resolutely together, and determine to wipe out the creatures who are now causing the very name of Parliament to stink in the nostrils of thoughtful men, we might not raise statues in your honour, but our gratitude would be an enduring monument to your patriotism. But this is not all I have to say about you, Mr. Lakeman. You have, as a country member, set an excellent example to members who ought not to have required an example. You speak only on subjects about which you know you have something worth saying. The consequence is that when you get rid of that something it is well said. There is a bracing, exhilarating compactness about your speech which, if you take my advice, you will never exchange for the wearisome flatulence that makes so much speech nothing less than revolting—that reduces the Assembly to a yawning quorum, stupefies the reporters in the galleries, and compels so many readers of the morning papers to give a wide berth to the Parliamentary columns.

What a consuming pity it is that John Campbell Hamilton Gordon, seventh Earl of Aberdeen, now on his tour in Topsy Turvy Lands, has been obliged to leave this portion of the group without being able to visit "Rabbitaria." I suppose our much welcomed and interviewed guest is a descendant of that æsthetic nobleman, celebrated in "English Bards and Scotch Reviewers," in the well-known lines—

"First in the oil-fed phalanx shall be seen,
The travell'd thane, Athenian Aberdeen."

And taking it for granted—surely no liberty—that his lordship has an infinite fund of sympathy with the oppressed of all climates, I regret extremely that time did not permit him to visit those vast tracts of this fair colony, now over-run and rack-rented by rabbits, and to pay some attention to the cruelly harassed tenants of those tracts, who are being hunted down in hundreds by grinding laws and devouring rabbits; and, alas! are as yet absolutely without any acknowledged "Plan of Campaign."

• • • • •

No Irish landlords multiply and devour like those vermin of ours, and no Fenians work so secretly or so suddenly. If only Lord Aberdeen could have gone forth into our western wilderness—it is a very green wilderness just now—and seen with his own eyes how far more necessary it is for the future of our great pastoral territory to end the Saxon plague and establish Home Rule for Australian sheep and cattle, than it is for his Lordship's Radical friends to fleece the Irish landlord and substitute the Celtic peasant in the island lately under his amiable Government. He would not have been the first peer who has gone out west as far as Rabbitaria (for did not his gobemouche Grace of Manchester get somewhere near the Darling under the genial tutelage of Sir Patrick?); but we should have expected more from Lord Aberdeen's inspection of the rabbity back blocks than from any other travelling Thane likely to find his way there. If he had seen our disturbed districts, and, after the visitation, given us some advice in the shape of a lecture, could we not have promised him an overflowing and most serious audience, among whom, doubtless, one of the most serious—"his rapt soul sitting in his eyes"—would have been our own Joseph Palmer, the greatest of contemporary experimental rabbitologists.

Ah, Joseph, what a descent it was from experimenting on the pestilent conies to the hard practical life of a Parliamentary drover. For weeks past I have almost shed tears as I looked on, and saw how the wild scrubbers in your mob were gradually making drover-life intolerable to you. Some years ago I was in the same lachrymose condition when I heard you taking up your eloquent parable about rabbits—it was the first oration I heard you deliver—but now my grief is for you; then I grieved to think about the "rabbity wool" about which you poured out your soul, and I grieved with you. Now, take a friend's advice, and get back as soon as you can to the rabbits. You ought to know more about them, their habits and customs, foes, and friends, and all their environment than any other man in the colony, not even excepting Mr. Featherstonehaugh, and a certain member of the Ornithorhynchus Club who shall be nameless. In the Legislative Council, as you know, they have been sitting in a select committee way on rabbits for several weeks, and it is said that already much valuable evidence has been elicited. I know you have got some motion on the Assembly's business-paper about rabbits. But that is not enough. You can't continue your rabbitological inquiries and be opposition drover at the same time. Therefore accede, Joseph, to my request. Drop the Scrubbers, and resume Bunny. We have spent, it is said, during some four years, at the rate of nearly £100,000 a year to exterminate him, and the only result, they tell me, is a Rabbit Department, very costly, very learned, very red-tapistical, and utterly imbecile to deal with him. The rabbit wilderness is now covered with grasses a yard or more high, and under that cover Bunny is not only in Paradise, but is able to push forward his myriad colonists towards all points of the compass; and he is doing it. We must have a Rabbit Dictator, and I name Joseph Palmer Abbott.

The compounding of a Royal Commission upon anything is a difficult thing to do in such a way that no discontent shall follow from the process. Here is this Bulli Commission for instance, which is sure to annoy a number of people, because they will hold that the various interests are too greatly or not sufficiently represented. The miners would like the commission to consist of hewers of coal, the manager I suppose would have a wholly different class of commissioners, and the examiner and the inspectors will be sure to have their own views upon the question. But all would probably agree in desiring experts, while all would differ about the meaning which ought to be given to the name. And now let us look at the matter from the point of view of the public, who are not influenced by distinct class bias. We have had a coroner's inquest which has told us—nothing; but then coroners' inquests seldom do tell us anything. And now we want to know something. We don't want the opinion of a few experts, formed upon their own individual experiences and prejudices; and, therefore, would it not be better in the case of a like inquiry to appoint intelligent laymen, or persons who had ceased to have any professional interest in the question to be determined? These would take the opinions of many experts. They would sift the personal husk away and give us the wheat of their experience. And these persons ought to be intelligent, and, if possible, men of training. Not necessarily lawyers, but people accustomed to unbiassed inquiry. We should then learn what we want to know, as far as it can be learnt, and believe the report to be, as far as a report could be, uninfluenced by the personal equation. Was there ever a better conducted enquiry than that into the Milburn Creek affair?

We often hear of the Queen's English. But there is another kind of English, and that is the English which her lieges address to the Queen. And it is not a little curious to note that everybody, from the laureate to the larrikin, breaks down as soon as he comes to address her Most Gracious Majesty. Here, for instance, is the address of "the women and girls of New South Wales" to the Queen upon the occasion of the completion of her jubilee year, which might, I venture to think, be more happily worded. The sentence which says, "With respect and affection we offer our tribute of loyalty, and trust that God Almighty may continue to bless the Queen, to whose supreme place in birth and station has been added the sad title of pre-eminence in grief," might I think be broken up with advantage. It certainly requires very strong feelings of resignation to enable anyone, however pious, to regard pre-eminence in grief as a continued blessing. And is it true that the Queen, greatly bereaved as she has been, is "pre-eminent in grief?" Should we use that expression of any other who had suffered the same loss were she not a Queen? Have we not most of us met many of her Majesty's subjects, old and forsaken, their husbands and children all gone before them, and without a friend left to them in the world? How many, at this moment, are walking about the streets of her Majesty's capital of London, striving to gain the few pence that may enable them to avoid the hard refuge of the workhouse? Thinking of these—scarce a moment of whose lives is not a pain—I should not wish to sign such an address as that. It is sometimes said that there is one law for the rich and another for the poor: is there not also one kind of sympathy for those of high station, and another kind that is given to the lowly?

If there be any soundness in the criticisms which were passed upon the present tramway arrangements in the Legislative Council, it is a wonder that we do not hear of accidents every day. When some unfortunate person gets run over, the remark is made that our system is very dangerous. And yet somehow the proportion of accidents happening to passengers is wonderfully small, and I fancy far less than in the case of any other means of street travelling. If Mr. Simpson's idea of stopping trams for a minute or a minute and a half at intersections of streets were carried out the value of the trams for short journeys would be very materially lessened, and, as far as I can see, the danger very little. A journey from Bridge-street to Darlinghurst would mean 10 minutes or a quarter-of-an-hour in stoppages alone; and the guards relying on the regulation would give far less of that attention to safety which most of them show conspicuously at the present time. However long a tram might stop, people would be found who would endeavour to get out too soon or too late. And, to put the matter as shortly as possible, it is almost impossible, by any regulations, to provide for the safety of people who will not look after themselves. Moreover, a regulation which is not strictly adhered to—and what regulation is?—becomes a fresh source of danger by leading people into a false paradise of security.

COUNTRY CIRCUIT COURTS.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENTS.)

BATHURST, FRIDAY.

In the Circuit Court last night the jury disagreed in the case of Slattery and wife v. Humphries, a claim of £500 for assault, false imprisonment, and malicious prosecution. To-day in the case of Cowper v. Rutherford, a claim for £1000 for trespass and damage done to grazing land by sludge from a mine at Brown's Creek, counsel addressed the jury, and the Judge summed up. The jury, who had visited the spot, returned a verdict for defendant, which the Judge characterised as an improper decision. Mr. Wise, for plaintiff, asked the court to stay proceedings in view of an appeal for a new trial, but the Judge refused the application on the ground that Term begins next week. This concluded the business.

MAITLAND.
WEST MAITLAND, FRIDAY.

At the Maitland Circuit Court the civil business was begun on Thursday afternoon before his Honor Mr. Justice Faucett. Mr. W. M. Christian, J.P., represented the Sheriff. The members of the bar in attendance were Messrs. F. E. Rogers, John H. Want, Cecil B. Stephen, W. H. Coffey, W. Edmunds, and H. M. Cockshott. Brown and others v. the Commissioner for Railways was an action brought by Alexander Brown, George Richard Dibbs, and John Campbell Dibbs, against the Commissioner for Railways, as nominal defendant, for compensation in respect of certain land which plaintiffs held in fee-simple, situate in the parish of Newcastle, county of Northumberland, taken by defendant for railway purposes, under and by virtue of the Act 22 Victoria, No. 19, and for the severance of the land. Plaintiffs claimed £8000. The case was tried before his Honor and a jury of 12. Defendant pleaded that the amount of compensation in respect of such claim was £6555, and that the sum exceeded the amount to which the plaintiffs were entitled. Upon that plea issue was joined. Mr. J. H. Want, with Mr. W. Edmunds, instructed by Mr. G. C. Waldron, of Sydney, appeared for the plaintiffs; Mr. F. E. Rogers, with Mr. C. B. Stephen, instructed by Mr. Stafford, of the Crown Solicitor's office, for defendant. The case was begun on Thursday afternoon, and when the Court rose Mr. Want had just finished his opening address. The proceedings were continued to-day, and are likely to extend throughout to-morrow and possibly a portion of Monday.

THE LATE FATAL TRAM ACCIDENT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I have just been reading the Herald's report of the inquest on the poor girl who was killed a few days since by falling between the tramcars.

I think, Sir, that this source of danger to passengers by our tramcars could easily be guarded against by having the space between the cars covered by network, or a folding platform, or by some contrivance which could be devised by some of the Government engineers.

At present, these cars are quite unprotected, and I feel sure that with proper contrivances many of these sad accidents could be avoided. I am, &c.,

IN THE HOUSE.

The Minister for Education made a few remarks shortly after 5 o'clock last night upon Mr. O'Connor's resolution for free passes to be given on the railways to children attending any school in the city. He was willing to support the resolution if a clause were inserted which provided that the children should attend the school, private or public, nearest their residence. Mr. Abbott, with a few quiet sentences, supported the amendment, and thought the granting of the passes would be only fair and equitable—particularly since the amendment lay within the spirit and letter of the Education Act. Then Mr. M'Elhone arose to cries of "Question, question." This agitated him to such an extent that he turned a nozzle of abuse upon Mr. M'Millan, who took it as calmly as any man could. Excitable Mr. M'Elhone! The Speaker asserted the right of Mr. M'Millan to cry "Question" if he chose, and deprecated the harsh language of Mr. M'Elhone. Meanwhile the gentleman in question sat wiping his spectacles with a beautiful flesh-coloured handkerchief—a favourite attitude of Mr. M'Elhone—pale and nervous. Uprising, he suddenly withdrew his abusive remarks, and said he had "forgotten himself." Even so! However, Mr. M'Elhone supported the resolution and the amendment which Mr. O'Connor had accepted, and roamed on a little while about the justice of the thing. Sir Henry wanted the amendment thoroughly understood. It was entirely within the letter of the Act, but it was not in any sense a concession to the Roman Catholics. It would simply do what might have been done if there were no State schools. Sir Henry seems to forget that he opposed this resolution almost bitterly a few weeks ago on the ground of "no aid whatever to denominational schools," and as Mr. Henson afterwards said, he could not understand the change in the Premier's attitude. Well, to say the least, it is peculiar. Mr. Stokes had a big talk in the middle of the floor in the style of a silver-tongued Roscius. He had brought in just such a resolution before, and it had been defeated. He thought Mr. Garrard's action in opposing the motion as he had done was a sign of the very bigotry he disowned. If, as a stranger, he had been asked to point out from the standpoint of the physiognomist the most bigoted man in the House, he would have turned his iron on Mr. Garrard.

• • • • •

Alfred Allen supported the resolution in his statesman-like manner, and Mr. O'Connor was proud to have introduced the resolution, and prouder still to have it succeed. Only once or twice did Mr. O'Connor drop into eloquent philosophisings. Mr. Walker who pounded out a few sentences, Mr. Gormley, who makes a period at every word, and Mr. Lakeman, who gives the impression always that he would like to play Punchinello, followed in support of the resolution. And after them came Mr. Dowe, with a fat, oily voice and plentiful colour; Dr. Cortis, with a perfectly lady-like manner, and Mr. Stephenson, with burrs in his phrases, all of whom were likewise in favour of the resolution. Mr. Moore said he had been straight and level all the way through in supporting this resolution, but now many members would support the amendment who thought it differed from the original resolution, but it was just the same in purpose for all that. Mr. M'Millan concluded this had nothing to do with the Public Instruction Act. It was outside either the spirit or letter of it, and stood alone on its merits independent of any system of education. Mr. Ryrie's voice was heard modestly declaiming for, and Mr. Hutchison's warmly proclaiming against, and then the House divided. Six lonely members represented the Noes.

The Invincible Irishman came forward shortly after 8 o'clock to ruminate upon the Corporation Bill. He devoted his leonine perspicuity chiefly to the question of "the ladies." No more chivalrous man than Mr. O'Connor ever trod on the train of an evening dress. He laid down the law like "a Jedge," and was enthusiastic in the opinion that if the ladies had a vote they would exercise their prerogative to their everlasting honour and the inevitable good of the country. The I, I, has the faculty of keeping the House in good humour, and he cannot be accused of withholding his power in this direction. The election responsibilities, he thought, would be better "for a diffusion of the ladies." Messrs. Jennerett, Withers, and Lees had a few words to say upon the subject, and Mr. Withers contended that the word "female" should be expunged from the bill. He could see no good in extending the franchise to women. Mr. Abbott was "simply shocked" that men who were married aldermen, like Messrs. Riley and Withers, should exclude women from the privilege. Then the question arose as to the election of the Mayor by the people, and not by the aldermen. Mr. Riley had something to say thereon. He opposed the idea, and said that he thought it would be unwise to subject the Mayor to the expense and strife of a popular vote. He then felt it his duty to say that the Council of the city, and even "this Chamber," had been misunderstood. The press gave erroneous ideas to the public about the manner business was conducted in both these places. Two minutes of disturbance made two columns of comment and censorious judgment. While the discussion progressed Mr. Gibbes wandered around the chamber or sent in spasms of interjections. Mr. Kethel made a very sensible speech upon the retention of the present system, and in passing gave some fatherly advice to Mr. O'Sullivan, who had spoken of such gentlemen as himself as "petrified Tories." Mr. Hawken, in a prayerful manner, with hands placidly held before him, like a saint in a stained-glass window, began a speech of like purpose as the last, and Mr. Lakeman went with the vox populi, slow, but solid. Mr. Neild embarked a little shallop upon a sea of glorification of the city of Adelaide. For well-kept streets, sewerage system, and general arrangements. Adelaide was mountains above the other capitals. Mr. Neild is off with the old love and on with the new. He then contended for the principle of popular election, instead of the present system, which fostered petty local cliqueism. Mr. Withers was both hands up for election of the Mayor by popular voice also; and so the discussion travelled on, bringing out a good deal of personal opinion, and, as Mr. Abigail said, they had found out now how many aldermen there were are in Parliament. The clause was finally negatived by a majority of one.

Upon Mr. Walker's motion that the petition of the unemployed for one of their number to be heard at the bar of the House, be granted, Sir Henry Parkes insisted that the question was not one of sentiment, but one of constitutional usage. It was a precedent that would work evil in the future if established. Mr. Garvan and Mr. Garrett saw danger in it also. It would violate the principle that had always obtained in this regard. Mr. Lyne saw no harm in it, and thought the unemployed had behaved themselves in a crisis remarkably well. Sir Henry explained again the unreasonableness of the request, and offered information to show that the Government had done their best. Mr. Walker quietly expressed his belief in the Premier's sympathy and honest endeavours to alleviate the distress of the unemployed, and admitted the constitutional difficulty, but still said he would vote for the granting of the petition. It went to division at 10.40, and was defeated.

THE UNEMPLOYED.

Nothing important has occurred since Thursday in connection with the agitation of the unemployed. Yesterday the attendance of the men near the King-street pedestal was much smaller than had been the case for some time. At the Immigration Barracks the officials were, as usual, busy receiving the names and statements of applicants for work. The Government relief works officers, at the Lands Department, also had under consideration the cases of a large number of men. Of these less than half-a-dozen chanced to be residents of Parramatta, so that very few, if any, will be sent for employment in that borough from Sydney. An improved regulation was brought into force during the evening, by means of which the overcrowding of footways adjacent to several restaurants at which gratuitous meals had been supplied was largely obviated. The front doors were closed, and the applicants were compelled to await their turns along adjacent rights-of-way.

PROOF OF MERIT.
The proof of the merits of a plaster is the cures it effects, and the voluntary testimonials of those who have used ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS during the past 25 years is unimpeachable evidence of their superiority, and should convince the most sceptical. Self praise is no recommendation, but certificates from those who have used them are.—[ADVT.]

A TRUE TEST.—The truest test is that of experience. For proof that Cadbury's Cocoa Essence is what it professes to be we may observe that for 30 years it has stood the test of daily trial, and has now a world-wide reputation for purity and excellence. [ADVT.]

SCRIPTURE AND DIVORCE.

During the discussion on Sir Alfred Stephen's Divorce Bill, it has been frequently maintained by those who profess to speak with authority, that Scripture forbids the relaxation of matrimonial bonds, no matter what may be the cruelty under which a woman may be suffering. This is putting a very serious reproach on Christianity, which has done much for woman. But it is undeserved. There is nothing in Scripture to prevent the Legislature from dealing freely with the question of divorce, in the interests of humanity and of morality.

Let us look at the celebrated verses which we are told take away from our Parliament all liberty of legislation. If we study the context, which those who desire to get at the meaning of a statement, ought always to do, we find not only the words that are said to bind us, but what is also very important, the history of them; we find how they came to be said, and in what connection, and this history throws great light on the way in which the words are to be interpreted. The Pharisees put to our Lord a certain question, wishing, if possible, to entrap him, and asked him whether it was lawful for a man to put away his wife for any cause. Tertullian sagaciously points out that the question had a covert though well understood reference to the case of Herod and Herodias. This was then a matter of public scandal, and had by John the Baptist been vehemently rebuked, for which offence to those in power he had been imprisoned and beheaded. Like all great prophets and reformers he had lifted the moral above the technical law, and had denounced a gross sensuality which the court and courtiers technically defended as legitimate under the Mosaic rule.

In the early days of Jewish history, marriages had no such official celebration as they have with us. Neither Church nor State intervened. When a Jew wanted a wife, he took one; and when he wished to get rid of her he put her away, merely obeying the rule laid down by Moses for the protection of the woman, and giving her a writing of divorcement; and this Mosaic rule was a great improvement on the ordinary Oriental practice. There are many marriage stories recorded in the Old Testament; but in not one of them is there any hint that the intervention of a clerical or state official was necessary to give validity to a marriage; nor was there any such intervention to sanction a divorce. That was the custom, and such were the husband's rights, when this question was put; and very cunningly devised it was—almost as much so as some adverse notices of motion that we are familiar with in parliamentary tactics.

In putting the question, Is it lawful for a man to put away his wife for any cause? the Pharisees apparently reasoned in this way: If He says yes, then He admits that Herod did what was lawful, and He reverses the condemnation by John the Baptist; if He says no, then He denies the law of Moses—which is flat heresy, and, moreover, He may offend Herod and get put into prison. Now, when we study the answer, we must carry with us the recollection of the fact that the question was a catch question, because the character of the answer depends a good deal on the character of the question. Tempting questions were not unfrequently put to Jesus Christ, and they were not always answered as fully as the questioners wished, though the answers were as much as they deserved. The last place where we ought to look for a complete body of law, with a catalogue of its exceptions and reservations, is in the answer to a hostile question intended to be a trap. In this instance, the answer as far as it went was in one respect a great deal broader than the questioners wished. In the fullest way Christ not only endorsed the condemnation of Herod as given by John the Baptist, but took away at once the husband's right of arbitrary divorce, by reading the Mosaic rule in the light of the moral law; that is to say, he showed the man who boasted that he was free under the Mosaic law, that he could not escape the obligation of the moral law. He refused to sanction any tyranny whatever on part of the husband, and stopped at once his right to be cruel towards his wife, to be arbitrary, or to be sensual.

What then does this celebrated answer contain, and what does it not contain? Read without prepossessions, in the light of the context and of historical criticism, what it does is this: it puts a limit on the then existing rights of the husband to put away his wife; it restricts the arbitrary power which the individual husband enjoyed under the Jewish custom of divorcing himself; it leaves that right in existence, but confines it to one case. But it does not take away from the husband the power of being the judge in his own cause where that offence has been committed, and it gives the wife no right to claim public inquiry and a trial. It does not declare divorce to be improper by mutual consent; it does not give the wife any right to make any reclamations on her own account; and it does not contemplate the case of the husband's right of divorce being extinguished altogether by the civic law. A complete law of marriage and divorce it is not, and does not pretend to be. It is moral law laid down for the guidance of men under the then existing civic law or custom. And who is there now who, if it were still the national custom to leave the right of divorce in the hands of the husband, would not agree to limit it as it is here limited? Christ in no way whatever interfered with the marriage customs of the day, and, as we know, sanctioned them by his presence. He uttered no hint to the effect that marriage ought to be regulated by Church or State. The particular question put to him by the Pharisees was answered in the light of the local and national custom as it then stood, and nothing was said for or against that custom; all that was done was to apply the moral law to it. This celebrated verse, therefore, which has been so torn from its historical connection, and studied apart, must be applied as it was clearly meant to be applied—understood as it was understood then. It applied to the husband's rights under the custom of Judæa, and it protected the wife against the grievous wrongs to which she was then subject; but it was not meant to apply to a state of things under which the right of divorce is taken away from the husband altogether and vested in the civil magistrate acting officially, after inquiry, and by public judicial process. Those rigid textualists who tell us that these verses are the platform on which, and on which alone, marriage laws under all circumstances ought to be based; that they contain, and are meant to contain, a complete code of marriage and divorce, ought in consistency to ask us to go back to the Jewish custom, to give every man the right to marry without formalities of any kind, and to be the judge in his own cause whenever he may charge his wife with being unfaithful. That is the state of things that in these verses is left by Christ unreproved and unaltered, and there is not a clergyman in this colony who would propose or consent to return to such a regime. Modern society has completely moved away from the old Jewish custom of marriage. We have adopted the principle that it ought not to be left to the arbitrary action of the individual man, but that marriage and divorce should be under strict legal regulation. This change has been the result of the social movement, and has been based on a wide experience; but though no product of the letter of Scripture, it is quite in harmony with the spirit of Christianity, which favours the protection of women, the guardianship of the marriage bond, and the moral education of children.

The answer given by Jesus to the Pharisees naturally led his questioners to refer him to the authority of Moses—one of the horns of the dilemma which they had carefully prepared for him. This reference he at once met by describing the Mosaic concession as below the moral ideal, and suited only to a low type of morality. In support of a greater sacredness to be attached to the husband's obligations, he referred to the account of the Creation, where one woman was created for one man, and where human marriage was first established. What God had thus established as an institution was not by man to be annulled. That he referred to marriage as an institution, and not to every separate individual marriage that might thereafter be contracted, is made absolutely clear by the exception that he immediately introduces. If he had wished his hearers to understand that there was some mystical finality in marriage that forbade its ever being rescinded, and that this was God's ordinance from the first, he would not have made any exception at all. We are bound to put an interpretation on the words that is consistent with the context. Nothing but the superstition of the letter, against which the Scripture expressly warns us, could lead to the interpretation that all marriages—due as they so often are to the folly of the young and to the contrivance of the old—are in a mysterious way the direct handiwork of God, and are tabooed to all considerations of justice to the wife and of kindness to the children. To use the language of Milton, "Shall we say that God has joined error, fraud, unfitness, wrath, contention, perpetual loneliness, perpetual discord; whatever lust or wine, or witchery, threat or enticement, avarice, or ambition hath joined together, faithful and unfaithful, Christian with anti-Christian, hate with hate, or hate with love; shall we say that this is God's joining?"

Although the meaning of Christ's celebrated saying is sufficiently brought out by its history, it happens that we have additional light cast upon it by a commentary from himself. Even the disciples were a little taken aback by the severe restriction placed on the customary rights of the husband. Nothing can give us a clearer insight into the social rule that then prevailed with respect to women, and the tyranny that was then thought to be the fair privilege of the husband, than the fact that the disciples themselves, as men and as husbands, thought that under the new ruling marriage might become an intolerable bondage. They expressed their feelings on the subject when they were with Him in private by saying, "If the case of the man be so with his wife, it is not good to marry." And what was the answer to this; an answer not given to tempting questioners, but to an inner circle of disciples honestly seeking light? It was this: "All men cannot receive this saying save those to whom it is given." Now, did ever a law-giver announce a national law—a law to be literally understood by gentle and simple, and to be universally acted upon, and then say of it: "All men cannot receive this saying, save those to whom it is given?" The commentary shows plainly, if it was not plain before, that the new law was a disclosure to every individual husband of the spirit in which he was to exercise the power that custom at that time afforded to him, and implies that the new rule would be understood in proportion to the purity of each man's moral insight. "He that is able to receive it, let him receive it." Thus enlightened, the disciples do not seem to have demurred any more, and why should we demur? We, too, may study the rights and wrongs of marriage in the light of the highest personal and social morality, and in giving rights and redressing wrongs keep this light ever as our guide.

It might have happened, so far as the authority of Scripture is concerned, that no further allusion should be made to the question of divorce; but most fortunately for us a state of things sprang up in the Church at Corinth which caused an appeal to be made to the Apostle Paul, and his action in the matter is conclusive to all those who recognise his authority. Certain questions were put to him about ill-assorted marriages. In answer to the appeal he gave his judgment, and after referring to what our Lord had commanded, evidently alluding to the celebrated answer to the Pharisees, he gives his own opinion on the new cases submitted. He certainly would not have done that if he had thought that the whole question was shut up by the answer given to the Pharisees, for St. Paul was saturated with the spirit of obedience to his risen Lord, and as a Jew by birth and a Pharisee by training, he was exactly fitted to appreciate both question and answer. The questions put to him are not given, and we can only gather their purport from the answers. He speaks in the first place as to married persons, both of whom are in the Church, but who, it would seem, were not living happily together. To the husband he repeats the injunction of the Lord that he is not to put away his wife; to the wife he gives order not to desert her husband, or if she has done so, to become reconciled to her husband. If she deserts, she is to remain unmarried, but he puts no restraint on the deserted husband; on that point he is silent. He then goes on to consider the case of mixed marriages, or perhaps marriages which have become mixed by the conversion of one of the parties to the Christian faith. He advises the parties to live in peace if they possibly can, and dismisses the idea that there is any ceremonial impropriety in a Christian and a heathen living in wedlock. But he then goes on to say that if they cannot live in peace together, then let the unbelieving one depart—that is to say, he allows a voluntary separation in the case of unresolvable incongruity of religious opinions, when this difference was as great as between heathenism and Christianity. He appears to regard such a departure as a voluntary and final separation, involving neither cruelty nor desertion. As to the unbelieving one who departs, he gives no command, for the one going out of all church relationship goes out of his ecclesiastical jurisdiction; but as to the believing one that remains he makes this very noteworthy remark, and which shows the freedom of spirit in which he looked upon the whole question:—"A brother or a sister is not in bondage in such cases, but God has called us to peace." Peace, not bondage—that is the apostolic note. That he means real divorce is fairly to be inferred from the use of this word "bondage," because mere separation without divorce would still remain bondage. Not to be in bondage is to be free. Whatever differences of detail there may be in interpreting the Apostle's words, this one point stands out clearly—and it is the important point for us in this controversy—viz., that St. Paul did not consider the answer given by Christ to the Pharisees as a complete code of divorce, and that the cases submitted to him, and kindred cases, should be considered on their merits, and with regard to peace in married life and the interest of personal and social morality.

We might almost be justified in wishing that the Church at Corinth had been more disorderly than it was; and that cases might have been submitted to St. Paul as to what he would enjoin where a husband was wilfully cruel, where he deserted his wife for a long period, where he left her without maintenance, where he was an habitual drunkard, where he was hopelessly insane, or where he had been sent to the galleys for life. We may perhaps conjecture what his decision would have been, if we remember his fundamental principle—peace, not bondage.

GOULBURN AGRICULTURAL AND PASTORAL SOCIETY.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

GOULBURN, FRIDAY.

The annual meeting of the Agricultural, Pastoral, and Horticultural Society was held this afternoon, Mr. A. F. Gibson in the chair. Only about a dozen members were present. A satisfactory report and balance-sheet was adopted. It was shown that after paying outstanding debts the society would stand about clear, but would have their fine property, with all appointments, without the slightest encumbrance. The report suggested the delivery of lectures of interest to agriculturists. The idea was warmly approved of. The officers were elected for the ensuing year. The usual votes of thanks were passed. Mr. Isaac Shepherd, the hon. secretary, was warmly complimented on the manner in which he had discharged his duties.

REVIEW.

She. By H. RIDER HAGGARD. London: Longmans, Green, and Co., 1887.

It is not easy to measure the relative importance of books. Here, for instance, is one which, before it could come into our hands, must have been read by thousands; which, before it is forgotten, will be read, probably by hundreds of thousands. Good or bad, there is an influence here. For, although to serious-minded persons a story of this kind may seem to be trivial, we cannot blind ourselves to the fact that its effect upon the imagination is powerful, if to some extent transient, and that our ideas of right and wrong—of morality in its widest sense—are largely determined by the books we read, as well as by the thoughts of the men and women with whom we come in actual contact. The influence of any particular work may be slight, but it is real, for we never quite forget anything; and in considering the importance of that influence we must take the probable range, as well as the weight of it into account. To-day we constantly notice the publication of sensational books whose circulation is both large and rapid. There seems to be an appetite for sensation which demands satisfaction, and it is of much importance that the food by which it is stayed should be at least harmless, and if possible, wholesome. We all know that mental constitutions exist upon which sensational books have had a directly poisonous effect; and that here and there youthful readers were induced to embark upon a career of actual crime by the perusal of books which were widely read a generation or so ago. And we are glad to welcome writers like Mr. Haggard who, instead of seeking excitement in criminal records, as members of a contemporary French school have done, depends for interest upon "antres vast and deserts idle," and races of men whose domestic habits are scarcely less singular than those of the anthropophagi.

This book is a finer book than "King Solomon's Mines." It cannot perhaps be said that the narrative is so absorbing, but it is quite as interesting. Until we get towards the end of it we do not feel ourselves constrained to sit up late over it, as was the case with the other story. And this, because it is not so real. There was nothing in "King Solomon's Mines" which it was not within the power of the writer to represent as possible: there is much in "She" which he cannot delude the imagination into believing, except in the qualified way in which it accepts as credible the principal facts narrated in ghost-story. We may give an idea of what the narrative is, but we do not desire to earn the resentment of the reader by spoiling the interest which he is sure to feel in reading it for himself:—A dying friend of the narrator, named Vincey, has confided to his care his only son and an iron box. The first is to be brought up in a certain manner; the second is to be opened when the child attains the age of 25 years. The box is found to contain an ancient potsherd, which has been handed down in the Vincey family from the days of one Kallikrates, who was living in the year 339 B.C. According to the inscription upon the potsherd, Kallikrates was a priest of Isis, who broke his vows and married. He fled with his wife, and was wrecked on the east coast of Africa, where they were entertained by the queen of the country, a beautiful white woman who possessed supernatural powers, and apparently the attribute of immortality. The queen fell in love with Kallikrates, and at last murdered him out of jealousy, but over the wife, who was protected by her own magic, she was not able to prevail. The wife therefore fled, and left to her child and to all his race the duty of vengeance upon the Queen, and of discovering the fire of life which existed in her country, and to an immersion in which she owed her perennial youth. Young Vincey is the last surviving descendant of Kallikrates and it is to test the truth of this story that the narrator, whose name by the way is Holly, with his ward and an old servant, start upon the expedition, of which this book is the history. We need not dwell upon the numerous perils which attend their journey to the country of the "Amahagger," over which people Ayesha, or "She" still rules. They at last reach it safely, and are well received by her. Ayesha has been waiting the return of Kallikrates; for in her belief "there is no such thing as death, though there be a thing called change . . . I say to thee that I wait now for one I loved to be born again, and here I tarry till he finds me, knowing of a surety that hither will he come, and that here, and here only shall he greet me." Of her own length of days she says:—

"Tell me, stranger; life is—why therefore should not life be lengthened for a while? What are ten, twenty, or fifty thousand years in the history of a life? Why, in ten thousand years scarce will the rain and storms lessen a mountain top by a span in thickness. In two thousand years these caves have not changed, nothing has changed but the beasts and man, who is as the beasts. There is naught that is wonderful about the matter could'st thou but understand. Life is wonderful, ay, but that it be a little lengthened is not wonderful."

We are here at once brought into the presence of the supernatural, and the more distinctly that "She"—whose full title among the people is "She who must be obeyed"—is possessed of mysterious powers of striking her enemies dead, a species of clairvoyance, and other faculties which belong to the realm of magic, as it is commonly understood. And if in this we recognise some want of originality, and are reminded of the more fanciful works of Bulwer-Lytton, we receive compensation in speculations upon the nature of our life and thoughts about it, many of which are beautiful, and are clothed in beautiful language:—

"Above me, as I lay, shone the eternal stars, and there at my feet the impish marsh-born balls of fire rolled this way and that, vapour-tossed and earth-desiring, and methought that in the two I saw a type and image of what man is, and what, perchance, man may one day be, if the living Force which ordained him and them should so ordain this also. Oh, that it might be ours to rest year by year upon that high level of the heart to which at times we momentarily attain! Oh, that we could shake loose the prisoned pinions of the soul and soar to that superior point whence, like some traveller looking out through space from Darien's giddiest peak, we might gaze with the spiritual eyes of noble thoughts deep into Infinity. . . . . . These and many such thoughts passed through my mind that night. They come to torment us at times. I say to torment, for alas! thinking can only serve to measure out the helplessness of thought. What is the use of our feeble crying in the awful helplessness of space? Can our dim intelligence read the secrets of that star-strewn sky? Does any answer come out of it? Never any at all, nothing but echoes and fantastic visions. And yet we believe that there is an answer, and that upon a time a new dawn will come blushing down the ways of our enduring night. We believe it for its reflected beauty even now shines up continually in our hearts from beneath the horizon of the grave, and we call it Hope."

Returning to the narrative, we may tell the reader, what he would very early be led to anticipate, that in the coming of Vincey "She" recognises the return of Kallikrates, by whose embalmed body she has been watching for two thousand years. To say more would be unkind to those who will read the book and useless to those who will not, and as regards the story we need say no more. It only remains to remark that Mr. Haggard's powers of description show no signs of failing. The picture of the "Caves of Kor" is photographic in its vivid clearness, surpassed only by that of the Ruined City. Indeed it may be said that Mr. Haggard studies by photographic distinctness of detail to produce realism—as when he says, "we saw many varieties of water-lilies in full bloom, some of them blue, and of exquisite beauty, though few of the flowers were perfect, owing to the prevalence of a white water-maggot with a green head, that fed upon them." But the authority is at his best when he lets his imagination free amongst the possible forces of nature. The story of the last terrible journey in search of the "fire of life" the passage and return through subterranean storm and darkness by giant precipices, and over giddy depths, that fall away into abysmal darkness, is told with marvellous power. Pathos he has, too, and humour—when, indeed, are they not found together?—but the humour is less abundant, and of a drier kind than in his last book, as when he says,—"True, in uniting himself to this dread woman, he would place his life under the influence of a mysterious creature of evil tendencies, but then that would be likely enough to happen to him in any ordinary marriage." Whether the tale is intended to be allegorical in the manner of "Zanoni," we must leave those who read it to determine. Mr. Haggard has a vivid conception of life as of a knife-edge of consciousness between two void eternities. It may be that he has endeavoured to symbolise the fate of those who would step beyond it in the search for a vain ideal.

COLONIAL GOVERNMENT SECURITIES.

New S. Wales Funded	—	Debentures due 1902 —

Another fall in the bank rate in London is advised by cablegram. Reduced on the 14th April from 3 per cent. to 2½ per cent., it was lowered again yesterday to 2 per cent. It will have been seen that the bank reserves continue ample, and that the proportion of reserves to liabilities is large. Late cablegrams show that the open market rate of discount is very low.

The 73rd annual meeting of the Bank of New South Wales was held to-day, Mr. Thomas Buckland in the chair. The report stated that the net profits for the half-year, after deducting rebate on current bills, interest on deposits, providing for bad and doubtful debts, and reducing valuation of bank premises, amounted to £113,903, to which was added, undivided balance from last half-year, £8150; giving for distribution, £122,054, which the directors recommended to be appropriated as follows:—To payment of dividend at the rate of 15 per cent. per annum, £89,571; to bonus at the rate of 2½ per cent. per annum, £14,928; to dividend and bonus from 10th December and 10th March respectively, at the above rates on new stock paid up, £1480; to augmentation of the reserve fund, £10,000; to balance carried to profit and loss, new account, £6074. With the above appropriation and the premium on new stock paid up, the reserve fund will amount to £872,835. During the past half-year branches of the bank had been opened at Sussex-street, in this city; at Fremantle, in Western Australia; and at Beaudesert, Cumberland, and Croydon, in Queensland; whilst those at Cardwell, in the latter colony, and Wilcannia, in this, had been closed. The dividend will be payable at the head office to-morrow (Saturday), and at the branches on receipt of advice. The report was adopted, and a vote of thanks was passed to the directors.

The half-yearly meeting of the Bank of New Zealand was held at Auckland yesterday. The report and balance-sheet to 31st March last were adopted. A dividend and bonus equal to 12½ per cent. per annum were declared, and £14,594 carried forward to next half-year's profit and loss account. The board of directors had taken £125,000 from the reserve to provide for exceptional losses. This fund will now stand at £500,000. The figures for the half-year show increased business, with £2,300,000 cash resources.

The tenth half-yearly meeting of Saywell's Tobacco Company was held this afternoon, Mr. T. H. Kelly in the chair. The report, of which we have already given a summary, was adopted. Messrs. A. W. Gilles and W. H. Tulloh, as directors, and C. T. Starkey and J. F. Paige as auditors, were re-elected, and a vote of thanks was passed to the directors and officers.

At a meeting of the directors of the City Carrying Company to-day—Mr. John Woods in the chair—an interim dividend at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum was declared; and will be payable on and after 16th May.

The report of the City and County Investment, Land, and Building Company, to be presented at a meeting on Monday next, states that in the face of the fact that the past year had been one of the worst ever known in this colony as regarded all kinds of business operations, and in particular operations in real estate, the net profits of the company amounted to £4268, which the directors proposed to allocate as follows:—To payment of dividend at the rate of 20 per cent. per annum, £1165; to bonuses to depositors for 12 months at the rate of 1 per cent. per annum, £55; to reserve fund, £2500; to write off office furniture account, £58; to carry forward, £484. The reserve fund would then stand at £7000, being larger than the present paid-up capital.

In the Import markets little business of importance transpired, trade, as usual towards the close of the month, having dwindled into small compass. Importers and distributors generally find it difficult to get in money. The late floods in the Clarence and Richmond Rivers still show their effects in the inability of many storekeepers to pay their bills, and in consequence the applications for renewals from those quarters continue to be numerous. It is satisfactory to learn, however, that the prospects of the season everywhere are favourable, and in consequence recovery from the depression is looked for. The flour trade is quiet, and quotations for ordinary lines are as follow:—Adelaide, £10 to £10 10s.; South Australian (country), £9 15s. to £10; New South Wales, £9 15s. to £10 5s.; Victorian, £9 7s. 6d. to £9 15s.; roller-made, £10 5s. to £11 5s. For wheat there is but little inquiry, and prime samples are quoted at 3s. 11d. to 4d. There is very little doing in tea, pending the auction sale to be held next week. The effect of Eastern advices has been to strengthen the coffee market, and 10d. is now required for No. 1 Ceylon Plantation. Currants are rather weaker, but 5¼d. is still required. Elemes dull of sale. Swiss milk of good brands worth 6s. 6d. Candles are firm, 6¼d. to 6½d. required for large lines of D. R. Jenar's. A parcel of Schiedam placed at 6¼d. Rice is still fully supplied, and prices low—say, £12 to £18 10s. for the lower grades; and from £15 to to £15 10s. for fine table sorts. Liverpool coarse salt worth 65s. in 20 ton lots. A quantity of Liverpool fine done at 75s. For rock, 80s. to 85s. may be quoted. Fish neglected. The demand for brewers' goods is very slack; and quotations are almost nominal. In liquids trade was rather better to-day, but still is far from being as large as usual. Hennessy's single star brandy is very scarce, and 35s. 6d. to 36s. would have to be paid. Several hundred cases have been disposed of for forward delivery at 35s. The inquiry for three-star is not so good. Geneva is still held at 9s. 9d. to 10s. for small lines. Business noticed in Burke's and J. Jameson's whisky. In metals, wire nails are rather dearer, and up to 18s. 3d. is now quoted. I. C. Coke tin plates remain scarce, and up to 18s. 6d. has to be paid for small lines. Fencing wire dull of sale. There was inquiry to-day from Melbourne, for woolpacks.

A meeting of creditors in the estate of H. P. Palser, wholesale provision merchant, was held this afternoon, Mr. D. Thomson in the chair. It was explained by the trustees previously appointed that they had failed to realise anything, and that the proposed arrangement had fallen through. Mr. Palser now submitted an offer of 4s. in the £ cash, or approved bills on the old debts, which amounted to about £24,000; the debts contracted since the assignment to be paid in full. A resolution was passed authorising the trustees to accept.

By the incoming mail we have London files to the 25th March. The money market, in which by cable we are advised of a reduction in rate, had at that date a much easier tendency, money at call being obtainable at 1 per cent., and three months' bills in the open market being discounted at 1⅝ to 1¾ per cent. Closing quotations for bank stocks were as follows:—Australasia, 99, 101; English, Scottish, and Australian, 32, 33; London Chartered Bank of Australia, 23½, 24½; New South Wales, 64, 66; New Zealand, 23½, 24½; Queensland National, 12½, 13; Union of Australia, 67, 69.

On and after Monday, 2nd May, entries will be received each day (except Saturdays) up to a quarter-past 4, and the Custom House will be closed at half-past 4; Saturdays as at present.

The following was the Customs' revenue received to-day:—

Spirits, £2139 7s. 10d.; wine (still), £172 10s. 9d.; ale, porter, and beer (in bottles), £206 19s. 3d.; tobacco and snuff, £117 12s.; cigars, £772 1s. 5d.; cigarettes, £37 10s.; tea, £110 15s.; sugar (unrefined), £164 19s. 1d.; opium, £58 15s.; rice, £1 9s.; nuts, £1 18s. 3d.; hops, £5 3s. 6d.; specific duty, £615 4s. 7d.; ad valorem, £473 11s. 5d.; bonded warehouses, 42 Vic., No. 19. £75; harbour and light rates, 18s. 8d.; colonial distilled spirits, £236 9s. 4d.; fisheries royalty, £19 4s.: total, £5209 9s. 1d.

SATURDAY, APRIL 30, 1887.

It would be difficult to imagine any proposition of a constitutional character less open to question than the one to which our correspondent, the Rev. T. E. Hill, of Moore College, takes exception in his letter. When dealing with the position of the clergy in connection with the Divorce Bill, in our issue of the 20th instant, we pointed out the essential difference, so far as legislation is concerned, between the churches here and the Anglican Church in England, the latter forming an integral part of the Constitution by virtue of its establishment, while the former, not being established, have no voice in our Legislature whatever. As an incident of its constitutional position, we mentioned that the National Church in England is and always has been maintained by State endowments. There appears to be no more room for doubt as to the existence of these endowments than there is as to the existence of the Archbishop of Canterbury; but our correspondent, who professes "respect for historical truth," insists that the Church of England is not, and never has been endowed by the State, and that all its possessions have been the gifts of its private members. This view of the matter is at least entitled to the credit of originality, and may remind the reader of Walpole's "Historic Doubts as to the Existence of Richard the Third." Possibly our correspondent belongs to the class of critical philosophers who doubt the authenticity of all history, and dispose of our most cherished traditions as mere myths and legends concocted by romantic chroniclers. Nor is it altogether easy to refute these critics. There would be some difficulty in proving any particular fact recorded by our early historians, since there is no evidence beyond that of the historians themselves. For all the facts chronicled during the national existence of England under its Saxon kings and Norman conquerors, especially as regards the national Church, the only authorities we have are the Latin chronicles written by the monks; and if their authenticity is to be denied, there is an end to all history, so far as that period is concerned. But historical criticism has not yet gone that length, and consequently in the Latin chronicles of the mediæval times we have to search for the foundations of our English history.

The position of the Church of England as regards its endowments by the State, as well as by its private members, may be clearly traced in these chronicles to the earliest periods of its history. A remarkably interesting illustration of it may be found in Mr. Froude's "Annals of an English Abbey," a delightful essay in which he reproduces, with all the dramatic colouring peculiar to him, the story told in Latin by the monk Walsingham, and republished a few years ago, with other records of the kind, under the direction of the Master of the Rolls. The Abbey referred to is the celebrated one of St. Albans, in Hertfordshire, "the wealthiest and most brilliant of all the religious houses of Great Britain," and its history may be taken as typical of all of them. It was founded by Offa, the Saxon King, in the eighth century, in honour of Albanus, the first English martyr to the new faith; and on its foundation it was "endowed with broad lands" as well as many privileges by the pious king. If this was not the first recorded instance of a great State endowment, it was one of the first, and in its eventful history we may trace the outlines of the whole system by which the national Church became part and parcel of the British Constitution. A few passages from Froude will suffice to show the position in which the Church stood towards the State during the troubled period which preceded the Reformation.

"At a convention which met at Westminster soon after the battle of Hastings, William the Conqueror let fall an expression of contemptuous surprise at the ease with which the Saxons had allowed themselves to be overcome. The abbot of St. Albans, who was present, replied:—

"'Most illustrious Prince, you owe your triumphs to the clergy of this realm. Our late sovereigns have been so heavenly-minded that they have bestowed a large part of English soil on the houses of religion. Had temporal lords held it, they would have made a stouter fight. The clergy could not, and would not.'

"'Ha,' answered William, 'is that the secret of it? Because the lands were taken from knights and gentlemen and given to you? Then the same thing may happen to me. The Danes may come again, and there will be no one to fight with them. Out of your own mouth I judge you. I will have your St. Alban's lands again, and settle men on them that I can depend upon.'

"The domains of St. Alban's extended at this time from their own gates to London Stone, and the forest with which the intervening country was covered was the hiding-place of Saxon outlaws. Half was at once resumed by the Crown. The woods were cleared, roads were opened through them and patrolled. The abbey itself was saved by the intercession of Lanfranc; and, shorn of its splendour, it was placed under the rule of the Norman Paul, who was Lanfranc's next kinsman.

"King William, seeing the abbey rescued from Saxon license, restored part of the lands. Money was found with Lanfranc's help, and the abbey church, which had been allowed to fall to ruins, was simply and solidly rebuilt.

"So rich and so powerful under such administration the abbeys were now (temp. King John) becoming, that both Kings and Popes began to clutch at a share of their wealth. On the death of an abbot the clergy could only proceed to an election after receiving a congé d'élire from the Crown, and the fine exacted by the Treasury had been fixed at not less than a thousand marks—£12,000, or £15,000 of modern English money. The Pope followed suit, and insisted that the abbots should receive investiture from them in person, and accordingly each of them had to 'travel to Italy at a vast expense, and pay the Pope a second thousand marks, besides lavish presents, in the Sacred College before their bulls were granted.'

"Edward I. had carried through Parliament the famous Mortmain statute, which forbade the appropriation of any more English soil in the dead hand of the religious houses. But the lawyers made a way through the Act. Mountains of gold were piled upon St. Alban's; and now began in earnest the erection of those splendid buildings amidst the ruins of which sentimental Ritualists sigh over the ages of faith, and pray for their return."

The famous Abbey escaped the destruction which fell upon many of its sister establishments; but it shared the general fate when Henry VIII., of blessed memory, suppressed the monasteries, confiscated their lands, and swept their revenues into his Treasury. The value of the Church property thus absorbed has been estimated at £38,000,000 of modern money. The Act of Suppression, by which this measure of reform was carried out, put an end for the time being to all Church endowments, whether by the State or by private persons. In the same Parliament another Act was passed by which it was declared that all the endowments of the Church had been given to it by the Kings of England and the nobles of the realm, with all other honours and possessions. This Act was followed by another in the following year, by which the right of nomination to vacant Sees was secured to the Crown, as it exists at the present day. We have seen that, even in the days of the Papal supremacy, "on the death of an abbot the clergy could only proceed to an election after receiving a congé d'élire from the Crown." Exactly the same rule prevails now. On a vacancy occurring in a bishopric, the Crown sends a congé d'élire to the dean and chapter authorising them to proceed to the election of a bishop, and with it a letter containing the name of the person to be elected. After his election, the new bishop "must sue to the King for his temporalities," just as knights and barons in the feudal days did homage for their lands, the ceremony being designed in either case as a formal recognition of the rights of the Crown. As a matter of constitutional law, it is beyond a doubt that the Church holds all its lands and revenues, other than private donations, by gift from the Crown. For the purpose of this argument, it is of course to be understood that the Crown represents the State and that the two cannot be dissociated. The text-books tell us that the Crown has "the custody of the temporalities of bishops, by which are meant all the lay revenues, lands, and tenements which belong to an archbishop's or bishop's See. And these, upon the vacancy of the bishopric, are immediately the right of the Sovereign, as a consequence of his prerogative in Church matters, whereby he is recognised as the founder of all archbishoprics and bishoprics, and to whom during the vacancy they revert. . . . However, the right of appointing to bishoprics is said to have been in the Crown of England (as well as other kingdoms in Europe) even in the Saxon times, because the rights of confirmation and investiture were in effect (though not in form) a right of complete donation." If the matter stood in the position contended for by our correspondent—that is, if the possessions and revenues of the Church were held by gift from private persons, and not from the Crown—what is the meaning of all the rites and ceremonies attending the election of a bishop? They can have no other meaning than that of a formal recognition of the Crown's right to the temporalities, as well as of the Crown's supremacy; and the necessary inference is that the Church holds its endowments by direct grant from the State.

We commented yesterday upon certain changes of Administration which had been made by Mr. SUTHERLAND since his acceptance of office as Minister for Works. Probably the most important of them is to be found in his action in the matter of constructing a number of new railway locomotives. The papers relating to this were laid upon the table of the House on Wednesday, and an abstract of them was published in the Herald of Thursday morning. It appears that early in the year 1886 it was seen that the extension of the railways would shortly create a necessity for additional engines to work them. In May of that year Mr. SCOTT, the locomotive engineer recommended that tenders should be called for 28 goods engines and 16 passenger engines, and he specified the particular types for each. For the passenger engines he recommended a class which had been approved some time before, and some of which were being constructed under contract by the Vulcan Foundry in England. For the goods engines he recommended the "Mogul" class, a type of locomotive already in use upon the railways. The result was that tenders were called for, and, as telegrams have lately informed us, tenders have been sent in by manufacturing firms in England, on the continent of Europe, and in the United States. But before these tenders had been received the change of Ministry occurred here, and one of the first things done by the new MINISTER FOR WORKS is to throw the whole thing overboard. Now, although in calling for tenders, the Government did not legally bind itself to accept any of them, the issue of the invitation was naturally regarded abroad as a bona-fide transaction. An estimated sum of £117,000 was at stake in the business, and the invitation came from the Government of a large and wealthy colony. There was therefore a presumption against regarding the matter as a clumsy joke or a mere experiment. It might have been either, so far as the tenderers were concerned, for they have had their trouble for nothing. Through the change of Ministry the undertaking has been abandoned. No doubt in these comparatively slack times manufacturers all the world over are eager to get orders, and are prepared to take some trouble for the purpose; but, notwithstanding that, it may be fairly assumed that the colony will neither gain in credit nor improve its claims to the best attention and the best service by conducting its business in this fast and loose fashion.

It is possible that Mr. SUTHERLAND had some advice before acting in this matter, and what appeared to him satisfactory reasons for his action. We are not aware that he is an engineer himself, or a practical judge on the technical question of the comparative merits of different classes of locomotives, but he seems to have been prepared at once to condemn the types recommended by the locomotive engineer and his specifications. In the first few lines of his minute he appears to have been somewhat inaccurate, for his first objection to the specifications is that "they provide for a different type of engines to any we have now running," whereas the "Mogul" class to which the 28 goods engines were to belong has been, and is, in actual use upon the railways. But the point to be noticed is that, whether with advice or without it, the MINISTER summarily pronounces judgment against the conclusions at which his responsible adviser, the Locomotive Engineer had arrived, and having set aside Mr. SCOTT and his engines, goes outside that branch of the Department to obtain a report as to the best class of engines from another officer.

The officer to whom he applies is Mr. MIDELTON, who was formerly Locomotive Overseer or Superintendent under Mr. SCOTT, in the railway branch, and was Acting Locomotive Engineer during Mr. SCOTT'S absence in England. It will also be remembered that this gentleman was one of the witnesses who gave evidence against the dump cars before the Parliamentary committee. Mr. SUTHERLAND assigns as one of his reasons for his reference to Mr. MIDELTON that he had already designed ten locomotives which after two years' service had proved to be the most economical in working. Mr. MIDELTON, in his report, writes without hesitation or qualification. He is "at a loss to understand" why Mr. SCOTT should have recommended the proposed class of passenger engines, and he says it would be a serious mistake to construct the Moguls. He recommends for the passenger engines what is known as class 304; and for the goods traffic, engines of the consolidated type. The result is that of 50 new locomotives to be constructed twenty-five are to be of Mr. MIDELTON'S design, and twenty-five of a design preferred by him to that which Mr. SCOTT had recommended, and if an eligible tender should be received for their construction in the colony Mr. MIDELTON is to have the superintendence.

Now, without pretending on the basis of the imperfect information before us to say whether Mr. SCOTT is right and Mr. MIDELTON wrong, or vice versa, it is easy to perceive that there is something wrong in the management of affairs in the Railway Department. Mr. SUTHERLAND may have good reasons for preferring the advice of Mr. MIDELTON to that of Mr. SCOTT in this matter; we have no doubt that he believes he has; and, if it be so, it will hardly be denied that, considering the large importance of the case, he is justified in doing what he considers best for the public interest. But there are two questions to be considered. The one,—What are the best types of locomotives for passenger traffic and goods traffic respectively? The other,—What is the best method for enforcing responsibility, securing subordination, and promoting the satisfactory conduct of business in a great public department? We venture to say that such a mode of operation as Mr. SUTHERLAND has adopted would seldom, if ever, be resorted to in any large private establishment. Mr. MIDELTON was removed some time ago from his post in connection with the Railway Locomotive Branch, to that of Superintendent of Tramway Rolling Stock. If that change had not been made it would have been an irregular proceeding for the MINISTER to ignore the professional head of the branch, and hand over his particular work to a subordinate officer. But the irregularity is greater when he goes outside the branch for the purpose. A few years ago we saw a Ministry throw up office rather than discredit an opinion upon a law point given by its Attorney-General. What would be said of a Ministry if, with a formal opinion by the Attorney-General before it, the contrary advice of one of the Crown Prosecutors were sought, and acted upon? In any large establishment, divided into separate branches, it would be found subversive of discipline, and destructive to confidence and responsibility if an officer in one branch were called to do the work and to pass judgment upon the action of the head of another, and the latter were still expected to discharge efficiently and with self respect the duties of his position. In view of these transactions, it is plain that there is something wrong somewhere. Either the business of the department has been mismanaged in the past, or it has been well managed. In the latter case the proceedings now referred to lack justification. In the former case it is hard to see how they can be justified unless they are taken further. To attempt to carry on business without taking some further measures to define responsibility, and enforce it in a systematic way, would only tend to increase the confusion that already prevails.

By an overwhelming majority the Assembly resolved last night that provision should be made for the issue of free passes for children travelling by railway to any primary school, private or otherwise, provided that such school shall be the one nearest the residence of the parents or guardians of such child. The resolution which Mr. O'CONNOR has been trying to get through the House for a long time past was to the effect that a free pass should be issued to any child travelling to and from any school, in the same manner as it is now issued to children attending Public schools. To Mr. O'CONNOR'S motion the MINISTER OF EDUCATION proposed an amendment to the effect that the free passes should be issued to children attending any school, provided the school is the one nearest the residence of the child. The amendment of the MINISTER OF EDUCATION has been accepted by the House. As the matter stands, therefore, the wish of the House is that free passes shall be issued to children attending any school that may be the nearest to their residences. Clearly, a very large section of the Assembly regarded this as a happy settlement of the question. But while disclaiming the slightest intention of offering any obstacle in the way of the removal of what is felt to be a considerable difficulty, we may submit that the legal obstacle is not settled quite so easily as the Government appeared to assume. The question is not whether the issuing of free passes on the railways to children of all classes is a desirable thing or not. Granted that it is for the good of the colony that such a concession should be made, the question is—Can it be made in accordance with the 14th section of the Education Act? When the question was discussed three weeks ago the PREMIER, as well as the ATTORNEY-GENERAL, assumed that it could not. Now the PREMIER says that the amendment of the MINISTER OF EDUCATION brings the resolution within the provisions of the Act. The amendment, he contended, was in the precise words of the Act of Parliament. That, however, is hardly the case. The amendment, as we have said, is to the effect that the passes shall be given to children attending any primary school private or otherwise, provided that such school shall be the one nearest the residence of the parents, &c. The 14th section of the Act is as follows:—"It shall be lawful for any station-master on the Government railways to issue a free pass to any child to travel in a suitable railway carriage or van to and from any school established or declared to be certified under this Act. Provided that such school, if a Public school, shall be the one nearest the residence of the parents or guardians of such child." It will be seen that what the Act intended, and what it really provides for, is that free passes shall be given to children travelling to schools existing under the Act; and there can hardly be a question that what the proviso was intended to mean was, not that passes should be given to children travelling to the nearest school, but that they should be confined to children travelling to the nearest school under the Act. That, it may be submitted, is the meaning of the section, and if it is, it is needless to say that the section cannot be overridden by a mere resolution of the Assembly. If it is a proper thing to do what the Assembly has decided, then the natural course is to so far amend the Act of 1880. That is what the PREMIER contended some weeks ago, and clearly it is what is necessary still.

The Economist continues to exhibit a keen interest in the financial affairs of the colonies. Its references to the mortgage indebtedness of New South Wales, undoubtedly illustrate a rather unhealthy feature, from the effects of which the colony is now suffering. For the very remarkable increase of mortgages on land in 1885, amounting in the aggregate to £5,739,688, there were several causes, at least one of which our English contemporary ignores. An increase of over £700,000 on the amount lent on suburban lands is no doubt due to the "feverish speculation in land round about Sydney." But the increase from £3,128,728 in 1884 to £7,990,085 in 1885 in mortgages on country lands was not wholly due to the severe drought. That, no doubt, increased the total. But one very important cause was that squatters and others bought land beyond their purchasing-power, so as to secure themselves from the encroachments of "black mailers" of every description. The banks and other institutions had to advance money temporarily until more prosperous seasons enabled the squatters to pay off their debts. Although it would be damaging to our credit to allow it to go forth that the colony had lost so much by drought as is represented by the increase in mortgages, the statement with which we now supplement the Economist's version is not altogether satisfactory. No one can doubt that the squatters have overbought themselves, and that it would have been better had they the money which the Government have spent, and that the Government owned the land which has been mortgaged. The mortgages cover several millions of acres of purchased land, and were not obtained simply on account of squatters' losses; and there is therefore so much comfort to be derived by English capitalists, who have mostly provided the money required. Still further the Economist is quite incorrect in stating that recent loans had been contracted not merely to construct necessary or desirable public works, but also with a view of affording labour to the unemployed, and so relieving much of the depression that would have otherwise existed. The loans raised were authorised long before there was any depression; and, so far, no loan has been raised with any reference to the relief of the unemployed, although it is true that within a few months past the effect of the expenditure of the proceeds of the last loan incidentally mitigated the effects of the depression. Even the best of the English financial journals has not a thorough grasp of the colonial position in its various aspects. We believe, however, the Economist is correct in its conclusions "that the natural resources of the colony are so great that in a year or so of prosperity old losses will no doubt be largely recouped," and we would add, the land paid for which has been bought.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

With regard to the terrible loss of life and destruction of shipping, which was reported yesterday from Western Australia, the following telegram received by the Sydney Pearl Shelling Company from Cossack, Western Australia, was posted in the Exchange yesterday:—"Heavy hurricane; schooner and all hands safe; leaking, pumps worn out, windlass badly strained; lost anchor and 75 fathoms cable, bulwarks, water-cask, deck gear. Vision, safe; Rover, lost, one of the crew swam 48 hours, and was saved; Dairymaid, Venture, Lord Loftus, missing; other boats not in yet. The fleet is scattered; 35 boats and 6 schooners are missing. The John S. Lane was dismasted; send anchor, 80 fathoms chain, schooner; 12 anchors and 240 fathoms ¾-inch chain. Does insurance cover damage? (Signed) S. LARKHAM, Legrange Bay, April 27, 1887." The loss of life is believed to be much smaller than at first reported, and it is probable that the fleet has not suffered so greatly as the first telegrams indicated. The pearl shelling industry is one that has largely depended upon this port, as here most of the craft employed in it have been built, and the capital by which it was carried on was supplied principally, it is said, by local firms. Among those who have an interest in it are Messrs. Potts and Paul; Scott, Henderson, and Co.; Clark and Smith, Waltham, Findlay and Baynes, S. G. Green, Brown, and others.

YESTERDAY afternoon the English mails, ex the R.M.S. Lusitania were delivered from the Sydney Post Office. The latest London date is March 25.

SIR HENRY LOCH, the Governor of Victoria, who is now the guest of Lord and Lady Carrington at Government House, had an interview yesterday forenoon, with Sir Henry Parkes, at the office of the Colonial Secretary. Nothing of a political nature was, however, discussed. In the afternoon Sir Henry and Lady Loch made a trip down the harbour in Lord Carrington's steam launch, and were received at Manly by the right hon. W. B. Dalley. During the day they also paid an unofficial visit to Admiral Fairfax on board the Nelson. They intend leaving Sydney by the Q. S. S. Company's steamer Barcoo, on Tuesday afternoon next, for Brisbane.

YESTERDAY'S sitting of the Legislative Assembly was a long one, and a good deal of business was transacted. Several formal motions having been disposed of, the additional Judge Bill was read the third time, and forwarded to the Legislative Council. The House then dealt with the question of railway free passes to school children, which is referred to elsewhere. The expediency of introducing a bill to regulate the sale and delivery of fuel and a bill for the licensing and regulation of brokers was affirmed, and Crisp's Enabling Bill was passed through committee. The House then proceeded to consider Mr. O'Connor's Bill to Amend the Sydney Corporation Act, and it was read the second time, and passed through committee with some amendments, the principal of which was the rejection of the clause proposing that the Mayor should be elected by the citizens. Several other matters which were on the business paper were brought under consideration, and it was after 11 o'clock when the House adjourned.

THE Legislative Assembly decided yesterday that provision "should be made for the issue of a free pass to any child, to travel in a suitable railway carriage or van, to and from any primary school, private or otherwise, provided that such school shall be the nearest to the residence of the parents or guardians of such child." This was agreed to as an amendment upon the motion which Mr. O'Connor had, on a previous day, moved with the object of having a free railway pass granted to "any child to travel to and from any school, in the same manner as it is now issued to a child attending a public school." Mr. Vaughn's amendment proposing that all children should pay a small fee for the use of the railways when travelling to and from school was withdrawn, and the amendment subsequently adopted was moved by the Minister of Public Instruction. Sir Henry Parkes, in explaining, the position which the Government had resolved to take up in the matter, said that what they asked the House to assent to was precisely what they might have asked it to assent to if there had been no Public school system in the country, and the amendment was framed precisely in the language of the law. The object was to offer to all children, be they whom they may, in the interests of education itself, the same privilege which was enjoyed by the children attending the State schools, and as if the State schools did not exist. The difference between the resolution and the amendment, he pointed out, was that whereas the former asked for a free pass to enable a child to travel "to and from any school," the latter restricted the pass to travelling to the school "nearest to the residence of the parents or guardians" of the child. The Government did not escape the charge of having turned round on this question, but the resolution amended as proposed was passed in division by 54 votes to 9. From a statement made by Mr. O'Connor, it would appear that if the amendment had not been submitted by the Government the original resolution would have been carried, for the member for West Sydney said he had sent out 75 circulars to members on the subject, and out of that number he had received only two refusals to support the motion.

THERE was laid upon the table of the Legislative Assembly yesterday by Mr. Inglis information respecting the Public school buildings in the colony designed by and erected under the supervision of private architects. The return was submitted to Parliament in accordance with a promise recently made by the Minister to Mr. Dowel, M.L.A. The names of the schools were given, the accommodation provided stated, the cost named, and the names of the architects, with the amounts paid to them, were also included. The following information relating to schools in and around the city of Sydney appears:—School at Balmain West, to accommodate 280 children; cost, £3295; architect, Mr. J. H. Hant, who received £165. School at Blackfriars, to accommodate 1850 children; cost, £27,816; architects, Messrs. Mansfield Bros., who received £1422. School at Darlinghurst, to accommodate 1040 children; cost, £15,000; architect, Mr. C. E. Mayes, who received £750. School at Double Bay, to accommodate 300 children; cost, £3920; architect, Mr. C. E. Mayes, who received £196. School at Forest Lodge, to accommodate 430 children; cost, £4071; architect, Mr. C. E. Mayes, who received £203. School at Glenmore-road, to accommodate 432 children; cost, £4515; architects, Messrs. Blackman and Parkes, who received £225. School at Hurstville, to accommodate 108 children; cost, £1085; architect, Mr. C. Backhouse, who received £84. School at Macdonaldtown, to accommodate 720 children; cost, £7010; architects, Messrs. Blackman and Parkes, who received £350. School at Rookwood, to accommodate 95 children, cost £1862, architect Mr. B. Backhouse, who received £98. School at Stanmore, to accommodate 550 children, cost £5800, architects Messrs. Blackman and Parkes, who received £265. School at Woollahra, to accommodate 340 children, cost £3498, architect Mr. B. Backhouse, who received £170. We are informed that the difference between the cost of schools designed and erected under the supervision of the officers of the department, and that of the erection of schools designed and supervised by private architects is very marked. The department have reduced the cost to £5 8s. per head of the children accommodated in a school, whereas the cost under the system of placing the erection of schools under private architects has been as high as from £14 to £18 per head.

LAST night Mr. Burns laid upon the table of the Legislative Assembly a return relative to bills of quantities for railway works, Existing Lines Branch. It states that the order to supply bills of quantities of works to contractors was first given to the department on August 2, 1883, by the then Secretary for Public Works, Mr. F. A. Wright. A long array of figures is given showing the amounts of the contracts, the number of bills of quantities sold, the number prepared, and the cost of preparing them. The total amount received for bills of quantities by the Government since the introduction of the principle, is £450 12s. This included the proceeds of sale of specifications, a copy of which was sold to contractors with each set, the set consisting of one copy of specification with form of tender and schedule of quantities attached and one separate form of tender and schedule of quantities. The total cost of preparing all the bills of quantities was £327 8s. 8d. This sum represents the cost of printing and stationery only. No extra cost was included in computing quantities, which have to be taken out in any case, in order to estimate the cost of the work and for office use.

THE proposed tramway in William-street came before the Assembly last night, a motion being moved by Mr. W. J. Lyne to refer the bill relating to the tramway to a select committee. Sir Henry Parkes, who opposed the motion, expressed himself as very desirous that the experiment intended to be carried out under the bill should be made, but refused to consent to any tramway, apart from the Government tramways, being laid down in the city. He was quite willing that the experiment should be made in the suburbs, and if made outside the city he would, he promised, give all the assistance in his power to have the system by which the traffic under the proposed method would be carried out thoroughly tested. Mr. Lyne accepted the suggestion of the Premier, and the motion was withdrawn. Before that was done, however, Sir Henry Parkes intimated that the Government had under consideration a thorough change in relation to the present tram traffic. The question of changing the mode of conveying passengers by tram, he said, was now being considered, and the Government might arrive at the conclusion that the best way would be to terminate the existence of our present system of tramway communication.

IN another portion of the paper will be found a report of the deputations that waited upon the Minister for Public Works yesterday. It will be seen that two of the deputations, viz., one in reference to the depression in the iron trades, and one with regard to the construction of two separate lines of railway in the northern districts, are of an important character, and worthy of special attention.

THE Colonial Secretary received three deputations yesterday morning. The first, and most important, consisted of the Directors of the Benevolent Asylum, who requested that the Government subsidy to the institution should be increased to £2500, to enable them to meet the expense of relieving the large number of cases of distress at present existing. Sir Henry Parkes expressed distress at the alarming increase of suffering in the colony, and stated that he thought the application demanded the serious attention of the Government. The other deputations were from the Agricultural Society and the committee of the City Night Refuge and Soup Kitchen, both requesting pecuniary assistance from the Government.

THE brewers of Sydney have decided to resist to the utmost of their power the imposition of the excise duty on beer. They have taken the opinion of more than one learned counsel, who have advised that the duty cannot be legally collected until it has been approved by Parliament. It is laid down in "Todd's Parliamentary Practice" that, pending the ultimate decision of Parliament on a bill for the imposition or alteration of taxes, it is customary for the executive Government, upon their own responsibility, to give immediate effect to resolutions altering the existing rates of duty, or imposing new duties as soon as they have been reported through committee and agreed to by the House. With regard to the impossibility of dispensing with existing law, it is laid down that Parliament may declare the expediency of an alteration of the law in a given direction, but can only give effect to its opinions by the regular approved method of Parliamentary practice, by the introduction and passing of a bill which has to be assented to by the other branch of the Legislature; but no mere resolution of either House, nor joint resolution of the two Houses, will suffice to dispense with the requirements of an Act of Parliament. It is contended, therefore, by the brewers that on the face of this authority the Government have no power to collect taxes until a resolution of Parliament gave them the right. It has been announced in Parliament that it is the intention of the Government to collect the beer duty from the 1st May. The brewers, we understand, will have force ready to resist the officer who goes to the breweries to collect the duty, but the violence will be carried no further than is necessary to give a legal position to contest the matter in a court of law. If the officer should be assisted by a body of police, as is not improbable, the matter will possibly be carried no further than a mere protest. The Colonial Treasurer has, we believe, given instructions to the officers of the Customs Department as to the course they are to adopt in the event of their being menaced in the discharge of their duty.

THE proposal that the unemployed should be heard by a representative at the Bar of the Legislative Assembly was negatived in the Assembly last night. The Premier, in opposing the proposal, argued that if it were agreed to, it would result in no good purpose, and would be a very dangerous precedent against the proper conduct of Parliamentary business. Referring to the condition of the unemployed, he said the Government were endeavouring to open up some public works, which otherwise would not have been dealt with for some time, for the purpose of providing the men with legitimate employment. In the meantime instructions had been given to assist any case which might border upon absolute starvation, or where extreme suffering to women or young children occurred. Temporary employment to the fullest extent of the power of the Government had hitherto been found, and if the matter were left in the hands of the Government, he had reason to believe that in a little time the greater part of the unemployed would be drafted off into channels where they might in a proper manner earn subsistence for themselves. All had been done that under the difficult circumstances of the case could be done.

REAR-ADMIRAL FAIRFAX, C.B., accompanied by Mrs. Fairfax, Miss Dundas, Captain Lake, R.N., and Flag-Lieutenant Erskine, paid a visit yesterday afternoon to the Goodenough Royal Naval Home in Prince-street. Captain Deane Mr. Shearston (seamen's missionary) and Mr. Lake (the manager of the Home) showed the party over the entire building, including the reading room, the smoking room, the dormitories, the dining-room, billiard-room, and kitchen. The Admiral expressed his pleasure at finding everything so scrupulously clean, but agreed with Captain Deane that the space at disposal was far too circumscribed, and the building altogether too small for the requirements of an important port like Sydney. In small rooms, whose dimensions could not be more than 15 x 12 feet, six and seven beds are placed. Beds are also seen in one of the halls; and the manager frequently finds it necessary, to meet the demands, to have beds in the billiard-room, and even in the dining-room. The committee of the institution are in want of a suitable piece of ground for the erection of a proper naval home, and efforts are now being made to secure a site on Church-hill belonging to the Government. Trafalgar House, the residence of Mr. Shearston, where several rooms are also set apart for the use of blue jackets and marines, was also visited by the Admiral and his party. Mr. Shearston states that both places are severely taxed to meet the increasing demands, and that they have a record of about 9000 sleepers for the past nine months.

YESTERDAY the Mayor of Sydney (Alderman A. J. Riley, M.L.A.), and the Mayoress paid a visit to the Church Home in Crown-street, where they were received by the Rev. T. B. Tress, representing the committee of management, Miss Edwards, secretary, and Miss Poole, the matron of the institution. The visitors were conducted over the establishment, in which at present there are some 29 inmates, who were engaged principally at laundry or needle work. These are the chief occupations carried on in the establishment; and by these means the home is nearly self-supporting. Since the opening of this institution, about 12 months ago, by the Hon. Lady Carrington, over 60 women have been admitted, and in many cases reclaimed, and situations found for them. Before leaving, the Mayor expressed his own and the Mayoress's satisfaction at the good order and cleanliness which were manifested throughout the establishment.

SOME information was given to the Earl of Aberdeen on Thursday respecting the Vernon, which seemed much to impress him. The sanitary condition of the ship he considered unsurpassed, perhaps not equalled, by any institution of the kind. That only two deaths had occurred on board in 11 years amongst the large number of lads, and that at present a clean bill of health was presented in a ship's company, boys and men, of close upon 250, seemed to him a remarkable thing. He also noticed the high average of boys who were reformed under the system. Many hundreds of letters are aboard written by masters of Vernon apprentices, and these tend to confirm the statement that fully 90 per cent. of the Vernon lads are reformed. One gratifying feature in connection with the apprenticing of boys is the strong desire manifested by many people who have had Vernon apprentices to have more of them. During the present week formal approval has been given to apprentice six lads to as many masters, all of whom have had boys from the ship before. Mr. M'Elhone, M.L.A., has written to the commander this week as follows:—"From my experience of Vernon boys, and I have come across a great many in my time, they turn out well if well treated. W. S. has been with me many years, and I could trust him with untold wealth. His brother, who served his time at Albury, is just as honest; he is now earning £2 2s. weekly. I have obtained several boys for friends, and they all turned out well. You will get bad boys everywhere, in all classes of society. The Vernon boys, as a rule, come from parents who neglect their duty; and, considering the training they had before going on the Vernon it is a wonder the poor lads turn out so well." Mr. J. Swan, J.P., who is now applying for another lad, has had six during the the last 16 years, and says they have all turned out well, five particularly so. Mr. Cobb, J.P., has had five in some 15 years, and speaks in the same strain. Mr. H. H. Brown, M.L.A., gives similar testimony, and numbers of other persons express themselves to the same effect. It is erroneously supposed that old and young are all mixed up together on board. This is not so. Boys 11 and under are transferred to the State Children's Relief Department, unless the commander considers that their moral state would not justify such a course. During the 12 months just ended some 60 boys have been so removed within a short time—sometimes a day—of their arrival. Lord Aberdeen made a most gratifying entry in the ship's visiting-book, which already contains many recent laudatory expressions of approval from his Excellency Lord Carrington and his Excellency Sir H. Loch, Lord Sandhurst, and other distinguished visitors.

THE Colonial Secretary of Fiji, the Hon. J. B. Thurston, in a letter to the Colonial Treasurer, has expressed to the Government of New South Wales his high appreciation of their action in reference to the outbreak of smallpox on board the steamer Preussen. Mr. Thurston in his letter states that he fears that the establishment of a German line of steamers to Tonga and Samoa would expose the inhabitants of these islands to a new and grave danger.

THE following holidays were proclaimed in the Government Gazette yesterday:—In the district of Bourke, May 4; Howlong, May 5; and Manning River, June 2.

MAILS for places on the Wallerawang and Mudgee Railway line, and in the Mudgee District towards Gulgong, Mundoonon, Cobbora, Coolah, &c., for some time past closed at 8 a.m., will, on and from Monday next, close at 6.30 p.m.

THE weather, after being wet and stormy for several days past, appears to have set in fine. Yesterday was beautifully bright and clear, with a fresh breeze from S.W., and there was every prospect of it continuing so. Generally fine, clear, cool weather was reported from the country districts yesterday morning.

THERE important cases came before his Honor the Chief Justice in Chambers yesterday morning. In Browne v. Buttle, an appeal from three Justices of the Peace at West Maitland, his Honor decided that the magistrates were wrong in holding they had no jurisdiction in the case, which was one of damages for malicious injury by breaking down fences, but inasmuch as an opinion had been expressed that they were of opinion that the defendant acted under a right, he amended the decision by dismissing the case. In Wells v. Delaney, after deciding that he had jurisdiction, the case being one of £200 damages for slander, his Honor, in accordance with the application of the plaintiff, a police sergeant at Glen Innes, remitted the case to the District Court there. The remaining case worthy of mention was that of Rodericks v. Jones. Jane Rodericks had been employed as cook by Jones, a publican at Hay. She sued him before the police magistrate, Mr. J. E. Pearce, for £6 for wages, and his defence was a set off for money due for drink supplied. The magistrate held the defence to be good and dismissed the case. But the Chief Justice now designated the defence as a scandalous one, and expressing an opinion that the servant could not be held to be a lodger, and so liable for the amount, remitted the case back to the police magistrate for his reconsideration.

THE District Court Judges have had under consideration the desirableness of increasing the jurisdiction of the District Court with a view to relieving the pressure of work experienced by the Supreme Court, and have submitted to the Minister for Justice certain proposals which will, it is thought, accomplish this object. It is recommended that in the first place the jurisdiction of the Small Debts Court should be enlarged, so that cases of a minor character at present tried by the District Court could be dealt with by the inferior Court, and in the next place that the jurisdiction of the District Court be enlarged from £200 to £500. It is also desired that the powers of the District Court should be extended so that the mere fact of a title to land, or validity of a devise under a will, or probates and letters of administration being involved in a cause, will not operate as a bar to trial by the District Court. Mr. Clarke has now under consideration the proposals of the Judges, and intends to ask the Cabinet to bestow attention upon the whole subject.

BETWEEN the hours of 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. to-day the drawing for the prizes in the art union in aid of St. Augustine's Church, Neutral Bay, will take place in the Town Hall. Those who have not already obtained tickets will be able to get them at the Hall during the hours named from any of the ladies interested in the work. The Hall has been most kindly lent for the occasion by the Mayor.

THE monthly meeting of the Linnæan Society of New South Wales was held in the Linnæan Hall, Elizabeth Bay, on Wednesday evening. The president, Professor W. J. Stephens, M.A., F.G.S., who was in the chair, announced that the next excursion had been arranged for Saturday, 14th proximo; members to meet at the railway station, to proceed by the 8.15 a.m. train to Brooklyn, Hawkesbury River railway terminus. A long list of donations to the society, in the shape of scientific works and periodicals and papers from other similar societies, was read. Amongst the papers read were "Notes on the genera of Australian fresh water fishes," by F. P. Ramsay, F.R.S.E., &c., and J. Douglas-Ogilby; and "Flowering Seasons of Australian Plants, No. 5," by E. Haviland, F.L.S. In this paper the author enumerates 71 species of plants indigenous in the neighbourhood of Sydney in flower during the month of November. These are in addition to those enumerated in former lists, of which so many were still in flower as would make a total for the month of about 150 species. Dr. Ramsay exhibited living specimens of the following snakes from Louth, N. S. W.:—Aspidiotes Ramsayi, Macl.; Dendrophis, sp. (a beautiful snake with scarlet markings on the back); and a possibly new species of Hoplocephalus. Mr. Steel exhibited a number of specimens of pond snail, and Mr. Haviland a sample of maize from Camden completely destroyed by the micro-fungus Ustilago carbo. Mr. Brazier exhibited two specimens of Ceratella fusca, and Mr. Macleay specimens of snakes from Macleay, Mount Wilson. Dr. Katz exhibited virulent preparations of the bacillus of typhoid fever obtained at Little Bay Hospital, and pointed out that the microbe before them was the cause of typhoid fever, as constantly present in that disease, and never found in others. According to quite recent investigations with regard to the transmissibility of the bacillus of typhoid fever to animals—mice, rabbits, guinea-pigs, and dogs—there could be no doubt that this micro-organism was able to make the animals sick, and to kill them under certain circumstances. With relation to the biology of the bacillus, a good deal of work remained to be done, and a radical cure for the disease, or a possible protective inoculation being still a desideratum, special attention should be paid to the more practical part of the life history of the fungus, especially to its behaviour in the dejections from typhoid fever patients. Dr. Katz likewise exhibited the bacillus of leprosy under the microscope.

A MEETING of the residents, which had recently been convened by the Mayor of Five-dock, for the purpose of forming a committee to raise a local fund for the relief of the Bulli sufferers, lapsed for want of attendance of the public. Another opportunity will consequently be taken to bring the residents together in reference to the same subject.

AT a committee meeting of the Marrickville branch of the Bulli Relief Fund, held in the local Town Hall last night, there were present the Mayor of the borough (Mr. Joseph Graham), and Messrs. W. Elliott and H. W. Lee. It was ascertained that the amount of subscriptions, less expenses, will amount to nearly £55. The list will be closed by Monday, and the money handed over to the central committee.

THE new Wolseley sheep-shearing machine, some account of which has already appeared in our columns, has been exhibited during the week at Messrs. J. H. Geddes and Co.'s warehouse, Phillip-street, and has attracted an unusual amount of attention, not only from pastoralists from every part of the colonies, but from others interested in ingenious mechanical ideas. The machine has hitherto worked perfectly, and the rapid and clean manner in which the unresisting animals are stripped of their fleece has been universally admired.

ABOUT 150 stalwart and able-bodied men, a detachment, it appeared, of the Sydney unemployed, marshalled by a man named Robertson, besieged the Colonial Secretary's office yesterday afternoon. Two of their number sought an interview with Sir Henry Parkes; but, although their request was not acceded to, the requirements of the men were placed before the Premier by the Principal Under-Secretary. The men stated that they sought no rations from the Government; but earnestly desired to obtain work. They were informed that the Government could do nothing for them then; but, if a list of strong and willing workmen were submitted by Monday, the question of finding employment for them would be considered.

YESTERDAY afternoon a number of the employees of Messrs. Briscoe, Drysdale, and Co. assembled at the Royal Hotel for the purpose of presenting a testimonial to Mr. John Lidgie, manager of the retail department, on the occasion of his leaving the service of the firm. Mr. Webber, who occupied the chair, on behalf of his fellow employees presented to Mr. Lidgie a handsome spirit-stand, as a mark of their respect and esteem. Mr. Lidgie replied in appropriate language, expressing his appreciation of the honour done him, and his good wishes on behalf of those with whom he had been so long and so intimately associated.

ON Thursday evening, the 28th instant, the Hunter-Baillie Memorial School Hall, North Annandale, was filled to its utmost capacity by young people with their parents and other friends, the occasion being a magic lantern entertainment kindly given, on behalf of the Sunday school, by Mr. Percy Hordern. Magnificent limelight views of the leading cities and country districts of Ireland, as also views of Sydney and several of the pastoral districts of New South Wales were exhibited, all of which were highly appreciated, as also were the comic illustrations, which seemed to afford much merriment to the youngsters. At the close of the entertainment, on the motion of the Rev. P. Falconer Mackenzie, a cordial vote of thanks was passed to Mr. Hordern for this and his other gratuitous services to the church and school.

A PLEASING ceremony was performed at the Central Police Station last evening by Inspector Anderson, who, on behalf of the officers, non-commissioned officers, and constables of the station, presented to Sub-inspector Kerr an illuminated address to mark the event of his retirement from the service, and to testify to the esteem with which he was regarded. Among those who were present were Sub-inspectors Lanthall and Bremner, and several other senior officers. The address was numerously signed. Mr. Kerr came to the colony in 1855, having, then been selected for employment here from the police force at Liverpool, England. On arriving here he was attached to the Metropolitan police, and his duties have kept him in the city during his full term of service. He was selected to take charge of the Royal Mint when the post became vacant by the promotion of Sub-inspector Atwell, and he has held the position to the present time. During 32 years' service he has earned and retained the highest respect of his officers, and during the whole period has not received a reprimand. He was always particularly kind to his subordinates, and was ever ready to furnish them with the information gained in his own experience.

OUR London correspondent, writing on March 25, furnishes the following particulars of the City of Sydney Loan, which was recently placed on the London market:—"The City of Sydney 4 per cent. Debenture Loan of £330,000 was successfully floated on Wednesday by the Union Bank of Australia, and the tenders showed that, in spite of the somewhat diminished estimation in which colonial loans have been held lately, there has been no falling-off in the credit of your colony. The amount tendered for was £528,100, at prices varying from the minimum of £100 to £105 5s. There were two tenders of £150,000 and £114,000, at £101 5s. 6d.; one tender for £50,000, at £101 8s.; two for £25,000, each at £100 6s. 6d. and £100 7s. 6d.; and eight for £10,000, each at £100 7s. 6d. to £101 6s. 6d. The average was £101 5s. 11d. Tenders at £101 8s. will receive 88 per cent. of the amount applied for, and above that figure in full."

REFERRING to Mr. John Norton's visit to England, our London correspondent, writing on March 25, remarks:—"Mr. John Norton, the New South Wales labour delegate, has at length quitted our shores and returned to the Southern Hemisphere in the North German Lloyd steamer Neckar. Before leaving he expressed himself satisfied with the treatment he had received in England, and with the attention shown him by the representatives of the Australian journals. One unlucky correspondent of an Australian newspaper, however, seems to have offended him, and Mr. Norton breathes revenge against this hapless individual. One of Mr. Norton's last acts, before bidding adieu to the mother country, was to write a stinging epistle to the committee of the Emigrants' Information Office, calling their attention to the fact that the incorrect circulars issued by them in October last with regard to the labour market of New South Wales and other of the Australian colonies are still being exhibited in the various post-offices and other public buildings in this country. As the proved inaccuracies of those circulars have rendered necessary the issue of new and revised ones, Mr. Norton considered that the whole of these 'flagrantly incorrect circulars' should have been withdrawn. The fact that this has not been done is, he says, both a gross abuse of public confidence and a further instance of the scandalous mismanagement of that department. Mr. Norton warns the Emigration Bureau that steps are about to be taken in Australia to have the whole of the colonies there removed from the scope of its operations. He concludes his letter with this stinging sarcasm:—'That a Government office so well calculated, if properly managed, to contribute to the public good, should by incompetence and mismanagement be converted into an instrument for evil, is intolerable, at least to the Australian portion of her Majesty's subjects.'"

MR. G. W. PHILLIPS, senior honorary surgeon to Parramatta District Hospital, has written to us as follows:—"In this morning's issue of your paper I read that Mr. Melville made a statement in the House (on the authority of our local member) that a young girl suffering from typhoid fever had been refused admission into our hospital by the doctors, and that afterwards she was only received as a patient when Mr. Hugh Taylor 'insisted' on her admission. In reply, permit me to contradict the whole statement, and give the true facts of the case: On my return home last evening (April 27th), I was informed by Dr. M'Donagh, my locum tenens, that a child, five years of age, had been brought to the hospital a short time previously from Prospect, suffering from fever; but, in consequence of the bylaw respecting age, a difficulty as to admission had arisen. A few moments after the Sub-inspector of Police called at my house on the same business. I then told him that I would waive the rule, and that the child would be admitted. Later, it was reported to me that the patient was suffering from whooping-cough, in addition to the fever. I therefore ordered that she should be removed to a separate ward, and that her friends should be communicated with, so that she might be taken home, in consequence of another rule forbidding the admission of contagious or infectious cases. This morning I found the child in the separate ward, attended by a special nurse engaged by the Rev. Archdeacon Günther (as the poor little thing had really no home to be sent to) where she is receiving every attention. Allow me to say that Mr. Taylor's name was never mentioned to me in the matter."

"A BENIGHTED Traveller" draws attention to the discrepancy in the advertised hours for the last boat leaving Manly, the Port Jackson S. S. Company advertising it as 10 p.m., but the Manly Aquarium concert programme naming the hour 10.15, "kindly delayed by the P. J. S. S. Co." The writer points out that this discrepancy is very misleading and caused extreme inconvenience to a party of visitors on Wednesday night last, who, relying on the later hour, found that they had missed the last boat, and had to remain at Manly all night. Not only so, but they had to pay boat fares the next day, the explanation given at the company's office being that they had nothing to do with the Aquarium arrangements. "A Benighted Traveller" thinks that this statement of mismanagement may prove of service to persons visiting the Aquarium.

"A FREQUENT SUFFERER," writing in reference to the fine of £40 which was recently imposed on a man for removing his furniture at night, whilst owing his landlord rent, says that this offence is a very frequent one. Some people get into arrears of rent by means of false pretexts, and then fly by night, leaving the house a wreck. A different name serves them at each house, and the writer is of opinion that numbers of persons live rent-free by this means. Ladies are an especial target for these dishonest characters. Such conduct should be severely punished, as a protection to the landlords, who ought to be allowed to advertise the names of the defaulters.

"CADENTES ADJUVA" suggests a new scheme for celebrating the jubilee year of her Majesty's reign. He points out that there are many persons who have passed various stages of a University curriculum, but who from many causes have been compelled to leave off short of a degree. As the University has been rendered an immensely wealthy one, he proposes that the senate, or governing body, grant permission to any matriculated student who has presented himself for any ordinary examination at the University, or any recognised by her, to present himself for examination, say in June or October, free, with exemption from lectures, for any or final examination for say, Arts or Law degrees. By this means many a soundly educated, but struggling married man would be enabled to compete with more advantageously placed rivals. No doubt many capable and eligible men would volunteer to assist in examining, thereby saving undue pressure on the present teaching body.

A SCENE of intense excitement was caused in Goulburn-street last evening by the arrest of a batch of 23 Chinamen in a small gaming-house in the locality. At about 9 o'clock Inspector M'Kay and Sub-inspector Lawless, with the assistance of a large staff of police, surrounded the premises, situated No. 50, Goulburn-street, and, armed with a warrant made out in the name of Ah Hing, the occupier of the dwelling, entered the place at a signal that had been decided upon, and detected some of the inmates in the act of playing fan-tan. In all 23 arrests were effected, and it is confidently believed that not a single individual escaped. Some English and Chinese money also was secured. The Mongolians were marched to No. 2 Police Station, and were locked up for the night. This morning they will be brought before a magistrate at the Central Police Court.

A SMALL weatherboard cottage, situated in Lackey-street, Summer Hill, and occupied by John White, a tailor, was on Thursday night nearly burned out, owing, it is supposed, to the careless disposal of a lighted match. The neighbours promptly attended upon the scene, and by their efforts the flames were extinguished. The premises were the property of Mr. D. B. Harrison, of Leichhardt. They were insured in the Mercantile Mutual Office for a small amount.

A LITTLE girl named Eugenie Venus, three and a half years old, fell from the balcony of her parents' residence, No. 67, Cumberland-street, yesterday morning. She was at once taken to the Sydney Hospital, where she was found to be suffering in a slight degree from concussion of the brain.

THE following is the order of service at St. Andrew's Cathedral on Sunday next:—Morning, at 11: Te Deum, Colborne, in C; Anthem, "What are these that are arrayed in white robes, and whence came they?" Stainer. Afternoon, at 3.15: Magnificat, Stainer, in E flat; Anthem, "Seek ye the Lord, while He may be found; call ye upon Him while He is near," Roberts; Litany, Tallis.

THE REBELLION IN AFGHANISTAN.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, APRIL 28.

It is stated, on what is believed to be good authority, that should the rebellion of the Ghilzais against the Ameer Abdurrahman, which has recently assumed such formidable dimensions, lead to the overthrow of the latter, it is probable that a friendly understanding will be come to between the British and Russian Governments for the suppression of any tribal wars, and for placing the country under a ruler who would enjoy the joint protection of the two Powers.

THE IMPERIAL CONFERENCE.

THE NEW GUINEA AND NEW HEBRIDES QUESTIONS.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

LONDON, APRIL 28.

At the sitting of the Imperial Conference to-day Sir Samuel Griffith, Premier of Queensland, submitted his proposals for a settlement of the question relating to the administration of New Guinea on the lines already laid down in his memorandum to the Colonial Office.

Sir Henry Holland, Secretary of State for the Colonies, announced that the British Government were prepared to proclaim British sovereignty in New Guinea on condition that the Government of Queensland would undertake to become responsible for a subsidy of £15,000 per annum for a period of 10 years. England would maintain a cruiser in New Guinea waters for three years.

Mr. Deakin pressed South Australia to contribute a share to the cost of the maintenance of administration in New Guinea; but Sir J. W. Downer declined to accede to the wishes of the Chief Secretary of Victoria, owing to the unsatisfactory and partial character of the annexation.

The delegates representing Tasmania and Western Australia agreed to contribute; but the New Zealand representative remained silent upon the question.

The question of the French occupation of the New Hebrides was again brought up for discussion. Mr. James Service said it was impossible for the colonial delegates to leave the New Hebrides question unsettled. The appointment of a naval commission would only be satisfactory as a complement to the existing convention. A prompt settlement of the question in relation to the occupation of the islands was essential, and the longer it was delayed the firmer would become the hold which the French now have upon the islands.

Sir R. Wisdom strongly urged a better recognition of the Australian demands. If necessary, New South Wales would be prepared to endorse the Victorian views on the question.

Sir J. W. Downer supported the views put forward by Mr. Service.

Sir Henry Holland, in reply, stated that in the speech delivered by Lord Salisbury when the subject was previously before the Conference, the Premier only meant to indicate the difficulty of the situation, and not any hostility of the British Cabinet, which was most anxious to secure the desires of the Australian colonists. He (Sir Henry Holland) felt confident of an early settlement of the question, and he believed the French would evacuate the New Hebrides when the naval commission was an established fact.

The colonial delegates were greatly pleased with Sir Henry Holland's announcement, and also at the marked contrast with the utterances of the Imperial representatives on Wednesday last.

The Conference will be brought to a close on the 6th May.

LONDON, APRIL 28.

The Imperial Conference resumed its sittings to-day. Sir Samuel Griffith's proposals, based on his memorandum on the subject of the future administration of New Guinea, were brought forward for discussion. The proposals in question were generally approved by the delegates, and were formally accepted. Sir Henry Holland, Secretary of State for the Colonies, informed the Conference that her Majesty's Government would be prepared to provide a cruiser, the cost of maintenance being estimated at £15,000 per annum. The question of the French occupation of the New Hebrides, and the negotiations between England and France in regard thereto, were again brought forward for discussion. Sir F. Dillon Bell made a speech, in which he urged the Imperial authorities to adopt the views of the colonies. In reply, Sir Henry Holland stated that in a few days he expected to receive an answer from the French Government which would be satisfactory to the Australian delegates and Governments.

APRIL 29.

The proposals of Queensland which have been accepted by the Conference include, a guarantee for the administration of the affairs of New Guinea for ten years instead of five years as originally proposed. The sum payable by the Imperial Government for the cost of maintenance of a cruiser is £30,000 annually, not £15,000. After the conclusion of the Conference Sir Samuel Griffith will settle with Sir Robert Herbert, Permanent Under-Secretary for the Colonies, the details of the bill necessary to give effect to the agreement. It will then be introduced in the Queensland Parliament.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

ADELAIDE, FRIDAY.

A meeting was held in the Town Hall last night, convened by the Rev. A. Honner, to consider a scheme for introducing population to the colony, and providing them with small township allotments, combined with surburban blocks for cultivation purposes, in suitable parts of the colony, so as to mutually benefit South Australia and the mother country. About 100 persons were present. Mr. Honner submitted resolutions, subdivided into nine heads, in which he explained the objects of the proposal under which he expected to bring out to the colony, from England, 800,000 people in three years. The motion was considered too indefinite, and eventually an amendment was moved by Mr. Henry Taylor, and carried, to the following effect—"That a committee be formed to formulate a scheme with the object of facilitating an increased settlement of colonists in this colony, and to induce immigration from the old world under conditions deemed advantageous to all concerned."

Mr. Robert Reed, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, gave evidence to-day before the Banking Laws Commission. He considered that every bank of issue should be required to deposit in Government and municipal debentures an amount equal to the notes issued. The security should be held by the Government, who could guarantee the notes. He would not allow the banks to advance money on freehold security, because such absorption would lead to disaster in the event of a financial crisis.

THE TOWNSVILLE CIRCUIT COURT.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

BRISBANE, FRIDAY.

Shortly before 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon Justice Cooper resumed his seat on the Townsville Circuit Court, and announced that in the interests of the public he would proceed with the business. After having read the following telegram from the Acting Chief Secretary in reply to one forwarded by Mr. Virgil Power, the Crown Prosecutor, reporting the Judge's determination to close the Court, viz.: "The Judge must accept the responsibility of his unprecedented action. He has no reason to doubt the assurance of the Government that provision will be made for all reasonable expense." This having been handed by Mr. Power to the Judge, his Honor said:—"To this I have only to say that no assurance of the kind has ever been received by me. I look in vain for any assurance of the sort, and find nothing of the kind, but I suppose that this letter of the Colonial Treasurer may be taken now to contain the assurance referred to. This telegram is evidently not constructed in the same diplomatic fashion as was the letter addressed to me by the Colonial Treasurer. I take reasonable expenses to mean what Mr. Dickson thinks are reasonable, and that such will be paid. If I were to determine to adhere to the resolution which I made public this morning, I am certain no right-thinking man would dream of blaming me for so doing, but I desire to avert from colonial society, in which I have spent 12 years of my life, the conspicuous scandal that could arise were I to leave the court and discharge the prisoners. I will accept this telegram as a promise to meet my expenses, and therefore I will draw cheques upon the Government as usual, but as soon as I hear any of those cheques not having met prompt payment, I will take such steps as I may deem necessary. I may be the loser of a larger sum, but am prepared to suffer the risk of such loss rather than inflict upon the colony, the loss, injury, scandal, and disgrace which the course forced upon me by the Government would necessitate. There is now nothing further to be done, Mr. Power, but to proceed with the business." Mr. Dickson's telegram to the Judge wired last night was received later, while the business of the Court was proceeding.

MANAGER'S REPORTS.

Central Broken Hill Silver-mining Company, Limited.—Messrs. Watt and Dodds have received the following report from the mining manager, under date April 2[illegible]:—"Since my report of the 19th, I have been driving west at the 200 feet level, No. 1 shaft, as the lode went out of the shaft to the west, 20 feet above this level; so after driving about at foot in country the foot-wall of the lode was met with. I at once had a hole put in it, and after the blast I had the ore sent to the surface, when I saw chloride of silver in it, the first I have seen in this mine. I at once wired you that chloride was met with, and the assays made. From what I can see of the lode at present, it seems that we are on a shoot of ore dipping from the north; so as soon as I am in a sufficient distance from the shaft I shall commence driving east, when I shall get into the solid part of the shoot, as I think it will take another week at least before I can see what it really is, as the water is very quick, having to bale [illegible] gallons an hour. The lode so far looks well, and I expect it to greatly improve when I get more into it. I have not commenced to drive east yet, as I want to get well in work in the west drive first. The mine is looking [illegible] well."

"New Reform Pups Gold-mining Company, Lucknow, 27th April.—Cleaned up plates and wells, resulting, as anticipated, in sufficient to pay all costs to date. 3 [illegible] on hand will ship again on the 24th May. Prospects of the Shamrock vein are all that can be desired. A few feet more in depth will show a vast improvement to date. Machinery all in good order."

Adeline Gold-mining Company, Fairfield.—Washed up for a yield of 91oz. of gold. Of the stuff put through only about 20 tons came from the main lode. The residue was got in cutting out room for timbering whilst repairing the workings. As it contained a little gold, thought it better to send it to the battery than to stop crushing. Will be finished timbering in a few days, and will then be in full work on the lode. New shaft sunk 28 feet. Have started to drive north and south. No. 2 shaft machinery waiting well.

Company's works; but the vessel left yesterday for Melbourne with a cargo of Queensland sugar, and she will now not be laid up until returning from the southern port and making a trip to the Clarence River.

The barque Tyburnia, which, as was previously announced, was purchased by Messrs. Burns, Philp, and Co., is to be [illegible] from Newcastle to Cooktown, where she is to be used as a hulk. The barque Costa Rica Packet, which was recently bought by the same firm in Melbourne, is to come on to Sydney, but her ultimate destination is at present uncertain.

The steamer Corinna left Formby, Tasmania, at 1.30 p.m. on the 26th instant, and arrived in port at midnight of the 28th. Experienced strong N.E. winds and moderate sea to Gabo, thence light variable winds and high easterly sea to port.

The steamer Gambier cleared Port Phillip Heads at 1.30 p.m. on the 26th instant, and arrived in port at 2.30 a.m. on the 29th. Experienced fresh head winds and moderate sea throughout.

The steamer Taramung, from Melbourne to Newcastle, passed the Heads at 2.25 p.m. yesterday.

The barque Vivid, bound to Melbourne, cleared the Heads at a quarter past 3 yesterday afternoon.

"Anglo-Australian," in the European Mail, says:—"In these days of steam but little heed is taken of the achievements of sailing vessels in regard to speed, yet I think that some little notice is due to Captain MacWilliam, of the good ship [illegible] for his run from Dunedin to London in the surprising space of only 70 days."

The Shipping Gazette of March 25 says:—"The tonnage loading on the berth for India, China, and the Cape of Good Hope amounts to 38,940 tons, and for Australia and New Zealand 44,810 tons. There is still a good inquiry for tonnage outwards to the East, especially for steamers. Homeward freights are unaltered. There is a little more doing from Bombay, and a better feeling at Calcutta.

The steamer Boomerang, belonging to the Newcastle Steamship Company, arrived in port early yesterday morning in tow of the tug Stormcock, from Newcastle. The Boomerang broke her shaft while coming from Morpeth to Newcastle, and was towed down to the latter port by a small steamer, and thence to Sydney by Messrs. J. and A. Brown's tug.

H.M.S. Tyne and Myrmidon, now lying in Farm Cove, were the objects of considerable interest yesterday. So far as outward appearance is concerned the Myrmidon shows but slight damage, but an internal inspection reveals serious injury. The Tyne's bow is twisted round for a distance of from 13 to [illegible] feet, and there is not the slightest doubt but that, had it not been for her bulkhead held, she would have gone down, as the [illegible] plates is a tremendous one. Strange to say the Myrmidon has no water-tight compartments, and had she been struck 10 or [illegible] feet either forward or aft of where the actual impact occurred nothing could have saved her. As it was, she met the Tyne in her very strongest part, and it is a striking proof of her strength that she stood the severe trial so well. Up till yesterday evening no court of inquiry had, so far as was known, been appointed; but it is probable the collision will be inquired into either to-day or on Monday.

The three-masted schooner Yolande, for Auckland, via Newcastle, was taken in tow for the latter port last night.

Owing to a typographical error the number of [illegible] shipped by the R. M. S. Orova was, on Monday, [illegible] stated to be 365, instead of 585.

The R.M.S. Oroya left Melbourne yesterday in continuation of her voyage hence to London, via ports.

SPORTING INTELLIGENCE.

THE TURF.

Lovers of sport will be afforded an opportunity of witnessing some excellent racing at Canterbury Park this afternoon, when the meeting promoted by the Canterbury Park Race Club, in aid of the Bulli Disaster Relief Fund, comes off; and, under favourable circumstances, a substantial benefit may be expected from the gathering. The Railway Department will give every facility possible, so as to enable country and metropolitan visitors to reach Ashfield, and the usual vehicular means of arriving at the course will be available. Trains will leave Redfern station for Ashfield at half-hour intervals during the day, and in addition, a special starts at 12.45 p.m., arriving at Ashfield in ample time to allow passengers to get to the course before the horses go to the post for the first race. Large fields may be expected, and the flag will be lowered for the first event on the card, the Assistance Stakes, at 1.30 p.m. The horses that show up best for this race are Leumeah, Sawdust, and Mazeppa, and that trio should furnish a winner. Smith O'Brien, Home Rule, and Aurelia seem to be about the most likely-looking in the Benevolent Handicap; Claud, Gipsy's Warning, and Pinkie will probably fill the places in the Bulli Relief Handicap; the Appropriation Stakes should bring about a good contest between Lady Marion, Straight Shot, and Golddust; while Faugh-a-ballagh should about win the Consolation Stakes.

The race meeting organised by the management of the Rosehill Racing Club in aid of the Bulli Relief Fund promises to be one of the most successful gatherings ever held at that popular trysting place. The entries for the different events close on Tuesday next, at 4 p.m., and it may be taken for granted that every true sportsman who owns a racer will feel in duty bound to nominate for some of the events on the programme. In addition to the very liberal monetary prizes offered by the club, valuable trophies, donated by some of the leading mercantile firms in the city, will be given to the winners. The Aid Cup, of 60 sovs., will be supplemented by a handsome silver goblet of chaste design and finish, presented by Messrs. Lassetter and Co.; the winner of the Succour Stakes, of 60 sovs., will also receive a well-finished racing saddle and bridle, the gift of Messrs. John Brush and Co., and manufactured by that firm; a large silver-plated cup, elaborately chased and surmounted by an equine figure, presented by Messrs. M'Lean Bros. and Rigg, goes with the Steeplechase of 60 sovs.; a classic-shaped and tastefully-embellished cup, with equine surmountings, donated by Messrs. Holdsworth and Co., will form a fitting trophy to accompany the Relief Cup, of 75 sovs.; and the Sympathy Plate, of 50 sovs., will be rendered more acceptable by the addition of an elegant of oxydised silver shield bearing an allegorical figure of Victory, a present from Messrs. Elkington and Co. The trophies enumerated above will be on view in the windows of the various firms mentioned, and should be a great incentive towards securing a large number of nominations, irrespective of the object for which the reunion has been inaugurated. His Excellency the Governor has signified his intention to be present at the gathering, and it is anticipated that he will present the trophies to the winners. The band of the 1st Regiment have given their services free of charge for the occasion, and the presence of such a talented company of musicians should attract the lovers of good music to the course. The late rains have not affected the running, as the course is covered with a heavy sward of grass, which will be mown next week, and then the track will be in splendid condition. An impression seems to have got abroad that the winners at the meeting are expected to donate their money prizes to the Bulli Relief Fund; but no grounds exist for such an idea. The stakes will be paid over in the usual way, and winners will not be hampered with any conditions whatever.

Negotiations were concluded on Thursday for a match, to take place within a month on the Randwick racecourse, between Sawdust and Belvorina, for £50 a-side, distance half a mile.

The Orphan has been scratched for the Royal Stakes and Birthday Cup, in connection with the coming meeting of the Sydney Turf Club.

Mount Hope race meeting was registered yesterday with the secretary of the A. J. C.

The following items should receive the attention of those interested:—Acceptors for the Warwick (Q.) handicaps must notify the secretary to day; the general entry in connection with the forthcoming meeting of the Bourke Jockey Club takes place on Monday; and on the same date nominations must be in the hands of the secretary for the Smithtown Jockey Clubs handicaps.

The committee of the Wallsend and Plattsburg Amateur Turf Club have to be congratulated on their management of that institution, inasmuch as the financial statement, submitted to the general meeting of members on Tuesday evening last, showed a credit balance of £227 1s. 7d. The club was started on February 1, 1883, and then consisted of only 13 members, who held themselves responsible for the prize money distributed at the first race meeting a fortnight afterwards. The list of membership now numbers 125, and the steady progress, as well as the present satisfactory condition of the institution may be attributed to the zeal of the late secretary, Mr. Robertson, who has held that office since the formation of the club. Owing to business arrangements, however, Mr. Robertson has found it necessary to retire from the office which he filled so creditably, and his resignation was accepted with regret. Mr. John Moss, whose efficiency as starter had given the greatest of satisfaction to the members, also tendered his resignation, which was accepted with regret, and he was afterwards appointed to the secretaryship. It was decided to leave the matter of fixing the date for the next race meeting in the hands of the committee.

J. Barnfather, the Wallsend jockey, who steered Satellite in his double victory at the late meeting of the Wallsend Jockey Club, has arrived in Sydney under engagement to ride Quong Tart and Sweetheart.

The trotting stallion Huon was out yesterday morning on the trotting track undergoing his preparation for his Australian record. He is showing better form than ever, and his chance of lowering all the colonial records seems very probable. Baldwin, his trainer, is taking every care of him, and is very sanguine of success.

Sporting men, who intend to compete for some of the good things offered by the Queensland Turf Club at the meeting which comes off on May 21 and 24, will do well to note that general entries close at 4 p.m. on Wednesday next, with the secretary, Mr. J. H. G. Pountney, Brisbane; or Mr. T. S. Clibborn, secretary A. J. C., King-street, Sydney.

Horse-owners are reminded that the entries for the trotting and jumping contests in connection with the annual exhibition of the Agricultural Society of New South Wales close at 4 p.m. on Thursday next, the 5th proximo, and that full information can be obtained in the meantime from the secretary, Mr. F. Webster, Hunter-street. Mr. T. M. Alcock has been appointed handicapper for the Grand Distance Trot, and Mr. F. W. Day will act as honorary veterinary surgeon for the society during the currency of the show.

The Arab pony Dynamite, recently imported from India by Mr. E. Weekes, has been purchased by Mr. W. Wellman, and is now located at Ariah Station, near Wagga Wagga.

Punjaub, a son of Lord Gough and Dianetta, who won six out of ten races in which he competed on the English turf last year and appropriated half a dozen races in succession during the present racing season, was beaten by Hyacinth, to whom he conceded 2st, in the Kedleston Hunters' Hurdle-race Plate, at the Derby Meeting, in March.

Murrurundi, the winner of the Selling Race, at the July meeting of the Rosehill Racing Club last year, and who has been located in Northern Queensland for some time past, has been apportioned top weight, 9st. 9lb., in the Flying Handicap at the coming meeting of the Tambo Jockey Club, and comes third on the lists in the Tambo Handicap, two miles, and G. W. D. Jockey Club Handicap, 1¼ mile, with 9st. 4lb. and 9st. 5lb. respectively.

The steeplechaser Dragon, who was recently purchased by Mr. M. M'Loughlin for £600, was bred by Mr. R. Rouse, of Biraganbil, near Mudgee; and about three years ago he used to be hacked about the town by the local letter-carrier. Mr. Rouse parted with the horse for £25.

Old Terminus, who won the double at the Dubbo races last week, again distinguished himself at Warren on Wednesday and Thursday, when he repeated the performance by appropriating the Opening and Forced Handicaps.

Referring to the attempt recently made by the French authorities for the supression of betting, the travelling correspondent of Sporting Life (England) writes:—"The prohibition of betting-posts was enforced at Auteuil races on March 10, and is to operate all over France. The betting agents having threatened to resist, or to block up the course and stop the races, 250 policemen were sent to the ground; but except the arrest of one recalcitrant agent, there was nothing beyond murmuring and protesting, and some slight demonstration against M. Joffrin, the author of the proposal made in the municipal council for the suppression of betting. The policemen disallowed not only anything fixed in or standing on the ground, but also the placing of betting lists on the agents' breasts, lists hold in the hand being alone tolerated. The agents thereupon resolved to strike, and to remain on strike till the prohibition is rescinded. The general impression among the public, as well as among the bookmakers, is that the suppression of the stands, and the prohibition of betting à la cote will not be persevered in, or that it will at least be modified and made less absolute. The bookmakers have expressed their intention to persevere in their strike till the betting question has received a solution more agreeable to them. The discontent was not confined to the betting fraternity, for the jockeys seemed equally annoyed, and they, too, talked of striking until the question was settled."

Mr. John Meggrinson stands in the front rank of veteran sportsmen in England. He is 80 years of age, and was recently elected as secretary of the Scarbro' Race Club.

WILCANNIA RACES.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN REPORTER.)

WILCANNIA, FRIDAY.

The weather was all that could be desired for the races to-day, but the road to the course and the saddling paddock was very dusty. The attendance was much better than yesterday, and everything passed off successfully. Mr. Goldie, the starter, got his fields away extremely well, and a word of praise is also due to the handicapper. The club, however, cannot be complimented on its arrangements for the comfort and convenience of the officials and the Press; and the sitting accommodation in the grandstand might well have been improved. Mr. Thomas O'Leary, of the Wilcannia Hotel, carried out the catering arrangements in really excellent style. Nearly all the wins seemed to be popular, Mr. Byrnes's and Mr. O'Connell's horses being especially cheered. Eaglet appropriated the Darling Handicap, but the event of the day, the Jockey Club Handicap, was won by Wee Jim, who upset the calculations of the backers of the favourite, Native. British Lion, a son of John Bull, after winning the Members' Plate, was saddled up for the Forced Handicap, which he won comfortably. Schemer, a son of Scamp, pulled off the Jumping Race.

DARLING HANDICAP, 40 sovs.—Mile and furlong.

Mr. T. Byrnes's Eaglet, 6 years, 9st. (Bolger) 1
Mr. T. Byrnes's Kingship, 5 years, 8st. 10lb. (Noonan) ... 2
Mr. J. Agnew's Sequence Flush, 6 years, 7st. 11lb., including 4lb. overweight (Mercer) 3

The other starters were—Guardsman, aged, 8st. 10lb.; Kingship, 5 years, 8st. 4lb.; Honesty, 8st. 2lb.; Deceiver, 6 years, 7st. 2lb.; Logic, 5 years, 7st.; Phiz, 6 years, 7st. 4lb.

Betting: 2 to 1 v. Eaglet, 6 to 4 Kingship, 3 to 1 v. Guardsman, 4 to 1 v. Honesty.

Owing to the fractiousness of Phiz, the starter had some difficulty in getting the field away. Eaglet rushed to the front almost from the post, Sequence Flush hanging on to his quarters, the remainder of the field in straggling order, Phiz being hopelessly last. Coming round the home turn, Kingship overhauled the leaders, and Sequence Flush falling back, a splendid contest ensued between Eaglet and Kingship, the former winning by a head. Time, 2 minutes 8¼ seconds.

HANDICAP JUMPING RACE, 40 sovs.—2 miles; over 3 feet 9 jumps.

Mr. O'Connell's Schemer, aged, 10st. (Bolger) 1
Mr. Wilson's Hard Times, aged, 10st. 2lb. (Wilson) ... 2
Mr. Martin's No Go, aged, 9st. 12lb. (including 4lb. over weight) (Hagnew) 3
Mr. White's Rhuallan, aged, 10st. 12lb. 0

Betting: Even money on Schemer; 2 to 1 v. others.

Rhuallan led to the first jump, but baulking there was never afterwards in the race. The favourite then took the lead in the race, and although pressed hard at the last hurdle by No Go, won with something to spare. Time, 4 minutes 37 seconds.

WILCANNIA JOCKEY CLUB HANDICAP, 100 sovs., with a sweep of 3 sovs. for starters—1½ mile.

Mr. T. Byrnes's Wee Jim, aged, 9st. 4lb. (Bolger) ... 1
Mr. T. Byrnes's Cupidon, 6 years, 9st. 4lb. (Noonan) ... 2
Mr. E. W. Donnelly's Honesty, aged, 7st. 8lb. (Kearney) .. 3
Mr. E. C. Naylor's Richmond, aged, 9st. 4lb. 0
Mr. T. O'Leary's Native, aged, 8st. 7lb. 0

Betting: Even on Native, 3 to 1 v. Wee Jim and Richmond, 5 to 1 v. Cupidon.

Cupidon and Honesty swept past the stand together, Native and Richmond next, and Wee Jim several lengths in the rear. The latter crept up at the back of the course, gradually improving his position, until at the last turn he passed the leader, and came down the straight an easy winner. Time, 2 minutes 55 seconds.

MEMBERS' PLATE, 40 sovs.—1 mile. Amateur minimum weight, 10st. 7lb.

Mr. Lynch's British Lion, aged, 10st. 12lb. (Blair) ... 1
Mr. Byrne's Eaglet, 6 years, 12st. (Spinks) 2
Mr. O'Leary's Native, aged, 11st. 7lb. (Bunaworth) ... 3

Nobbler, aged, 10st. 10lb., also started.

Betting: Even money on British Lion and Eaglet. From the start to the back of the course Nobbler led by three lengths, but, suddenly collapsing, the other three went to the front, and in the straight British Lion drew away and won as he liked. Time, 1 minute 55 seconds.

FORCED HANDICAP.

British Lion, 8st. 5lb. 1
Kingship, 8st. 7lb. 2
Honesty, 7st. 10lb. 3

Guardsman, 7st. 4lb., also started.

Betting: Even on Kingship, 5 to 2 British Lion. Won, after a good race down the straight, by a good length.

VICTORIA COURSING CLUB.

MELBOURNE, FRIDAY.

The number of nominations for the Victoria Coursing Club's Derby and Oaks, to take place on May 26 and following days, was—Derby Stakes, 44; Oaks Stakes, 43.

THE BICYCLE TOURNAMENT IN MELBOURNE.

MELBOURNE, FRIDAY.

The six days' bicycle tournament was continued to-day, in the Exhibition Building, in the presence of 5000 people. The only event of importance was in connection with Rolfe, who, at the termination of his riding on Thursday night, entered a protest against Clarke for passing him on the inside track. In consequence of the protest being dismissed Rolfe declined to continue racing. He did not appear on the track to-day. When the pistol was fired at 11 o'clock to-night to stop racing for the day Wyburd fell off his machine from exhaustion. He did not sustain any injury, and is expected to be able to resume to-morrow. F. Wood was present during the day, and gave an exhibition of fancy bicycle riding. The scores are as follows:—Clarke, 660 miles 7 laps; Roberts, 649 miles 7 laps; Wyburd, 634 miles 7 laps; Mitchell, 586 miles 6 laps; M'Donald, 223 miles. When Rolfe retired on Thursday he had 539 miles to his credit. The relative positions of the riders are not likely to be altered. The tournament will finish on Saturday night at 11 o'clock.

CRICKET.

The final match for the Metropolitan Cup and medals which is now being played between the Pyrmont Ivanhoes and Marylebones, and which was to have been resumed today, has been postponed till Saturday, May 7, on account of a death in the Pyrmont Ivanhoe's team.

FOOTBALL.

Mr. Sebastian Hodge has been unanimously re-elected president of the Wanderers' Football Club.

CYCLING.

Mr. Con. Dwyer, amateur champion cyclist of Australia, writes:—"Mr. C. W. Bennett and myself being still recognised as amateurs by the New South Wales Cyclist Union, I am prepared, in order to settle all doubts as to which of us is the better all-round man, to race Mr. Bennett over the four distances—viz., 1, 3, 5, and 10 miles—for a gold medal, value 10 guineas, to be paid by loser under conditions to be mutually agreed upon."

Upon reference to our advertising columns it will be noticed that all entries close on May 7 for the Suburban Bicycle Clubs' Intercolonial Race Meeting, to be held on May 14 and 28. It is not intended to keep the lists open beyond the date mentioned. Several prominent Victorian riders are in active training and will shortly arrive in Sydney, so that the annual race meeting of the above club promises to be as interesting as usual. C. W. Bennett is in great form, and a struggle may be looked forward to between him and Con. Dwyer. Mr. H. S. Bale, of Melbourne, will also accompany the Victorian cyclists, and, as he is personally looking after the team this year, it should be an excellent one. Bennett, Jenkins, Lambton, Wood, and several other New South Wales riders are practising as much as the weather will permit, and Bennett especially is showing good form. The Association Ground is daily assuming quite a lively appearance with a host of wheelmen endeavouring to render themselves fit for the above races.

PEDESTRIANISM.

To-day the Sir Joseph Banks Hurdle Race will be run at Botany. The jumping will be a change from the sprinting, and the first-class men that are competing should make a good afternoon's sport. On Monday afternoon the 440 yards will be decided. There are 57 competitors, all well-known performers. The heats will be drawn on the track each day, 15 minutes previous to the running.

ATHLETICS.

Entries for all events (except Bicycle Race) for the Ashfield Amateur Athletic Club Sports next Saturday close this evening, at 9 o'clock, at Ashfield School of Arts, as will be seen by advertisement elsewhere.

AQUATICS.

THE INTERCOLONIAL EIGHT-OAR RACE.—The crew chosen to represent New South Wales in the approaching intercolonial eight-oar race, which is announced to take place on the Parramatta champion course on the 28th May, are now actively training for the contest, which promises to be of a very interesting nature. The men have been picked from the various rowing clubs of Sydney, and their names and the names of the clubs to which they belong are as follows:—C. A. Bros, stroke (S. R. C.); N. Johnson (S. R. C.), J. E. H. Kennedy (S. R. C.), J. Frazer (B. R. C.), W. Martin (B. R. C.), J. G. Kennedy (S. R. C.), W. Freeman (M. R. C.), G. Seale, bow (M. R. C.). The eight-oar race will be held under the auspices of the New South Wales Rowing Association. At the present time the Sydney crew are practising in a boat which has been hired for the purpose from the North Shore Rowing Club, that being the only suitable craft they could manage to obtain. The New South Wales Rowing Association are, however, having a boat built to order for the crew to race in. They have entrusted the execution of the order to J. Donnelly, of Sydney, and it is expected that when finished the craft will worthily sustain the reputation of her maker. The boat will in all probability be turned out of the yard some time next week. It is interesting to note that the New South Wales men will row in a Sydney built boat this year. Hitherto the boats they have used on the day of the race have been constructed at Melbourne. This oars for the craft are being made by Dawson. It will be somewhat of a disappointment to lovers of aquatic displays in this colony to learn that the only opponents which the local eight will have to encounter this year will be the Victorians, who are sending up a good crew in the course of the next fortnight. Two years ago crews from Victoria, Queensland, and Tasmania competed with the Sydney eight, and a splendid race took place over the old course on the river. From a variety of reasons both the "bananalanders" and the representatives of the "tight little isle" will be absent this year. This is much to be regretted, as the presence of the four crews made the race a most interesting spectacle. Our men have been training for some little time in the broken waters of Sydney Cove and thereabouts, but on Saturday afternoon last they made a start for their recognised quarters up the river. As they were nearing Goat Island the boat got swamped and the crew had to swim ashore. Eventually the men and their boat were placed on board a steamer and taken up to The Branch. The men have been out practising on the champion course daily this week, and they went for a fine spin yesterday afternoon. The steamer Agenoria, having Mr. John E. Myers, Mr. Perry (hon. treasurer of the S. R. C.), and others on board, followed the crew, and they had a good opportunity of witnessing their style of rowing, &c. Mr. Myers coached the men from the bows of the steamer, and Mr. C. H. Donovan acted as coach to the eight in their boat. Bros led off with a nice steady stroke, and the rest of the crew soon settled down to their work. Above Mortlake the pace was quickened, and, with one or two exceptions, the style of rowing was fairly good. More attention will have to be paid to feathering, and the crew should endeavour to "hold" their water to the last so as to keep their craft continually on the move. It is too early as yet to say much about individual form; in the course of a week or so the men will doubtless improve considerably, and then one will be able the better to judge of the merits of each man. Suffice it for the present to say that they are a lot of fine looking, strapping young fellows, and at the end of their training, if they watch their rowing very carefully, they should be in good condition to meet their trans-Murray opponents.

INTERCOLONIAL SCULLING CONTEST.—The Intercolonial Sculling Contest for the Amateur Championship of Australia, over the Parramatta River Champion Course, was pulled yesterday afternoon. The competitors were Mr. D. Green, champion of Adelaide, and Mr. G. Brett, of Sydney. The steamer Admiral had been specially laid on, and a moderately large number of spectators attended. The local man started at wagering of two to one wanted on him, and as the sequel proved he came away an easy winner; the betting having hardened towards the finish to 10 to 1 offered. Both men seemed in good form; Brett having, if anything, the better appearance. A level start was effected, with Green on the inside. Both hugged the southern shore, and the Adelaide man took a brief lead, which had been reduced to about half a length at Uhr's Point; the pair skirting it so closely that Green's boat came near to fouling with the rocks. Brett shortly afterwards went to the front, and it seemed evident from his quiet style that he felt himself with the race in hand. Heading off to mid-channel he pulled a leisurley unbroken stroke to the mile beacon, 50 or 60 yards from which he shot a good length and a half ahead. At Breakfast Point, Green steered very erratically, and lost fully a boat's length in bearing on his port scull to clear the rocks, the result of which was that on opening into the next reach the Sydney oarsman seemed to be comfortably awaiting him. Off Cabarita, Green pluckily responded to calls, and cut down the gap considerably, but without avail, and the flagboat was reached by Brett a good two and a half to three lengths in front of his companion, who seemed somewhat exhausted. The winner had a noticeable advantage in a good knowledge of the tide and course. An awkward southerly wind blew throughout. Messrs. Wolfe, Messenger, and Nelson followed in outriggers. The official time was given as 24 minutes 15 seconds. Several persons claimed that the event was won by half a length only, but this statement was an error.

PARRAMATTA ROWING CLUB.—This club held it quarterly meeting at the Friendly Societies' Hall on Thursday evening, Mr. W. J. Ferris, vice-president and captain, occupying the chair. The report of the committee congratulated the members on the completion of the extensions to the boat shed, and referred to the banquet and aquatic contests held to mark the reopening of the same. It also stated that the committee had under consideration the question of purchasing additional boats, and the necessity for more stringent rules in order to protect the club's property was pointed out. The date for the single scull race for the championship of the club was altered to the 28th of May and the 4th of June, and the time for receiving entries was extended to May 21. At a meeting of the committee, held immediately after the close of the general meeting, Mr. J. Tunks was elected a member of that body, and the secretary was authorised to convene a special general meeting for May 25 to consider a proposal to double the present rate of subscription. It was also resolved that the names of all members in arrears on that date should be struck off the roll.

LACROSSE.

As announced last week, the New South Wales Lacrosse Association will play their second exhibition match in Parramatta Park this afternoon. The game has not been played before in Parramatta. The teams leave Sydney by the 1.45 p.m. train, and will commence play at 3.

LAWN TENNIS.

Two of the Victorian team, viz., Messrs. Bartram and Martin, arrived by the express yesterday, and the remaining four, Messrs Riddell, Raleigh, Mitchell, and Webb, are now expected.

In consequence of the late arrival of the Victorians, the entries for the open events in the tournament, to follow the Intercolonial Match, which were to have closed at 1 o'clock to-day, will remain open till 5 o'clock on Monday. Entries may be made either at the office of the hon. treasurer, Mr. Clive Smith, 75, Pitt-street; or with any member of the committee on the ground. Both teams will practise at the Association Ground this afternoon, and the match for the club captaincy between Messrs. Allen and Wallington will also be played.

BILLIARD TOURNAMENT CUP.

On Thursday last a choice trophy in the form of a cup, standing about 18 inches high, was presented by Mr. D. E. Davis, merchant, of this city, to the landlord of Negus's Grand Pier Hotel, at Manly, who will hold the same on behalf of a billiard club shortly to be formed upon the premises. The cup is a splendid specimen of of Mosaic work. It bears a small silver plate inscribed "Billiard Tournament, Manly Beach, presented by D. E. Davis, April 28th, 1887." The donor has stipulated that the trophy shall be won twice in succession before becoming the property of any member.

NIMROD FISHING CLUB.

The last outing of the quarter took place on Thursday last, and 25 members availed themselves of the opportunity. The weather was all that could be desired, and fish were very plentiful; the total catch being 475, some of them being very large. Messrs. W. Sharman, M. Bayfield, and C. Saunders, took the prizes for first, second, and third fish, respectively.

MAITLAND SCHOOL OF ARTS.

[BY TELEGRAPH].
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

WEST MAITLAND, FRIDAY.

The half-yearly meeting of the members of the School of Arts was held in the institution last evening. The president, Rev. W. H. Harrington, LL.B., was in the chair. The meeting was fairly attended. The report and balance-sheet were unanimously adopted, on the motion of the chairman, seconded by Mr. W. L. Lipscomb. The report stated that during the half-year there had been a large increase in the number of members. The receipts had also increased. There had been a larger issue of books from the library than at any previous period. The finances were in a very satisfactory condition, and the contractor for the erection of the new reading-room and library, Mr. James Pritchard, is making rapid progress with the work, so that in a short time the members would enjoy the benefit and comfort of these much-needed improvements to the building. The election of officers and committee resulted as follows:—President, Rev. W. H. Harrington, LL.B.; vice-president, J. J. Riley; treasurer, C. E. Norrie; secretary, Alex. Marshall; committee, R. Grimwade, B. Hodgson, H. Dodds, C. Webster, A. J. C. Tubman, J. M'Lauchlin, A. J. H. King, W. H. Relton, W. R. Sullivan, J. Anstey, F. Mudie; auditors, E. L. Maitland, C. E. Crutch, J. J. Berry. Mr. C. E. Norrie moved, pursuant to notice,—"That the half-yearly meeting of members in future be held in the months of January and July." This was seconded by Mr. A. J. C. Tubman, and carried. Mr. J. Anstey proposed, and Mr. Norrie seconded,—"That the management be vested in a committee, consisting of the president, vice-president, treasurer, and secretary, and 12 committee men, to be elected at the half-yearly meeting in January. The officers shall be elected for 12 months, and six of the committee retire at the half-yearly meeting in July, the retiring members to be those lowest on the poll at the January meeting; six new members to be elected in their places." The resolution was carried. A vote of thanks to the officers and chairman brought the meeting to a close.

FATAL MINING ACCIDENT AT HILL END.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

HILL END, FRIDAY.

Another fatal mining accident occurred here to-night. Thomas Cox, a miner engaged in sinking in Messrs. Newton's Red Hill shaft, Tambaroora, was on the surface obtaining timber, which he placed in a bucket, also getting in himself. The engineer had only started to lower him when the chain connection from the bucket to the wire rope snapped, precipitating Cox and the bucket to the bottom of the shaft, a depth of nearly 300 feet. His mate, Henry Graham, who was at the bottom, miraculously escaped, and after some time he found Cox's body. He raised his head above water until assistance came. This is the new shaft on M'Mahon's lease where a fatal accident occurred three years ago. Deceased leaves a large family.

AMUSEMENTS.

ROYAL STANDARD THEATRE.

A complimentary benefit was tendered to Mr. Alfred Dampier by Mr. Frank Smith, the members of Mr. Dampier's dramatic company, and an influential committee, at the Standard Theatre, last evening. "The New Magdalen" was revived for one night only, and the performance was witnessed by a crowded and enthusiastic audience. The construction of this play is excellent, and the manner in which, without interfering with the value of what follows, the interest is brought at the close of the prologue is exceedingly ingenious. The situations thus gained are genuinely dramatic, and the disentanglement of the threads of the fable and their union in the required knot is adroitly managed. There is little in the "New Magdalen" that is beyond the probable in art, the dialogue is crisp and nervous, and an unsavoury subject is treated in a refined manner. Miss Lily Dampier made her first appearance in Sydney as Mercy Merrick, and her impersonation was received with great applause. Within the space of one short act the heroine of this drama is required by the author to unlive an entire life, to make atonement for a series of cruel wrongs, to conquer her whole nature, to separate herself from her friends, whose gravest censure she has incurred, win them again into forgiveness, quarrel with and discard the man she loves, and accept and learn to love another. No one but an actress of infinite capacity, experience, and genius could hope to adequately pourtray such a range of emotion, and that Miss Dampier was not competent to do so in no way reflects upon her talent. For so young an artist she gave a promising and praiseworthy performance, and in most cases deserved the applause which was generously bestowed upon her. Mr. Dampier met with an enthusiastic reception, and repeated his almost perfect though very familiar creation of Julian Gray. The clerical hero of Wilkie Collins' drama is the most difficult rôle in the whole range of modern comedy drama, and no one has ever excelled Mr. Dampier in its representation. In fact many, good actors have failed to play this part, which Mr. Dampier thoroughly grasps, and which shows him at his very best. Mr. Dampier is an actor of the highest rank, and the applause which he evoked last night was a just tribute to his talent. Miss Katherine Russell appeared for the first time as Grace Roseberry, and played this very unsympathetic character to the satisfaction of the audience. Mr. Alfred Boothman was flippant as Horace Holmcroft, Miss Julia Merton dignified as Lady Janet Roy, Mr. Harry Leston gave a clever study of Ignatius Wetzel, the German surgeon, and Messrs. Stoneham, Tasmas, Baker, and Cæsar were adequate in small parts. The scenery was efficient, and the play went without a hitch. Mr. Dampier must have a wonderful benefit, for the house was packed, indeed, so successful was it that it will be continued over this evening, when Charles Reade's drama, "Life in the Coal Pits," will be played. Miss Lily Dampier will appear as Joan Lowrie, Mr. Dampier as Fergus Derrick, and the Standard Company will assume their respective characters.

PAIN'S FIREWORKS.

The third display of Pain's fireworks, now thrice postponed, is again advertised for to-night, and will, in all probability, take place this evening, the weather having at last changed for the better. Mr. Pain certainly is most indefatigable in his endeavours to try and keep faith with his patrons, and it is to be hoped to-night that, with the illuminations and splendid programme of fireworks he has prepared, the audience will be commensurate with his attempts to please and satisfy the public. To-night the great naval combat will be fought over again on a sea of fire. The Castle and Bridge of St. Angelo, Rome, will be depicted exactly as its position indicates in "The Sunny South," and besides these masterpieces of pyrotechny there will be the usual quota of performing elephants, monkeys, &c., with numerous mechanical devices, and an aerial display that has not been surpassed since Mr. Pain landed in Australia.

"First Class" has proved a great success at the New Opera House, and last evening the performance was witnessed by a large audience, who thoroughly appreciated the dramatic fare set before them. Miss Maggie Knight, as Peggy; Mr. Grattan Riggs, as Jack Stroud; and Mr. Vernon, as Dan, are the mainstay of the play; but all the characters are well-sustained. Miss Blanche Lewis, as Mildred, succeeds in eliciting much applause from the audience by making the character of the suffering woman interesting. Miss Ada Lee is pleasing and earnest as Florence; Miss Melville amusingly garrulous as Mrs. Stroud; and Messrs. Seagrave, Appleton, Montgomery, Hasker, Gerald, and Thompson endow small parts with the touch of nature that is necessary to make them successful in stirring the pulse of an audience. The scenery and stage management of "First Class" are excellent, and the production fully deserves the popularity it has attained.

A large audience witnessed the performance of the "Miner's Daughter" at the Criterion Theatre last evening, and Miss Carrie Swain and Mr. Frank Gardiner's company were entirely successful in pleasing their spectators and evoking every demonstration of approval. The next production at the Criterion Theatre will be a new and original dramatic version of Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe's sensational novel "Uncle Tom's Cabin," in which Miss Swain will make her first appearance in Sydney as Topsy. Miss Swain has already made a great success in the role in the United States, which should be repeated here if the impersonation is at all equal to her Mab, or Carrie the Tomboy.

A special amateur performance of Tom Robertson's comedy "Caste" will be given in the New Masonic Hall, Castlereagh-street, in aid of the Children's Hospital, Glebe Point, on Friday, May 6th. The characters of Captain Hawtree, Eccles, George D'Alroy, Sam Gerridge, Polly Esther, and the Marquisi. will be taken by Messrs. Westmacott, Stupart, Hutton, Savage, and lady amateurs.

The Cohill Brothers and their burlesque company have been drawing good houses to the Gaiety Theatre during the past week. An entire change of programme will be given to-night, when, in addition to the talented artists composing the company, Mr. Dan Tracey, the celebrated Irish comedian, will make his reappearance, after an absence of two years.

The company under the management of the Raynor Brother, have secured good audiences since the commencement of their season at the Academy of Music, on Monday evening last. To-night the performance will include musical selections, opera, and farce. The Raynor Brothers announce this as their last season previous to their departure for Europe.

The performance at the Alhambra Music Hall has, during the past week been well patronised. The artists, including Miss James, Miss Scasi, little Ida Heath, Miss Lily Heath, Miss Ryan, and Messrs. Keenan, Easton, Cowan, James, Heath, and Ryan have been entirely successful in pleasing their audiences. The usual change of programme will be given on Monday evening.

The Strasburg clock is still on view at the Apollo Hall, Kidman's-buildings, Market-street, and has secured good audiences to view its mechanical wonders. A matinée for children will be given this afternoon, and the clock will be on view, during the ensuing week, from 2 to 5 and 7 to 10.

Mr. Pain will give an exhibition of firework, in the Prince Alfred Park this evening, weather permitting.

The Australian Waxworks, George-street, are on view daily from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.

The Royal Polytechnic, George-street, is open daily from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., and contains a very interesting collection of mechanical models and other objects of interest.

Mr. W. J. Wilson, the late lessee of the New Opera House, was on Wednesday last presented with an illuminated address by the members of his late working staff. The address was illuminated by Mr. J. J. Ricketts, one of the staff, and was presented to Mr. Wilson as a slight mark of the affection and esteem in which he was held by them.

Mr. George Darrell has sufficiently recovered from his serious illness, contracted during his last season at the New Opera House, as to once more attend to business.

A sacred and secular concert was given in the Harris-street Baptist Church on Thursday evening last, by the choir and friends of the church, under the leadership of Mr. D. B. Dash. The Rev. E. Price, of Bathurst, presided; and Mr. J. M. Price, son of the above, accompanied on the organ and pianoforte. The manner in which the programme was gone through reflected great credit upon all who took part therein.

The second concert of the sixth season of the Sydney Liedertafel has been fixed to take place in the Exhibition Building on May 4th next. The Liedertafel will be assisted by Miss Frances Saville, Mr. W. Gresty, and Mr. Charles Huenerbein (accompanist). The programme selected for the occasion includes "Thou art my dream" (baritone solo, with humming accompaniment), and "La Reine d'un Jour," a soprano solo, which has been allotted to Miss Frances Saville. Some of the part songs which will be performed by the Liedertafel are—"When far on the hillside," "Thuringian Volkslied," "What care I," and "A Singer's Grave." It is expected that Sir Henry and Lady Loch will attend the concert.

Our Brisbane correspondent telegraphs that Rignold and Allison's Opera Company are still playing to large houses at the Theatre Royal. The Japanese Village at the Exhibition Building is also drawing a large attendance.

THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND AT QUIRINDI.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

QUIRINDI, FRIDAY.

A numerously-attended meeting of members of the Church of England was held here on Wednesday night. Between 60 and 70 persons were present, and Dr. Atkins was chairman. The object of the meeting was to protest against the ritualistic practices now carried out in connection with the church services at St. Alban's, and to take means for the removal of certain objectionable things in the church. A deputation was appointed to wait upon the curate, and request him to remove the objectionable things that would be specified. A motion to the effect that a branch of the Church of England Association be formed in Quirindi was carried. The meeting adjourned for a fortnight, when the deputation will bring forward a report of their interview with the curate.

MUNICIPAL COUNCILS.

GRANVILLE.

The fortnightly meeting of the Granville Council was held on Wednesday evening. Present—The Mayor (Mr. John Nobbs), and Aldermen Howieson, Ritchie, Femster, Allen, Unwin, Grimwood, and Flower. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted. The finance committee's report recommended the payment of accounts and salaries amounting to a total of £82 18s. 11d. The works committee reported in favour of certain streets being improved, and also recommended that the salary of the inspector of nuisances be increased to £50 per annum. Three letters from ratepayers, complaining of the condition of streets and bridges, were referred to the overseer of works and improvement committee for report. The council clerk, Alexandria, wrote inviting the co-operation of the council in forming a deputation to wait upon the Colonial Secretary to urge the advisability of the Government taking up municipal loans at a reasonable rate of interest, say 4 per cent. The letter was received, and it was decided to co-operate as requested, the Mayor being appointed to represent the council. In reply to Alderman Howieson, the Mayor said he hoped to be able to lay the ratebook on the table in a few days. If it were completed in sufficient time, he would convene a special meeting to strike the rate the following Wednesday evening. Alderman Flower was appointed a member of the lighting, river, and general purposes committees, vice Mr. John Scarborough, resigned. Under the heading of orders of the day, 11 resolutions relating to repairs and improvements to streets were adopted, and the works committee were requested to report upon similar matters. The council then rose.

REDFERN.

This council held its fortnightly meeting last evening. Present—the Mayor (Alderman Berry), and Aldermen Williamson, Lee, Beveridge, Smith, Crowe, Hume, Lander, O'Connell, Clarke, Skinner, and Sharpe. On the recommendation of the finance committee accounts amounting to £1031 2s. 6d. were passed for payment. A communication from the Town Clerk's office contained the intimation that the Mayor, on the strength of a report from the City Surveyor, considered that Cleveland-street only required a little stripping and spreading of metal to place it in good order and that the work could be carried out by day labour. The letter was left in the hands of the Mayor. M. A. Smith drew attention to the condition of a drain in the lane between Alderson-street and Walker-street. The matter was left in the hands of the Mayor. A number of motions dealing with local improvements were carried, and the meeting shortly afterwards terminated.

MACDONALDTOWN.

The fortnightly meeting of the Macdonaldtown Municipal Council was held last evening. The Mayor (Alderman Ives) presided, and there were also present Aldermen Murray, Lind, Goddard, Elliott, Fallick, Croker, Bryan, and Baldwin. In connection with a telegram received from Mr. John Deering, Metropolitan District Surveyor's Department, it was announced that the Mayor had already replied to the effect that the council were willing to find work for 10 men from the ranks of the unemployed. A circular which was read from the council clerk, Alexandria, relating to a proposition that the council co-operate in the matter of a deputation waiting upon the Colonial Secretary to urge upon him the advisableness of the Government negotiating municipal loans at the rate of about 4 per cent., was merely received. Letters from Messrs. James Jones, John Hindes, Charles M'Leist, and Joseph Wales, urging the council to make improvements to various drains were also received. Regarding a claim made by Mr. W. D. Fitzgerald, acting on behalf of Mr. W. Wilcs, in respect of damage done to property through alleged neglect of the council, it was resolved that the name of the council's solicitor be furnished to the writer of the complaint in order that the matter may be decided by litigation. The finance committee recommended the payment of accounts amounting to £134 15s., and reported that the credit balance at the bank was £521 2s. 9d. On the motion of Alderman Goddard, it was decided that all asphalted footpaths in the borough which are now out of repair be at once renovated at the council's expense. Mr. O'Donnell's tender for supplying the council with blue metal was accepted. A deputation, consisting of the Mayor and Aldermen Goddard, Croker, and Baldwin, was appointed to wait upon the Minister for Works on Friday next, to urge upon him the advisableness of forming a goods siding at the Erskineville railway station.

PARRAMATTA.

A special meeting of the Parramatta Borough Council was held yesterday afternoon to deal with a proposal to provide work for the local unemployed, and also to consider the advisability of appointing a deputation to wait upon the Colonial Secretary to ask for a sum of £1000 for kerbing and guttering the streets in front of the public buildings in the borough. The Mayor (Mr. C. J. Byrnes) occupied the chair, and there were also present Aldermen Taylor, Joseph Booth, Moxham, Beames, Cox, Tiernan, John Booth, Drew, and Ferris. A letter from Alderman Hugh Taylor, M.L.A., to the Colonial Secretary, making certain suggestions relative to providing work for the unemployed in the town, and the Colonial Secretary's reply thereto, were read. The letter suggested that, in view of the number of unemployed men in Parramatta, the Government should join the council in providing work for them on the following conditions:—1. That the men employed should be natives of the town or persons who have resided in it for some time. 2. That they should be employed in clearing, stumping, and improving unmade streets in the borough, and on such other works as would not clash with the employment of skilled artisans. 3. That the rate of wages be 6s. per day, half of that sum to be paid by the Government, and half by the council. 4. All men employed to be approved of by the Mayor and council, as a guarantee that they belong to the town, and are unable to procure work. The letter went on to ask that in view of the suggestions being favourably received arrangements should be made to pay the men weekly. The reply of the Colonial Secretary stated that he approved of the employment of the men on the terms named, but stipulated that they must be engaged on extra works, and must not displace other men employed by the council. The letters were received, and referred to a committee of the whole council. In committee it was resolved that the offer of the Colonial Secretary be accepted, and that he be requested to state how long the arrangement between the Government and the council is to last. It was also resolved that with the view of kerbing and guttering the streets in front of the public buildings in the borough, a deputation consisting of his Worship the Mayor, and Aldermen Joseph Booth, Beames, and Cox, wait upon the Colonial Secretary to ask for a grant of £1000 for paving.

THE COALCLIFF COLLIERY.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

WOLLONGONG, FRIDAY.

The usually quiet village of Clifton was entirely upset this afternoon, consequent on Mr. Rowan, Inspector of Mines, instructing Mr. Williams, the manager of the colliery, to withdraw all the men working underground in the colliery. Mr. Rowan alleged as his reason the danger of the mine collapsing. Mr. Williams informed the men of the instructions he had received, and four practical miners were deputed by their fellows to proceed and inspect the old workings on the south side, where danger is supposed to exist. The inspection proved very satisfactory, the men being surprised to find the places inspected so sound. On their return from the inspection a special meeting of miners was held, and the following resolutions were unanimously passed:—"That a memorial be drawn up and signed by all the underground men in the colliery, stating that they have no fear of danger existing; that J. Allen, T. Coolson, J. Openham, J. Dryden, the men who inspected the mine, form a deputation to convey the memorial to the Minister for Mines, pointing out that all the men have every confidence in Mr. Williams, the manager."

THE QUEEN'S JUBILEE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I see that it is proposed, in honour of the Queen's Jubilee, to inaugurate a fund for destitute women and children in the colony. Before anything of this kind is decided on, it will be well that most careful consideration should be given to the subject, not only by charitable ladies, but by men who are practically acquainted with the subject of almsgiving. By all means let destitute women and children be relieved, but in relieving them do not let us make them paupers. In a young country like this, where generally there is so abundant employment both for men and women, it especially behoves us to be careful in this respect. I do not think it is widely known that there exists in this city an admirable institution called the Charity Organisation Society, managed by men well-known for charity and for judgment. It is necessary only to mention the names of two—Mr. Fosbery and the Rev. H. L. Jackson—to show that it is well furnished in both respects. This charity was designed to inquire into all cases that came before it, and to relieve all genuine ones. As far as its small means have enabled it to do so, it has admirably fulfilled its trust, but its income amounts only to a few hundreds a year. A movement to increase the means of this society, and enable it to employ a suitable person or persons, whose whole time should be given up to the work of enquiring into and reporting on cases of distress, would be a useful work. There are, as we all know well, too many cases of distress wanting relief; but there are also undeserving mendicants, who live upon the charity of the good-natured—too busy or too careless to enquire into their merits, and thus taking money that might be usefully given. That there is something peculiarly appropriate in devising help for destitute widows and orphans in the Jubilee year of our good widowed Queen goes without saying. But, in place of establishing a new and independent charity, could not this useful organisation be enlarged and endowed, with a separate "jubilee" branch—partially perhaps administered by ladies—for women and children. I am afraid, as it is, that a large portion of the charity bestowed is, if of use to any one, only to the giver, not even that when it is done carelessly, and to the recipients it is often unmitigated mischief. But let nothing be decided in haste. I am, &c.,

CHARITY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—As a woman of New South Wales, wishing to sign an address of congratulation to the Queen on the completion of her jubilee year, may I suggest to the ladies who are preparing it an alteration in the wording of it.

It is surely incorrect, and scarcely kind, to tell her Majesty that she has a "pre-eminence in grief." We all know that hundreds, nay thousands, of her subjects have suffered more; and, I say it with all respect, with more fortitude. Let us be loyal, certainly, but not at the cost of our common sense. Let the congratulation be a joyful reminder to a good queen that the women of New South Wales hold her in honour, and pray that God may long spare her to rule over a united people, and it will be signed with pleasure; but hundreds will decline to sign an absurdity, and among them M. W.

NOTES EXPLANATORY OF MAP.

In the list of stations the column headed W.T. gives the state of the weather at 9 a.m., b standing for blue sky; c, detached clouds; d, drizzling rain; f, fog; g, gloomy; h, hazy; m, misty; n, frosty; o, overcast; p, passing showers; r, rain; s, snow; t, thunder; u, threatening. The next column, M'x gives the maximum temperature for previous 24 hours. M'n the corresponding minimum temperature; r'n, the rain for the previous 24 hours. The symbols used in the map are explained on the margin. At each coast station the wind symbol is placed like a vane pointing to the direction from which the wind is coming. A clear circle with it means fine weather; a circle with bar, cloudy weather; and a black spot, raining. Next to this symbol are placed figures denoting the number of miles the wind is moving per hour; next, a symbol showing the state of the sea; and, lastly, figures denoting the shade temperature at 9 a.m. The barometer curve shows the state of barometers round the coast from Perth to Cooktown:—Pt, Perth; Ay, Albany; Eu, Eucla; CB, Cape Borda; A, Adelaide; Re, Robe; P, Portland; M, Melbourne; W P, Wilson's Promontory; Go, Gabo; E, Eden; Ma, Moruya; C G Jervis Bay; Wg, Wollongong; S, Sydney; N, Newcastle; P M, Port Macquarie; C, Clarence River; B, Brisbane; R, Rockhampton; Ct, Cooktown. Inland the state of barometer is given in figures at Albury, Deniliquin, Wentworth, Menindie, Bourke, and Alice Springs. The barometer curve enables one at a glance to trace the depressions, beginning with Western Australia, and passing along eastwards; northerly winds preceding them, and southerly following.

STEEDMAN'S SOOTHING POWDERS FOR CHILDREN CUTTING TEETH.
CAUTION TO PURCHASERS.

The value of this well-known Family Medicine has been largely tested in all parts of the world, and by all grades of society, for upwards of FIFTY YEARS. Its well-earned extensive sale has induced SPURIOUS IMITATIONS, some of which in OUTWARD APPEARANCE so closely resemble the original as to have deceived many purchasers. The proprietor, therefore, feels it due to the public to give a special caution against the use of such imitations.

Purchasers are therefore requested carefully to observe the four following distinctive characteristics, without which none are genuine.

1. In every case the words JOHN STEEDMAN, Chemist, Walworth, Surrey, are engraved on the Government stamp affixed to EACH PACKET.

2. Each SINGLE POWDER has directions for the dose, and the words "John Steedman, chemist, Walworth, Surrey," printed thereon.

3. The name Steedman is always spelt with the two EE'S

4. The manufacture is carried on solely at Walworth, Surrey.

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNE'S CHLORODYNE.—Vice-Chancellor Sir W. Page Wood stated publicly in court that Dr. J. Collis Browne was undoubtedly the inventor of Chlorodyne, that the whole story of the defendant Freeman was deliberately untrue, and he regretted to say it had been sworn to. Times, July 13, 1864.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.—The Right Hon. Earl Russell communicated to the College of Physicians and J. T. Davenport that he had received information to the effect that the only remedy of any service in cholera was chlorodyne.—See Lancet, December 31, 1864.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne "is prescribed by scores of orthodox practitioners. Of course it would not be thus singularly popular did it not 'supply a want and fill a place.'"—Medical Times, January 13, 1866.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is the best and most certain remedy in cough, colds, asthma, consumption, neuralgia, rheumatism, &c.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne is a certain cure for cholera, dysentery, diarrhœa, colic, &c.

Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne.—Caution: None genuine without the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" on the Government stamp. Overwhelming medical testimony accompanies each bottle. A B R A H A M'S P I L L S.

The GREAT REMEDY of the NINETEENTH CENTURY for LIVER and KIDNEYS.

Prepared from Dandelion, and not a trace of mercury or minerals, simply culled from Dame Nature's garden, have now been taken successfully in the Colonies and India for the last 20 years, and are admitted by thousands to be the safest and only genuine pills for all that may be wrong with the Liver and Kidneys, with its inevitable consequences—Bilousness, Indigestion, Headache, Sickness, Shoulder Pains, Heartburn, Dizziness, Constipation, and Flatulence. Of all forms of medicine an aperient requires the greatest care, and the public should be satisfied that what they take is bona-fide, not simply a pill of indefinite composition; and, with our changeable climate, Abraham's Pills will at once suggest to patrons that they possess advantages over all the Pills and Potions that are constantly before them. For those suffering from Dyspepsia and the thousand tortures of a stomach out of order, whether the cause be cold, excess of eating or drinking, fatigue of body or mind, too active or sedentary life, Abraham's Pills, aperient and tonic, do not weaken, a result not hitherto obtained, a great importance in tropical climates. Increase in sale of Abraham's Pills has caused dangerous imitations. Be sure and ask for Abraham's Pills. Prepared at the Laboratory, 434, George-street, Sydney. Sold everywhere at 1s, 2s and 3s per box.

CARBOLIC JUJUBES, for hoarseness and sore throat, 1s box. A. J. Watt, Son, and Co., George-street.

N.B.—As these Jujubes are being largely imitated, purchasers are requested to see that our name is on each box.

COUGHS AND COLDS.

The PECTORAL OXYMEL OF CARAGHEEN acts like a charm and gives immediate relief. Use no other remedy. 1s 6d, 2s 6d, and 4s 6d bottle. All chemists and storekeepers. Sole proprietors, A. J. WATT, SON, and CO., 526, George-street.

JAMES H. ADGER, Dermatologist.
Office, 131, Elizabeth-street, Sydney, treats successfully all diseases of the skin and scalp, loss of hair, premature blanching, and general cultivation and growth of the hair; and, as a result of this experience, he may point to his flattering success during several years' practice in this city, without reference to the many special cures he has effected, as the best proof of the general efficiency of his system of treatment.

Mr. Adger may be consulted at his office, 131, Elizabeth-street, where letters and testimonials are open to inspection, which must satisfy the most sceptical, signed as they are by persons of the highest positions in society. It will be obvious that no person could have obtained such names as an endorsement of his professional ability without constant proof of merit.

NEW ZEALAND FREEHOLD.

For SALE, near Napier, about 70,000 acres Freehold LAND, additional 20,000 acres can be had adjoining. The country consists of rolling hills of the average New Zealand land; and the native grasses, where the bush has been burnt off, will carry two sheep to the acre.

About one third of the whole is tolerably clear for grazing purposes. It is well watered, having river supply on two sides; and there is plenty of timber for fencing. It is only 30 miles from Napier, where Messrs. Nelson Brothers' Freezing Works are erected.

The price is very low, and can be ascertained on application to the undersigned.

This is one of the few chances offering for securing large areas, as the present Government are all for holding the pre-emptive right of themselves purchasing from the natives. Title in fee.

The Land, being of a gently undulating character (ensuring natural drainage), is admirably adapted for building purposes, and offers many charming sites for the ERECTION OF MARINE RESIDENCES.

It is very seldom that such a unique property, possessing so many attractions,
COMES INTO THE MARKET, and when its natural beauty, picturesque surroundings, and purity of atmosphere are taken into consideration, the belief is justified that this above all others is
THE COMING SEASIDE RESORT.

It is needless to touch upon the many advantages that a property of this kind presents, as the facilities offered for
BOATING, BATHING, and FISHING are too well known to call for comment here.

Each of these buildings will be sold separately, or the whole will be offered in one block to suit buyers.

ARTHUR MARTIN and CO. have been favoured with instructions from the proprietors to sell by public auction, at the City Auction Mart, Queen-street, BRISBANE, on MONDAY, 9th May, at 11 o'clock sharp,
Those magnificent business properties, described on the map of the city of Brisbane as subdivisions 8 and 9 of section 10, North Brisbane, having 62 feet frontage to Queen-street, by a depth of 148 feet, with all improvements thereon,
consisting of
Those large and spacious premises in the occupation of Messrs. Gordon and Gotch, the well-known stationers, and two of the shops occupied by Messrs. Finney, Isles, and Co., the extensive drapers.

These properties occupy a position second to none in the whole of Queen-street, situate in its centre, within a few feet of the corner of Edward-street, the busiest spot in the city, near the large and magnificent premises, now almost completed, for the BRISBANE NEWSPAPER COMPANY, Limited, the artistic
NEW BUILDINGS OF THE A. M. P. SOCIETY, and directly opposite
THE GRAND ARCADE.
Within a stone's throw of the
GENERAL POST AND TELEGRAPH OFFICES and the
PRINCIPAL BANKS IN THE CITY.
To Bankers and Public Companies.—The properties now offered could not be surpassed for banking premises or offices of any description. There is no other property available in the city which could be compared with it, and there is certainly no other property of equal merit which could be purchased, without at least paying 25 per cent. more than the auctioneers are instructed to accept.
Now that the scarcity of money which existed a few months back has abated, and rates of interest have again lowered, capitalists will have to turn their attention to improved city property as an investment in order to get a fair return for their money. Their attention will naturally be directed to the principal street, where a sure return can always be relied on.
What effect this will have is obvious. Properties occupying positions like the present, which are very few, will, within the next twelve months, be bringing a thousand a foot, which falls considerably short of the prices realised for picked positions in the leading streets of the principal cities of the Southern colonies.
With the sure return which can be calculated on from this property from the first day, it will be apparent to everybody that it must continue to increase in value for many years yet.
Brisbane, at its present rate of progress, will be a city of some 150,000 population within five years, and from the great resources of the extensive country to which it forms the key, it is not unreasonable to suppose that as it becomes gradually developed the city will continue to expand for many years at a similar rate.
The extent of the principal street—Queen-street—is so limited that, in the opinion of some of the most competent authorities, property situate in it will yet reach a higher price than anything realised so far in any other city in Australia.
However, setting all prospective values aside, the present return on the capital value, with the safety of the investment, should specially commend this property to capitalists and trustees, while to the business public the unique position is alone sufficient.
The Auctioneers, in conclusion, would direct special attention to the fact that this very valuable property is now placed in the market for BONA-FIDE SALE.
TERMS—ONE-THIRD CASH;
Balance can remain on mortgage at 5 per cent.
TITLE GUARANTEED.
SPECIALLY NOTE.—That all leases on these premises are about expired.

ROCK FARM.

THE CROWN AND ROSE HOTEL.

And several of the BEST CORNER POSITIONS in PARRAMATTA.

SALE, TUESDAY, MAY 3, at 11.30 a.m., at 88, PITT-STREET.

BATT, RODD, and PURVES (in conjunction with Messrs. MILLS and PILE) have received instructions to sell by public auction, at their Rooms, 88, Pitt-street, NEXT TUESDAY, MAY 3, at 11.30 a.m.,

LOT 1.—Fine BLOCK of BUILDING LAND, having 141 feet 10 inches frontage to ARGYLE-STREET, and 147 feet 10 inches frontage to MARSDEN-STREET.

This is a GOOD POSITION for erection of PRIVATE RESIDENCES, being opposite the RAILWAY LINE, and within 2 minutes' walk of PARRAMATTA RAILWAY STATION—a position which would always secure GOOD TENANTS for ANY HOUSES erected thereon.

LOT 2.—The ROSE and CROWN HOTEL, with large frontages to PENNANT and SORRELL STREETS. The hotel building is of brick, with full number of rooms and accommodation for COMPLIANCE with the provisions of the LICENSING ACT, and possesses the GOODWILL of an increasing BUSINESS over 30 years established.

This house has a SPECIAL VALUE, as by the LOCAL OPTION VOTE NO FRESH HOTELS CAN BE ESTABLISHED in the locality.

LOT 3.—VALUABLE CORNER BLOCK opposite the HOTEL, having 54 feet frontage to PENNANT-STREET, and 97 feet frontage to SORRELL-STREET.

LOTS 4, 5, and 6.—Three extensive VACANT BLOCKS, each having over 100 feet frontage to PENNANT-STREET, just beyond ALL SAINTS' CHURCH, by depths of from 157 to 400 feet.
Lot 4 is at the corner of PENNANT and BETTS STREETS.

These are FINE BUILDING SITES, also very suitable for small GARDENS or NURSERIES, being on the MAIN ROAD to the FRUITGROWING District.

LOT 7.—The long and favourably known ROCK FARM and GREEN DALE ESTATES, situate on the KISSING POINT-ROAD, about a mile from the PARRAMATTA TOWN BOUNDARY.
The two Estates adjoin, and have a joint area of 200 ACRES, possessing about 1¼ mile frontage to the KISSING POINT and BETTINGTON ROADS.
ROCK FARM HOUSE is a substantial BUILDING, of brick on stone, with slated roof. A large area of the land surrounding the residence is covered with FRUIT TREES, now in FULL-BEARING, and there is an abundant never failing supply of WATER.
The GREATER PORTION of the Land is composed of RICH SOIL, admirably adapted for ORCHARDS and VINEYARDS, while the more elevated positions are eminently suitable for VILLA SITES, as they command MAGNIFICENT VIEWS, and are only 15 minutes' drive from PARRAMATTA RAILWAY STATION.

. Building and investing societies and companies would do well to inspect ROCK FARM, offering as it does such a rare opportunity for SUBDIVISION PROFITS if sold on LONG CREDIT TERMS.

LITHOGRAPHIC PLANS on application.

DOTSWOOD, QUEENSLAND.

FOR ABSOLUTE SALE.

By Order of the Mortgagees.

MACDERMOTT, LOUGHNAN, and SCARR are instructed by the Mortgagees to OFFER for ABSOLUTE SALE by PUBLIC AUCTION, at Scott's Hotel, Melbourne, on THURSDAY, 5th MAY NEXT, at 3 p.m.,
That well-known splendid cattle station DOTSWOOD, situated about 50 miles south-west from Townsville, on the Keelbottom and Burdekin Rivers, in the NORTH KENNEDY DISTRICT, consisting of the runs called Dotswood, Tala, Black Blains, Emysland, Keelbottom, Nurseidob, Red Dyke, Yallock Vale, Poon Boon, Arthur's Peek, Hardwick, Smith's Brook, and Pall Mall, containing an area of about 740 SQUARE MILES of first-class, sound, healthy, and fattening cattle country.
Together with the station will be sold
14,000 well-bred cattle (more or less)
250 superior horses, ditto and All the plant, drays, harness, saddlery, &c., furniture, and stores on the property.

Dotswood Station has for many years been well and favourably known as one of the best cattle stations in Queensland, the cattle having been carefully bred and regularly culled. The bulls used have been obtained from the best studs, being chiefly Lee and Neil Black blood, several shipments of these bulls having been imported from New South Wales and Victoria direct to the station through our firm. Bad-coloured and inferior cows have been regularly culled out, and sold off or boiled down, so that for quality and healthiness the herd stands second to none in Queensland.

As will be seen on reference to the map, the runs as taken up command a much larger area of country than rent is paid on.

The station is splendidly and permanently watered in every part by the Burdekin, Keelbottom, and Star Rivers, besides permanent creeks and lagoons. There is no scarcity of water in any season.

The horses are of an unusually good and useful class, the young stock (which sell readily at high prices) being chiefly by Collector and other sires imported from the Southern colonies.

Our firm having been closely associated with the business of Dotswood Station for many years past, can confidently recommend it as a highly remunerative investment.

For full particulars and orders to inspect apply to the agents, MACDERMOTT, LOUGHNAN, and SCARR, 95, Collins-street West, Melbourne; 317, George-street Sydney; and 156, Elizabeth-street, Brisbane.

LIFE ASSURANCE CANVASSERS Wanted. None but gentlemen of good address, and having the best references, need apply. Previous experience unnecessary.

A WORD IN TIME.

The Australian public, who are so keenly alive to the benefits of Life Assurance, are showing by the liberal support accorded in all colonies to our progressing institution that they will not pay a higher rate of premium for Life Assurance than the actual "mortality rate" in the Australian colonies warrants, consequently the amount of business done in the past, and the immense number of proposals for assurance pouring in daily, is a fair and proper guide to those about assuring to assume that this Society is gradually and unmistakably becoming the PREMIER Society for Life Assurance in the Australian colonies.

With regard to the benefits, the assurer has only to peruse our prospectuses and annual reports to become thoroughly convinced.
